Influence of Names.

"We're going to name our newly arrived boy Reginald," remarked Phillips at the club the other evening. "Do you want him to be that kind of person?" asked Jones, in a tone that he hoped would create discussion. "What are you springing on us now?" asked several of the group, a little wearily. "It is a great truth, my boy," continued Jones, aiming his remarks at Phillips, who looked a trifle worried about Jones' question. "The relation of name to character is an unexplored but most fertile region. Look up your fiction, and you will find that every great novelist has unconsciously obeyed the law. A man and his name gradually grow toward each other. He may fight his name for a long time, but by some long road at last he must bend to the significance of what he is called. I consider that parents have a sacred duty upon them in choosing out of all the names of history that name which they elect their child shall be. The name which he receives at baptism is the character part, up to which he must always live."

"Really, I don't follow you," interposed Clemmons of Harvard, with his drawl. "Think back over your reading," went on Jones. "When Sheridan names a character Lady Sneerwell, it is obvious that his conception is of a character proud and cynical. Such a method of dubbing limits the character drawing to a few bold strokes. A frank avowal of love from her lips, a free handed generosity, would not be tolerated. She must remain cold and hard till the play ends. Bunyan was fond of a name that labelled. Surely, you remember Mr. Backbite and Donatist? In the literature of the last century such cheap and easy naming is rare and confined to the minor characters. Thackeray uses it for the peerage alone—Lady Baccara. It survives in our comic weeklies, with their 'Wandering Willy' and 'Alkali Ike!'"

"But there is a rarer and finer use of names that is at the command of the big fellows in romance. The skillful novelist baptizes his creation with a certain name because he realizes its connotation. Annie is known of old for a good housewife and a true sister. She is pretty and social, but is not a society woman. Annie of 'Lorna Doone' is rightly called. Adam implies faithfulness, a quality of high conscientiousness, and Adam of 'As You Like It' and Adam Bede share the trait.

"Tom is mischievous and fast, strongly social, with most of the vices. Even his friends are forced to admit that he drinks, but his severest critics will concede him generous. Such is Tom Jones—splendid and strong, shaggily rough. Tom Brown is not cast in a like epic mould, but yet is justified of his name. Tom Sawyer is a Tom in the making. Joseph, of Genesis, has a deservedly high reputation for chastity, and this implication of the name has been remembered. Joseph Andrews is an apt name for Fielding's hero. Jack is a gay blade. Dorothy is sprightly, but warm-hearted. Dick is merry and out at heels.

"Authorities have split on Rebecca. Scott makes her a faithful soul with a hopeless love. Thackeray gives us an adventuress, heartless, brilliant, and detestable. A character of history often makes the atmosphere of a name. Bonnie Prince Charlie is perhaps responsible for a succession of prodigals who are permitted to bear no other name.

"You see that the novelists, who have looked truth in the face, have always done their naming in line with law. Is it any wonder, when once you realize the influence of a name on a person, that savages, ignorant persons, and children have felt that one who knew their name had power over them? Religion and chivalry have been in the right of it, when they make the act of naming the most sacred ceremony in a man's life. Rightly they felt that baptism and knighting determine the direction of character development and soul growth."—Ex.

"Book Boosting" in France.

The art of book advertising is thought to have made some progress of late both in England and in this country, but they do these things if not better, at least more energetically in France. A Paris newspaper has begun the publication of a romance which has eight leading personages, and the most successful guesser of the fate of each is to have a four-seated automobile as a prize. Portraits of the characters in the novel are carried about the streets, with such questions as these to be answered: "Catharine: Will Catharine marry? If so, whom will she marry?" Again: "Liane: Will her scheme to gain the Marquis be successful?" Next comes: "Germaine: Will she deceive her husband?" Then, "Marie: Will she marry or die before the end of the romance?" Lastly, "Zizi: How many men will she attract? Who will be her last lover?" These individual queries are followed by a group of general problems for solution. "Which of these five women will die of poison? Which of them will administer poison? To whom?" If these methods were to be generally followed by publishers' press agents the reign of the historical romance would take on new terrors.

A Victim.

"Where are you going this summer?" "I'm going to a stretch of barren sand, where I can be surrounded by the luxuries of the seashore."

"By yourself?"

"No. Whole family. Wife and children, servants, nurses, etc."

"Cottage?"

"Yes. Has eight rooms for sixteen people. Each room will hold comfortably about one-half of a human being."

"Cottage alone?"

"Oh, no. We shall be next to a lot of others. Each with an assortment of children."

"Nice people?"

"Well, they're people I wouldn't think of associating with on ordinary occasions, but of course—"

"Oh, certainly. Where do you get your vegetables?"

"From the city."

"And your water?"

"From the nearest well."

"Typhoid?"

"Probably."

"Flies?"

"Heaps."

"What are you going for?"

"Two reasons. Because I can't afford to and my wife wants to."—"Life."

J. K. ROSS, ESQ.
Provincial Manager
North American Life Assurance Co.,
Charlottetown,—

Dear Sir,—I have pleasure in acknowledging cheque for $1498 handed me this day by your agent here, Mr. R. H. Montgomery, being proceeds of my twenty-year Endowment policy in your company.

This result is highly satisfactory, giving me an investment of four per cent compound interest on the full premiums paid in, besides carrying the risk of $1000 on my life during the twenty years. The other options are equally favorable, viz.: a paid-up insurance for $2555, or a life annuity $114.30 To young men seeking a safe and profitable investment I would recommend an Endowment Policy in this well-managed Canadian company.

Respectfully yours,
JOHN D. GOSS

A sufferer From Backache

Mr. W. Gilroy, general merchant, Blenheim, Ont., states:—"I am rather enthusiastic in the praise of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and believe I have good reason to be. For several years I was a great sufferer from kidney disease, and had pains in my back almost constantly. I tried a great many remedies, but did not succeed in obtaining more than slight temporary relief.

"A friend of mine advised me to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and I did so, with great satisfaction. I had not taken half a box before I began to feel better, and now realize that I have entirely recovered. I often wonder now why people go after new-fangled remedies when this tried and proven medicine is so easily obtained, and so certain to cure." Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have an enormous sale because they radically cure serious and chronic disease, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box. All dealers, or Edmansson, Bates & Co., Toronto.
