Diocesan Women's Auxiliary Annual Meeting Concludes

There was another splendid attendance at the final session of the Diocesan Women's Auxiliary held in St. Paul's Parish Hall yesterday. The meeting opened with the singing of hymn "Work For the Day is Coming" followed by the members' prayer.

Minutes of the previous day's proceedings were read by the recording secretary, Mrs. E. V. Bell, who was warmly applauded for her excellent report.

The Rev. E. Freeman conducted non-devotional prayers and gave a brief devotional address. He likened the W. A. to a battleship and it's crew and talked on "God's absolute necessity of taking vital action at the right moment. He reminded members that they were all on His Majesty's Divine Service and the need to meet doubt and carelessness. He concluded with a quotation from a poem of Milton's.

The president, Mrs. A. B. Cosh then said that she felt sure that all present had derived much sustenance from the Rev. Freeman's most illuminating address. Reference was made to the news received this day of the illness of the hon. president Mrs. Raymond and all wished her a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Geo. DeBlais, educational secretary read most interesting report and said that pamphlet distribution had very much increased. The book, "On The Threshold of India" had been distributed to 10 branches and readings were in progress. An increased enthusiasm in the W. A. library was reported.

Further reports of interest to members were presented by Mrs. J. E. Harris, G.A. sec'y.; Mrs. C. Acorn, cent-a-week sec'y.; Mrs. G. Rogers, "Living Message" editor; Mrs. M. Weeks, Junior sec'y. treasurer.

Mrs. Cosh paid tribute to the grand work that had been carried out by Mrs. Acorn and expressed regret that she was retiring this year. All reports were subsequently approved and adopted. The meeting then adjourned for luncheon. This was served in St. Paul's Hall to W.A. officials, delegates, visiting clergy and men of the D.C.S. The tables were tastefully decorated with daffodils and beautiful silver chased candelabra and presented a charming picture. Lunch was served promptly and speedily by ladies of St. Paul's W. A. and they are to be congratulated on the really splendid menu.

The Rural Dean, J. T. Ibbott, Rector of St. Paul's presided, chief guests being the Lord Bishop of Nova Scotia, the Right Rev. G. F. Kingston, M.A., Ph.D., D.D., Archbishop G. R. Harrison, M.A., B.D., Canon E. M. Malone, M.A., and Judge Palmer, vice chancelor of the Diocese.

The Rev. Ibbott thanked the W. A. for the enjoyable lunch and expressed appreciation on behalf of the clergy. He remarked that he was sure that all present would feel sorry at the conclusion of the Mission Week as the Lord Bishop had given everyone such great spiritual uplift and encouragement. His speech was interspersed with much humour and was thoroughly appreciated.

Bishop Kingston

The Lord Bishop then spoke briefly, passing many amusing comments and related anecdotes which caused considerable laughter. He stressed the happenings during the last 50 years and also the significance of such a golden jubilee as this was for the W. A. The Church of England had during the last 50 years undergone considerable development and changes. The need for greater missionary work and sound common sense in religion was impressed on those present and expansion was necessary to keep pace with the Church's changes. Mrs. Cosh then thanked the St. Paul's W. A. for the beautiful uplift received by members from the Lord Bishop's inspiring comments.

The Rector, Rev. J. T. Ibbott then called upon Archbishop G. R. Harrison of Summerside who gave some amusing reminiscences of Charlottetown and good wishes to all present.

Canon Malone commented on the previous remarks and called forth smiles from everyone. The adjourned meeting was then resumed, the Rev. Davies of Milton being the first speaker. His opening remark was that he did not know how the Church would operate without the help of the W. A. The chief theme of his talk was the G. A. camp to be held at the newly acquired Church Centre at Crapaud and the hope that the W. A. would assist in supplying kitchen equipment for same.

The Rev. Davies talked very enthusiastically regarding the need for youth training, and the hope that they would eventually become senior W. A. members. At the conclusion of the discussion promoted by the interest in the Rev. Davies' speech, further reports were read and approved.

Mrs. H. L. Palmer submitted the report of the nominating committee which was adopted as follows: Hon. President—Mrs. Raymond. President—Mrs. A. B. Cosh. 1st Vice President—Mrs. C. H. Coles.

Mission Service At St. Paul's Anglican Church

Large congregations continue to attend the Mission Services held in St. Paul's Church each evening during the week. Last night the Right Reverend George Frederick Kingston, M.A., Ph. D., D.D., Lord Bishop of Nova Scotia, spoke on "The Cross of Christ."

