

Enterprise Monarch Steel Range

HAS EVERY QUALITY A GOOD KITCHEN RANGE SHOULD HAVE

For baking and cooking, for getting the last heat unit from every shovel of coal; for absolute dependability at all times, for its many exclusive features—You will find your ideal in the famous Enterprise Monarch Steel Range.

BURNS soft or hard coal, or wood.

BODY is made of polished steel, insulated with heavy asbestos millboard. Inner body is made of rust resisting copper-fused metal.

OVEN is one piece copper-fused metal with asbestos and cast iron insulation.

OVEN DOOR is spring balanced, drops forming a shelf, lined with white porcelain enamel and has a splendid thermometer.

BACK FLUE is cast iron and will last a life time. TOP is made of cast iron.

HEAT ECONOMIZER is a distinctive Enterprise invention which prevents heat escaping from upper part of oven when door is open. Cakes do not "fall" in the centre through the sudden opening of the oven door when you have this Economizer.

RESERVOIR is heavy copper, tinned inside, holds 9 gallons, and will last as long as the range.

HIGH CLOSET can be supplied in plain style with all cast nickle end brackets, towel bar, side shelves, roll door, end pipe up front or in fancy enamel front with nickle trimming.

FEED DOOR is pouch style, three times the size of ordinary opening, no coal spilled.

BROILER LEVER, another famous Enterprise feature, makes broiling or toasting child's play, without allowing smoke to escape.

TEA POT STANDS are regular part of Enterprise Monarch equipment.

CONTROLLER DAMPER gives ready and instant control of fire from top of range.

Call in and see this superb range.

IN MEMORIAM

MRS DAVID COOK

A sad gloom was cast over the vicinity of Orwell Cove, when the many friends of Mrs David Cook, learned of her death.

The deceased who had been in failing health for some time bore her suffering with patience and christian fortitude and when the call came to her eternal reward found her prepared and resigned to the will of God.

Mrs Cook was a woman of firm and steadfast character devoted to the home and family and many when the friends who loved and admired her for her many excellent qualities of heart and mind.

Although she has gone forth to receive the reward promised the good and faithful servant who has performed her duties nobly and well, yet the sense of loss at her death will ever remain to those who are left behind. The high esteem in which she was held was evidenced by the large number who gathered to pay their last tribute of respect at her funeral. The service was conducted by the Rev. Mr. MacLellan, of Valleyfield, after which the remains were tenderly laid to rest in Orwell Cemetery.

She leaves to mourn their sad loss two sons and two daughters. The golden gates were opened and a gentle voice said come and with farewells unspoken She calmly entered home.

Long Standing Asthma. Many have suffered so long from asthma and have tried so many so-called remedies they think that there is no real help for them. They should read the letters received by the manufacturers of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy from hundreds of cases once as desperate as their own. Even in long-neglected cases this famous preparation brings prompt help.

—CAMBRIDGE NOTES.—There is no place in this province where sociability is so much in evidence, as in the up-to-date, intelligent, law-abiding and prosperous farming settlement of Cambridge. This good feeling was fully emphasized on Friday evening, Nov. 14th inst, when the hospitable home of Mr. Hugh Connors was filled almost to capacity by the youth and beauty of this locality. After about an hour was spent with the usual preliminaries, the strains of the violin brought forth the merry dancers, and under the capable direction of the accomplished dancing master, Mr. William H. Lanigan, an unusually enjoyable time was spent. About midnight the guests sat down to a sumptuous supper, served in Mr. Connors' best style, the palatability of which would put to the test the culinary skill of any of the women in the neighborhood. In justice to Mr. Connors it may be said, that he has not as yet chosen for himself a wife from among the many pretty girls of Cambridge and in the comfortable homelike and well kept Connors' home, the monarch of all he surveys. The music for the occasion was ably furnished by Mr. Farrell, assisted by Mr. Bolger a close second to Mr. Farrell when it comes to wielding the bow. In the wee sma' hours the guests departed, hoping that when they would gain have the pleasure of enjoying Mr. Connors' unexcelled hospitality, the young men would visit with each other, as to who would have the honor of having the first dance with the bride.—Mr. Joseph McGee and son left recently for Boston. Their many friends wish for them suitable and remunerative employment.—Mr. Andrew Davis, the well-known trapper has been very successful this season, capturing among the many fur bearing animals, a beautiful fox. Mr. Davis greatly admires his capture, and is being heartily congratulated.—Mr. Edward Lanigan has recently purchased a splendid horse, jet black in color. Mr. Lanigan displayed considerable tact in purchasing this animal, as he is pronounced by our many horsemen as a beauty.
