Bridal Couple Are Welcomed

A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Coles on October 9, 1934, when the people of the community gathered there to extend their congratulations and good wishes to their son Eric and his bride, nee Miss Carolyn Fraser.

When the guests had assembled the bride and groom were escorted to the seats of honor by Helen Matheson and Robert Carter as the Wedding March was played by Doris Reid. The following address was then read by Margaret Coles and a lovely mantle clock presented by Verna Rodd.

To Mr. and Mrs. Eric Coles: Dear Eric and Carolyn, — Your friends of the community have assembled this evening to congratulate you upon your recent marriage, when:

On the good ship Matrimony You gladly sailed away, With true love as the pilot To guide you day by day. Throughout the entire journey May your happiness increase, And may you anchor in the harbor Of Hearts Content and Peace.

You are no strangers to us and we are pleased you are living in the midst. As the years go by, we hope you will be one with us in the activities of both church and community.

We ask you to accept this gift as a token of our good will. May the sunshine of the present Just grow brighter day by day With the gladness that awaits you All along your wedded way— And may your years together Bring the happiness to you That only comes as one by one Your wedding dreams come true.

Signed on behalf of the Milton People. Mr. Coles, on behalf of his bride thanked the people for their gift and good wishes. After the singing of, "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows," and bouncing both Eric and Carolyn, the remainder of the evening was spent in cards and dancing. A dainty lunch was served by the ladies, ere the guests departed for their homes.

Excursion Rates To Western Canada

(Special To The Guardian)

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 19—Residents of Eastern Canada will have an opportunity this winter of traveling by low round-trip excursion fares offered by the two Canadian railways to Canada's evergreen playground on the Pacific Coast, according to an announcement C. P. Riddell, chairman Canadian Passenger Association. Protected from the winter cold by the great mountain ranges, and with a climate tempered by the warm waters of the Japan current, British Columbia is yearly attracting an ever increasing number of visitors from Eastern Canada who are anxious to avoid the rigors of winter.

In order to meet this demand, both railways will place on sale low round trip first class fares from Port Arthur, Armstrong and all stations east thereof in Ontario, and in Quebec and the Maritime Provinces, to destinations in British Columbia, Oregon and Washington. These fares will be good going from December first to February 15th, with return movement good any time up to April 30th. Stop over privileges will be allowed at all stations on going and return trips. Various optional routes will be in effect for these excursions without additional charge, including passage through United States territory and also optional routes on Canadian lines, or by other various routes with slight additional costs. Special winter rates will also be available at hotels, the cities of Vancouver and Victoria with special facilities for all visitors and offer some of the best golfing in Canada, including the winter golf tournament from February 17 to 22, also fishing, tennis and other normally summer sports, which are all year round pursuits, while visitors with a flair for enjoying variety can have a day with ski or toboggan by taking a short drive from Vancouver to the mountains.

CATHOLIC POETRY SOCIETY—The local unit of the Catholic Poetry Society, entering upon the second year of its existence, held a well attended meeting at the home of the president on Monday November fourth. Some members from outside points were present as well as invited guests. The meeting was largely for the purpose of reorganization and the planning of a winter's program. A number of guest speakers' names were submitted to be invited to address the Society in topics relating to poetry. It was suggested that the society might interest itself, to some extent at least, in the writing of prose, the short story being mentioned as a suitable and interesting type of the latter. With regard to the activities of the Society as a study club it was proposed and agreed upon that the members should prepare for each meeting a particular type of poem according to topic, and according to the arrangement of verses metre or rhyme. Valuable suggestions and criticisms were offered by several members during the period of more or less informal discussion incident to a first meeting. The speaker for the next meeting, to be held the first Monday in December, has chosen for the occasion "the poetry of ancient Greece."

Quartet Members In City For Tonight's Concert

Met at Borden by Gryo Club representatives and driven by cars to the city, Messrs. James Levy, Milton Blackstone, Boris Hambourg and Harry Adaskin, members of the Hart House String Quartet arrived last evening and were warmly welcomed.

Mr. Blackstone, who visited here last year in search of a Stradavari violin reported (erroneously) to be in the Province, expressed appreciation of the splendid new Borden-Charlottetown highway which he predicted will be the means of bringing thousands of additional tourists to Prince Edward Island in the new few years.

The Quartet members were the guests at dinner last evening of Mr. and Mrs. Mould at the Canadian National Hotel, and of Mr. A. R. Cooper at the Prince Edward Theatre. They have been invited to visit a fox ranch this morning, and are looking forward to the experience with keen interest. The afternoon will be occupied chiefly in programme rehearsal—practice, day in and day out, being one of the secrets of the outstanding success which the quartet has achieved.

Tonight's concert at the Prince of Wales College Hall is being looked forward to by the visiting artists as well as the general public. On their former appearance here some years ago they were delighted with the Province and its people, and welcome the present opportunity of meeting old friends and making new ones. Mr. Levy, the new leader of the ensemble, is as keenly interested as his colleagues in giving Charlottetown music lovers the best that the Quartet has to offer.

That is saying much indeed! The chief programme pieces are Mozart's Quartet in D Minor, No. 13, and Beethoven's Quartet in E Minor, Op. 59, No. 2. The complete four movements of both these compositions will be given, in addition to a selection from Mendelssohn and other pieces by modern composers. This is "popular" music in the true sense of the word, requiring not to be explained or expounded, but simply to be heard to make an impression as vivid and enduring as an autumn sunset.

