

"How do I keep young?"

"Oh, I learned that secret when I discovered Shredded Wheat. It's the whole wheat, you know, and has iron for making red blood and all the elements for building healthy tissue and bone. And by the way, it's ready-cooked and ever so easy to serve for breakfast or lunch. I just pour milk or cream over the biscuits. On cold mornings I heat the milk—it makes a most delicious hot cereal, and with fruit it's a treat at any time."

Former Maritimers Laid To Rest

FUNERALS OF FOUR ARE HELD IN MASSACHUSETTS CENTRES

BOSTON, April 7.—Funerals of four prominent former Maritime Province residents were held in Greater Boston today.

In Randolph, services were held for Mrs. Blanche E. (Byers) Hofflin, wife of Richard D. F. Hofflin, in funeral parlors at 16 North Main streets. Mrs. Hofflin, who was active in church and fraternal circles, was born in Saint John, N. B., and was widely known here.

Services for Edward Brayn, husband of Elizabeth Brayn, were largely attended at his home, 11 Richard son avenue, Arlington. He was a leader in Maritime Province events here.

The body of MacKenzie MacLeod was sent to his birthplace in Halifax N. S., following services at the home of his niece, Mrs. Ralph Balderson, 105 Willow avenue, Quincy. He was a retired carpenter and contracting builder and planned many of the residences and business blocks in Norfolk county. He died in the Quincy City Hospital, in his 73rd year.

At Cambridge, there were services for Valentine Needham, husband of Annie (McEwen) Needham, at his home, 74 Fayette street. He was born in Charlottetown, P. E. I., and took an active part in the life of the community.

Souris harbour is at present free from ice and the S. S. Lovet, passenger and freight steamer which plies between Souris, Pictou N. S. and the Magdalen Islands is expected to make its first trip of the season this last of this week.

Mr. George Buntain, of Charlottetown, was a visitor to the Eastern Metropolis on Monday.

Mr. Fred Mulally, Souris, has taken up duties with the firm of Matthew and MacLean, Souris.

Miss Dorothy Moynagh, returned to Lakeville on Monday night after spending the Easter holidays at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Moynagh, Souris.

The westerly winds of Sunday cleared Colville Bay free of the drift ice, which has so obstructed the harbour the last week. At 6:30 Sunday morning the S. S. Montcalm, went out to meet the first of the potato boats and at 6:10 P. M. she re-entered the harbour escorting the S. S. Hein which left St. John's Newfoundland on Thursday. She was loaded with a cargo of twenty-five thousand bushels of potatoes by the Harris Abbot and cleared early Tuesday morning. The longshore work is welcomed by the local men who are delighted to hear that several other potato steamers are expected shortly.

Mr. and Mrs. Ewen Cameron, Charlottetown, spent the week-end in Souris the guest of Mr. Cameron's sister Mrs. A. C. Cox, Souris.

SOUTH LAKE NOTES

Messrs. Fred Chevalre and John Gills were hauling miscellaneous freight from Elmira station to the "lobster factory" at East Point, on Wednesday, April first. We understand that Mr. Earl Johnson is going to superintend operations at the factory again this season.

Mr. Joseph Ford, South Lake, had some lobster traps which he had built, hauled to the factory at North Lake, on Wednesday, April first.

Some of the farmers of East Point were busy on the Second and Third, hauling potatoes to Elmira Station.

Her many friends at South Lake, heard, with regret, of the serious illness, at her father's home at Clear Springs, P. E. I., of Mrs. Emmet Pierce, who came some time ago from the Pacific Coast on account of ill health.

Mr. Fred Rose, South Lake, recently purchased a three years old mare from Mr. Jerome MacDonald, Little Harbour.

Miss Helen Mooney, who has charge of the school at Elmira, spent Saturday at her home in Souris.

Mr. Chester Bruce, Kingsborough was a recent visitor to Souris.

Miss Dorothy Moynagh, teacher at Lakeville, was a visitor to Charlottetown last week.

The Messrs. Walter and Elwyn Fisher, South Lake, in partnership with Messrs. Stanley and Renfrew Cameron, East Point, are at present engaged in building lobster traps, for Mr. Earl Johnston, who will have charge of East Point factory, when the "fishing season" opens.

