HAPPENINGS OF THE WEEK

Princess Mary likes an open-air life, and has been often seen riding with the King during his Majesty's early morning rides, both in London and at Windsor.

As the only daughter in a family with five boys, the Princess has shared her brother's games and recreations. She enjoys shopping, and takes great trouble to obtain the particular presents which she sets her heart on.

Miss Kathleen Davey has returned to Ottawa after a few weeks visit with her sister Mrs. Coombs, Rochford Square.

Since the war Princess Mary has made a quantity of things for sale and distribution on behalf of war funds.

Lady Anne Cavendish, the Governor-General's little eight year old daughter, has been made Honorary President of the Ottawa Horticulture Society.

Charlottetown Theatre goes, were deeply thrilled by the presentation of Intolerance at the Prince Edward Theatre.

Col. H. D. Johnson, Mrs. Johnson and Miss Annie Johnson, also Mrs. Johnson's mother, Mrs. MacLeod, left yesterday for their new home at Ottawa.

Lady Evelyn Ward, Toronto's titled milliner, has returned to Canada after nine months in England.

Senator Murphy and Mrs. Murphy have returned to Tignish having spent the past summer in Ottawa.

Mrs. A. A. Pomeroy received for the first time since her marriage on Wednesday afternoon and evening at her home "The Briars" 12 Brighton Road.

On Wednesday afternoon Mrs. (Dr.) Pethick entertained at one of the prettiest Bridges of the season, the house being nicely decorated with an abundance of sweet peas and ferns.

Mrs. W. L. Scott who has been visiting her father, Sir W. W. Sullivan, is leaving this week for her home in Ottawa.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Coombs are spending a holiday among Mr. Coomb's relatives and friends in Nova Scotia.

At the annual meeting of the Women's Club, which was adjourned this week, it was decided to allow the war workers the use of their nicely arranged rooms, a most commendable act on the part of the patriotic ladies.

It is pleasing to hear that Miss Ruth Heartz, the charming young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Heartz, is now steadily recovering from her serious man, Miss Hyndman, Mrs. MacCreedy and Mrs. Bulman being the hostesses.

Miss Annie Johnson was the guest of honor at a nicely arranged tea on Wednesday afternoon given here by her friend, Miss Mammie Smith.

"I want a nice little hard broom for my brother to sweep garden paths with," said the Princess.

Miss Florence Martin returned to Canada last week, from England, and is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Pearce of Ottawa.

Mr. Ogden Mills, of New York, has placed his palatial mansion in the Rue de Varennes, Paris, at the disposal of Major General Pershing for his use during the war.

TERRITORIAL SYSTEM PLEASERS CANADIANS

LONDON, Oct. 4.—Of the changes which have taken place in connection with the Canadian forces overseas, probably none have been more welcome to the men themselves than the re-organization of the army on a territorial basis.

The system now in operation insures that men are grouped together in regiments according to localities from which they come. That is to say that now when a man joins in Canada from Western Ontario, he goes to one of the battalions of, say, the Western Ontario regiment in England.

Previously our army was run on the battalion system and the fact that a man enlisted in Vancouver, for instance, was no assurance that he would fight with his comrades from British Columbia.

Columbian might find himself consigned to a French-Canadian battalion in England and fight with a Nova Scotian battalion in France.

It has always been the policy of the leaders of the Canadian army to have the men fight with men from their own province or locality.

The records of a battalion's deeds had no particular significance to any particular locality; they now mean much. A battalion forms part, shall we say, of the Manitoba regiment.

Fight With Their Own

The glory of the whole Canadian army is Canada's but the glory of the various regiments is the particular and peculiar glory of the section of the country which that regiment represents.

The regimental system as now introduced assures the complication of these sectional records and preserves for the different localities of the country the glory of the noble deeds of their sons.

Can Keep the Records

NO MORE FEMININE VISITORS AT THE FRONT

LONDON, Oct. 4.—Canadian military circles are all agog over the adventures of two young ladies, not unknown in Toronto, who have been stirring things up at the front.

Armed with the proper passes, they speedily made the journey from England to British General Headquarters, but beyond this their permission did not allow them to go.

Had they not come out to see the trenches, Verey rockets, Boche planes sailing through the blue, beset with the little white cotton wool puffs of anti-aircraft shrapnel, to hear the cannon roar in deafening proximity, to dodge shells and snipers' bullets, in fact to make faces, as it were, at the Hun across the short interval of No Man's Land?

Instead of all this the surroundings were mostly poky, narrow streets of various villages, French peasants and occasional military motor trucks, interesting enough in their way, but scarcely war.

Hearing of their arrival, in fact, having received a request for an extension of their pass to the Canadian army area, the recipient, a distinguished Canadian soldier, a great general, al, came down in his motor car to pay his compliments to two such rare, nay unique, visitors. Though all-powerful in certain respects, even he had no control over such matters.

Admitted that the two young ladies decided that, come what may, they could not go back to England without having been where the cannon roared close at hand.

There had been a d— of a row over the incident. (Womanlike, the young ladies did not, still do not, see the enormity of the offence from a military standpoint.)

But you can't fool the Provost Marshal, not for long. And the rapid sequel to this episode was the non-stop journey south of two Canadian young ladies under escort.