"We never play down" to an audience, for we have yet to find an intelligent audience to whom good music does not appeal," Mr. Blackstone said. "Why should we insult a Charlottetown audience by assuming that they want anything but the best? Knowledge of technical points is immaterial. Like poetry, music is written for, and makes its appeal to, the layman. The greater the music, the greater its appeal. Fortunately we are all able, more or less, to appreciate beauty even if we do not understand it. That is assuredly the case with the works of such composers as Mozart and Beethoven—they endure because the language they speak is universal."

Warning to his theme, Mr. Blackstone hummed over some of the passages which tonight will be interpreted in their full beauty and harmony from the concert platform.

Last Minute Rally Sends Stocks Soaring

(By Frank MacMillan, Associated Press Financial Writer) NEW YORK, Nov. 19—Wall Street bull forces gave stocks a brisk last hour forward shove today which again established average prices at a new high for more than four years.

Many individual issues advanced 1 to 4 points or more. Persistent buying in number of selected groups finally turned a firm market into a bull parade in the final hour of trading. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 7 of a point to 56.1, the best since Sept. 4, 1931.

While the pace of transactions was slower, on an hourly basis, than for several sessions past, dealings were decidedly brisk in late trading. Turnover in the stock exchange was 2,910,580 shares. Bond prices followed in the wake of equities in all important corporate classifications but the upward slant was not so steep. The Associated Press average of 10 industrial loans made a new peak for 1935 for the fifth successive trading day. U. S. government obligations were narrowly irregular.

Crawford-Hambly Nuptials

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Roach, Winsloe, on Wednesday evening, Nov. 16th, when their granddaughter, Elise Winnifred Hambly was united in marriage to Mr. Harold Russell Crawford, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Crawford of Blackville, N.B. The home was prettily decorated for the occasion with flowers and potted plants; the ceremony being performed under a beautifully decorated arch by the Rev. T. Palethorpe in the presence of about fifty relatives and friends of the contracting parties. The bride was a picture of girlish loveliness as she entered the parlour on the arm of her grandfather to the strains of the Wedding March played by Mrs. Graham Cook, aunt of the bride, wearing a floor length gown of ivory satin with lace trimmings and veil caught up with wreaths of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of cream gladiolus and maiden fern, her only ornament being a beautiful gold pendant, the gift of the groom. She was attended by her friend, Miss E. Kenne as bridesmaid who was prettily attired in old rose silk with white trimmings and carried a bouquet of pink gladiolus and ferns; also her two sisters, Florence and Daisy as flower girls, who looked sweet, dressed in pink silk dresses, each carrying a bouquet of pink gladiolus. Both bridesmaid and flower girls wore the bride's gift of white bone necklaces. Mr. W. Hambly, brother of the bride, acted as groomsmen and he also wore the bride's gift, a gold tie pin. After the signing of the register, the guests were ushered to the dining room, which was decorated in a color scheme of yellow and white, where all partook of the good things provided. A jolly band of serenaders arrived and extended their best wishes to the bride and groom in a most pleasing and orderly manner, after which they were generously treated to cake. The remainder of the evening was pleasantly whiled away with music and old time songs. Later the bride and groom

Annual Meeting Notre Dame Alumnae

The annual meeting of the Notre Dame Alumnae took place at the Academy on Monday, November 18th. Excellent reports were read by the President, Miss Agnes Murnaghan, and by Mrs. J. A. Cautious Trend On Mt'l. Market

(G.P. By Guardian's Special Wire) MONTREAL, Nov. 19—Prices pushed cautiously forward on Montreal Stock Exchange today with changes generally confined to narrow limits. Volume decreased. A buying wave during the final quarter hour carried a few selected issues higher but the remainder of the list was quiet. Only a few issues managed to advance more than a point. Holders began to sell power issues and an irregularly lower tone was in evidence in that section. Easy issues were Bathurst, Brazilian, Shawinigan and British Columbia. Montreal, Quebec and Southern Canada gained fractional strength. After drifting lower most of the session, International Nickel found buying support and gained 1-2 while Consolidated Smelting firmed a point. Hollinger was quiet and unchanged. New highs appeared for Howard Smith preferred at 1-8 and Foundation at 14, up 1-2 and 2 point respectively. Dominion Glass marked one of its infrequent appearances with a five-point gain. Demand was still in evidence for the "A" and "B" shares of Canadian Industrial Alcohol and both firmed slightly. National Breweries preferred dipped a point and the common gained fractionally. Steels were sluggish and Steel of Canada eased a point while Dominion Bridge was fractionally higher. Dominion Steel and Coal held unchanged. Total sales were 34,003 shares; bonds $7,000.

Assorted Cargo Loaded Here For French Islands

With every available space filled with cattle, silver foxes, hogs and farm produce, the large schooner Mary Pauline, a miniature Noah's Ark, was ready to sail last night for St. Pierre, Miquelon. The cargo of Prince Edward Island products was purchased by Henry Gauthier of the firm of Gauthier Bros., St. Pierre. For 38 years his father came here to make purchases for the French colony. Mr. Gauthier will return to his home today on board the steamship Maghild and will supervise the unloading of the cargo. The P. E. I. silver foxes are for the young merchant's up-to-date ranch. He is a pioneer in silver fox ranching on the French island and is optimistic over the possibilities of expanding the industry there. Cattle and foxes are below decks on the Mary Pauline, comfortably housed. Produce is stored in every nook and cranny—in fact some of the crew's bunks are being used to store for biscuits while large crates of vegetables, live hogs, occupy the upper deck, protected by tarpaulins.

Monsieur and Madame de la Roche, who have been visiting here for some time, left yesterday for their home in St. Pierre, Miquelon. They were accompanied by their daughter, Miss Marie de la Roche, who is also a resident of the French colony.