His Lordship said: "I approach this subject to-night with great humility, as I know you all do, because we are sometimes carried to the very depths and heights of our nature when we think upon the meaning of the Cross. St. Paul learned the meaning of the Cross, for in his letter to the Corinthians he said 'I am determined to know nothing save Jesus Christ, and Him crucified' and again he said 'God forbid that I should glory save in the Cross of Jesus Christ.' The riddle of the world was solved when St. Paul beheld the Cross on which the Prince of Glory died.

His Lordship then asked "What does the Cross tell about taking away sin?" The fact of the atonement is a great thing. Here are two ways to approach it. One, the legal point of view balancing the good with the evil and the second way through the love of God. The church has always taken its stand on the fact of the atonement, rather than on the theory of it. There is one danger and that is the feeling that forgiveness may be granted too easily. The Buddhist and the Hindu have the same opinion, but they are in the grip of the laws of cause and effect and they torture go through all kinds of penance for their sins. Forgiveness is not an easy thing. We just have to look at the Cross to see that. There the Christ in Himself is bearing the sins of the world. God offers through his son Jesus Christ his own blood as a sacrifice for us. The world had never seen anything like this before. Here you have a different approach to the whole matter. God as the Son of Man giving himself with a splendid generosity and bearing the sins of all mankind. The wonderful lesson of the Cross, that Jesus, while looking down from the Cross, prayed "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do." It is not humorous nature for us to be as forgiving, but through the Cross we can accept the bitterness and unkindness in this world. It is important to think of the heights of the Cross in relationship to mankind.

In the service of Holy Communion in the church we have the great making of Christ in his suffering to humanity. That night at the last supper, He made the supreme approach of love even to Judas.

We all have our besetting sins and there is only one way to deal with them and this is through the Cross of Christ. If we come to the foot of the Cross, we can get away from our bad habits and evil thoughts. There is no other way that helps us in life as His message of love and understanding, that Christ in us we have been saying — "Our Saviour."

WEST ROYALTY W.I.

The regular monthly meeting of West Royalty Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Bert McEwen with eighteen members present. The president presided. The meeting opened with the creed in unison.

Collection amounted to $2.50. One member paid membership fee. An interesting report was given by Mrs. Fred Gates on the progress of the Musical Festival Committee. Mrs. Geddie McLeod and Mrs. Vernon Burke were appointed to go to Institute rooms and choose a pattern for the next year.

A most interesting and instructive talk was given by Colonel Reid on Physical Fitness, which was very much appreciated by all present. A vote of thanks moved by Mrs. Hammond Sanderson, seconded by Mrs. Geddie McLeod, was extended to Colonel Reid by Mrs. Gates. Sick committee reported suit sent to two sick in the district, and to two sick in a member who is in hospital. Mrs. England, Mrs. Chas. Herring and Mrs. B. Moore. Programme and school committees remained as before. Each member to answer roll call at next meeting with one dollar. Next meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. Vernon Burke. LIBERAL MEMBER

More Moonshine
Mr. Saville: "I believe there is more moonshine made today than ever before. I went into the shed of a country store a while ago and saw a whole pile of extract bottles. A committee was appointed from this House some years ago to inquire into this matter, and their report was that it was not necessary to have these alcoholic essences sold. I understood that they were not allowed to be sold at all."

Mr. Saville: "I made an estimate two years ago that if this amendment went into effect we would soon be having a revenue of half a million dollars from liquor. What are the facts today? The profits from the Prohibition Act in 1945-46 were $187,871.27 plus a liquor tax for health, $65,247.30. For the year 1946-47 the profits under the Prohibition Act were $509,094.95, plus health tax on liquor of $148,730.99, or a total income last year from liquor sales of $657,825.94."

"That is a hundred thousand dollars more than I estimated and I have no doubt whatever that inside the next two years, if we get more tourists and times are good, it will go to the million dollar mark," Mr. Saville said.

Plebisite Or Open Sale
"It is pretty hard to tell what to do about it. One thing I am convinced of is that the amendment is not serving the purpose it was intended to serve. This is not a political question. There were men on both sides of it. It House who voted against it. It is a question on which I don't think you can get the majority to decide through a plebisite. The proper course is that at the next election there should be a plebisite taken."

"I think myself that if we are not going to go back to total Prohibition, the wise thing is to throw the gates wide open; not charge a dollar for a script and five dollars for a bottle of liquor on top of that."

"A man who will get a book of scripts and sell it to his neighbor is not a bit better than he might be. If he does that, it is not the fault of the Government. And if the man he sells them to raises a row, the man who sold him the book is just as much to blame as the man that sold the liquor."

Dr. MacMillan said: "Does my hon. friend say that the responsibility is on the doctor?" Mr. Saville: "I am not putting the responsibility on the doctor. I am talking about the individual that sells the scripts after he gets them from the doctor. The doctor is not to blame for that at all."