We are pleased to note that East Point Light is again in operation.

Mr. Reginald Rose, South Lake is at present engaged in "boat building". Mr. Rose has built several large boats this winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Mossey, Bothwell, are spending "Easter Week" in Charlottetown.

Mr. Daniel MacLean, East Point and her daughter, Mrs. Freeman Mossey, Bothwell, were recent visitors to Charlottetown.

Miss Marguerite Mossey, who is attending St. Mary's convent, Souris, spent the Easter holidays at her home in Bothwell.

Mr. Daniel White, who is a student at St. Dunstan's university, Charlottetown was a recent visitor at the home of Mr. Columbia MacDonald, Lakeville.

The S. S. Montcalm, was seen on Easter Sunday morning, sailing eastward, in the "Strait," and was again seen in the evening steaming westward, ahead of another steamer which, apparently she was towing. According to reports the "Montcalm" was escorting the other ship into Souris Harbor for a cargo of potatoes.

We understand that Mr. Earl Johnston will arrive at East Point "factory" on the seventeenth, to begin preparations for the coming "lobster fishing season."

Her friends regret to hear that Mrs. A. P. McPhee, Elmira, has gone to Charlottetown to receive treatment in "hospital."

The prevailing westerly winds have greatly facilitated the moving off of the ice in Northumberland Strait, and we hope that it will soon be open to navigation.

The light of a steamer was seen on the night of Sunday, April fifth, southwest of East Point.

The roads in this vicinity, are becoming very much bared, making travelling very disagreeable.—C.

NO JUNGLE PERILS TO GIRL EXPLORER

MONTREAL, April 8.—By The Canadian Press)—The day when women shrieked at the sight of a mouse and fainted if they saw a spider is a far cry from the adventures enjoyed recently by Miss Gloria Hollister, technical associate of Dr. William Beebe, in the jungles of British Guiana, and recounted by her at a meeting of the Women's Canadian Club. Miss Hollister, who is young, slight and blonde, modestly assured her audience, however, that the dangers of the jungle are mostly a matter of the imagination. Wild animals don't attack you unless you interfere with them or corner them, she explained, and the long rope-like things that twine about and hang from the 250 feet trees only look like snakes. Actually they are just vines.

Despite Miss Hollister's statements that most of the dangers of the jungle came from an over-active imagination, it could not be felt that the jungle presented plenty of stimulus. Among the everyday incidents she related en passant were the facts that one morning she wondered what her hammock was bumping into to discover that an alligator had chosen its shadow to sleep in; that tarantula spiders and scorpions had bunked in her "smack" and shared her pillow; and that her limbs had been exposed to the vampire bat—just to see if he really would fan bite into them with his long teeth!

North Carleton School Report of North Carleton School.

Miss Hollister also told of the Indians living in primitive state in the central part of the country, as they had before Columbus had "even thought of discovering America." As long as one did not treat them with suspicion they were most loyal, she said. Some 10 years before, however, they abandoned a party of white men 250 miles inland because they had discovered that they carried revolvers beneath their clothes.

In order to entertain her Indian hosts, she had performed a stunt of balancing a glass of water on her forehead, while lying down and getting up. This had pleased them so much that they had demanded an encore. But her parlor tricks were now exhausted. Luckily she had hurt her teeth playing hockey and had been forced to wear a little brace, so she took this out and put it back again. They were so delighted with this, she said, that all the small boys immediately began to wave grass in their teeth.

SPINSTER HOARDED FUNDS SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Apr. 6.—When the home of Mary Morley, aged spinster, who conducted a dingy grocery store, was searched bank books and currency aggregating $28,430 were found in crevices, drawers, shelves and other out-of-the-way places. The woman had been thought destitute.

TUCSON, Ariz., April 6.—Joseph Thomas, Jr., nine, has a deserved reputation for using his head in emergencies. His five year old brother fell in a pool of water and Joe, although unable to pull the boy out held his head above water line until assistance arrived.

"I wonder why a woman lets out everything you tell her?" "It's because a woman has only two views of a secret,—either it is not worth keeping, or it is too good to keep."

Report of North Carleton School.