Too Many Crimes
Noting the list of increased convictions in the R.C.M.P. report for last year, Mr. Saville said that he would think conditions were worse than anything that happened in Texas years ago when there was so much law-breaking. He himself had served as a constable from 1909 to 1927, and in all those years he never was asked to make more than one arrest. There were no Provincial Police or Mounted Police here then; and so far as he could remember the people were just about the same as they are today.

"There would be a little drinking on election day in those times," Mr. Saville conceded, "and somebody would get a black eye; but it all died out. They were hauled into the courts. The old-time magistrate's job was that the business of a Justice of the Peace was to make peace. They hardly ever had to have a case in court. Now if there is a little bit of trouble, people telephone to the Mounted Police and of course the Police have to fulfill their obligations."

"I think the Mounted Police should have instructions to persuade people to settle those minor cases out of court. The Mounted Police are getting a name that they don't deserve for taking up matters of this kind."

Hon. J. A. Campbell: "You said there was an increase in crime. Do you call those cases crimes?" Mr. Saville: "I believe there are many minor offenses taken into court. A lot of them shouldn't come into court at all."

Mr. Strong: "What would you do in the case of drunken driving which has increased by about 100 per cent?" Mr. Saville: "I will answer that in the words of the fellow who was eating an apple and was asked by somebody to look out for the maggot. He said, 'When I am eating an apple the maggot will have to look out. The drunk driver will have to look out for himself or take the consequences.'"

Mr. Strong: "You wouldn't advise the Mounted Police to have these cases settled out of court?" Mr. Saville: "No, I don't think that is a minor offense. I am talking about quarrels among neighbors."

Feed Grain Wanted
Referring to agriculture, he said the farmers were unanimous in opposing any great increase in officials. A lot of farmers never see these officials. What the farmers want is subsidies to help them grow more grain. They should be in a position to grow four, five or six acres of barley or oats.

"It is useless to talk about increasing the amount of livestock in the country, when every time they raise their price up, the feed costs," Mr. Saville said. He instance the difficulty of producing poultry at even a small margin of profit. "If the freight rates are increased, as is now proposed, feed is going to be still dearer. The more the farmers can grow themselves in the shape of feed, the more independent they are."

"The men who are making the profit out of this business are the railways and other carriers," Mr. Saville said. "I don't think the merchants are getting much profit out of feed."

He believed, also, that there were too many potatoes grown in this Province. "We are wearing out the land. I know fields that are just like dust, that won't hold moisture, and if that goes on we won't have any good land at all in time to come. Our rivers and harbors are filling up with silt now."

Grain Elevator
There had been a great deal said in the press about getting a grain elevator for Charlottetown. Mr. Saville argued it should go to Georgetown. He quoted a Governor of the Province in 1870 as extolling Georgetown as the best harbour in the Province. King's County, incidentally, had more harbours than all the rest of the Island. Capt. Holland in his survey said he considered Georgetown harbour as one of the best in North America, and that Georgetown should have been the capital of the Province.

Mr. Saville believed the Hudson Bay route was feasible, and that an elevator at Georgetown might prove the solution of the grain supply problem.

He stressed the need of two additional potato warehouses, one at Souris and another at Georgetown.

Fishermen's Loans
There had been considerable criticism of the Fishermen's Loan Board, Mr. Saville said. As a member of the Board he could say that it was doing a lot more than people knew about. During the last two months there had been a "tremendous" amount of loans made. On two occasions they had to be cut down because the money was not available. A great many of the people looking for loans are returned men. They wanted small loans usually for six months or a year, and there was too much red tape in connection with getting loans from the Federal Government.

He gave details about loans given for purchase of fishing boats, mackerel, cod, engines, smelt nets and traps, etc.

Asked by Mr. Strong how much the grant was to the Fishermen's Loan Board, Mr. Saville confessed that he could not tell. Ever since 1940 the loans had been coming in pretty well. Prior to that they had been hard to collect. He referred to the demand for heavier boats and better engines for off-shore fishing.

"There is a great deal of money spent in the Department of Agriculture and I don't think much of it ever comes back," Mr. Saville said. "But every dollar paid out to assist the fishermen is expected to be returned. There should be a certain amount of money available to assist men who are willing to put their own money into one of our greatest natural resources."

"If we appointed a Minister of Fisheries he would have to have a Deputy, and probably a clerk. This would cost a good deal more than the much-abused Fishermen's Loan Board and perhaps it would not do much more good."

Education On Decline?
Mr. Saville did not think "all was well" with education in this Province. The average farm boy today who does not intend to enter Prince of Wales College is not getting as good an education as he got fifty years ago. Charlottetown and the larger towns were well
