Looking 'Em Over

(By "Tec")
 Tonight's Game

Abegweits, accompanied by hundreds of fans, will leave by special train this evening at 5.15 for Summerside, where they meet Crystals in the fourth game of the Prince Edward Island Hockey League. Tonight's fixture has all the earmarks of being one of the hardest fought and most spirited in the annals of Maritime hockey history.

If Abegweits play the same brand of hockey they exhibited in their last tilt with Crystals, it looks as if the latter are in for a very, very warm evening.

The referee question has apparently been settled, as Lester Lowther of Amherst has been appointed referee of tonight's game. Lowther has a reputation in Maritime hockey circles of being an impartial referee who knows the rules backwards. Following is the lineup—Goal, Stull and McEwen. Defence, Power and Spillath, Lawlor. Forwards—Nicholson, Saunders, Lawlor, Squarebriggs, Gillis McDonald.

Will Challenge N. H. L. Champions

There is talk around Chicago, where they teach hockey via the blackboard method, that the winners of the American Hockey League will challenge the champions of the N. H. L. for the Stanley Cup, and that the latter champions have only two courses open, one being to accept and play a series for the world's title, and the other to refuse. There is some question as to whether the N. H. L. winner would meet the American champions, whom they regard as outlaws. Frey Frank Calder has strong views on the matter, and there would likely be a lot of wrangling before the matter was settled. If the champions of both leagues should come together it undoubtedly would make a very interesting series.

The N. H. L. Situation

Crystal gazers worrying over the hockey situation are pretty well convinced that Maroons, Canadiens and Leafs will finish in the first division in the Canadian section, with Americans a distinct threat to the finish. Boston is conceded, along with Rangers, as certain in the American section, with Falcons and Hawks fighting it out for third place Ottawa and Philadelphia are out altogether, and can't be figured in the picture by any rating. Ottawa is likely to be just a tough opponent, but no thing else for contending clubs with an ability to scramble plans by inflicting odd defeats at times.

Quakers may from time to time explode a surprise, but they are in the throes of reconstruction which is a painful process for fans to look at, particularly as carried out by this type of team. The unwelcome task is in good hands, but Cooper Smeaton must be well aware by now of the adage that good players make good coaches. He is trying his utmost to get somewhere with his inexperienced crew, but apparently they are destined to remain riveted to last place. This is in the case where a change of name and venue worked no change in status, as in the case of Detroit who, by becoming Falcons instead of Cougars, apparently helped their fortunes.

Major Penalties

Ariel Jollat of the Canadiens and "Dit" Clapper of the Bruins are the first two National League players this season to be automatically suspended for one game as a result of incurring three major penalties. Jollat was out of Canadiens line up, while Clapper was forced into retirement while the Bruins were playing Ottawa in Boston last week. There are a number of other plays in the N. H. L. who have two major penalties against their record already this season. "Red" Horner of the Leafs is one and Eddie Shore of Boston is another.

Will Play Crystal Sisters

The Shediac young ladies' hockey team is planning to visit Summerside this week and try conclusions with the Crystal Sisters. The Shediac girls were late this season in beginning practice, but hope to make a good showing across the Strait.

Practically the entire team has played hockey for several seasons. Captain Lorete Herbert expects to take along the following players: Goal, Capt. Hebert; defence Beatrice Dolron, Analyce Hebert; wings, Dorothy Gladwin, and Eva LeBlanc; centre Jeanne Bourque; spares, Geneva Cormier and Celina Gallant.

Later in the season the Crystal Sisters will likely play in Shediac when they made their annual tour of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia.

Steady Job Goes Begging in Ontario

KITCHENER, Jan. 12.—The little village of New Germany is having considerable trouble getting a postmaster. No one wants the job as the pay is too small, the range being between $100 and $120, there being only 45 families in the community. Most of the people in the village can't see the job at $2 weekly, especially in view of the fact that the postmaster or his deputy is supposed to be on duty from eight o'clock until six. Anthony Frank resigned a month ago and Frank Scherer lately took the post, but he also resigned. The Government hopes to complete arrangements for a new postmaster shortly, and in the meantime Mr. Frank is again reluctantly filling the post.

DRAMATISING "PICKWICK"

(Canadian Press)

VIENNA, Australia, Jan. 12.—Charles Dickens' "Pickwick" was dramatized by Frankster Langer, of Prague, and was produced for the first time by a Prague Theatre on Christmas, 1930. Langer is the author of the remarkable, realistic play "Periphery" which was performed by Max Reinhardt in Berlin and Vienna.

Which would you rather be, a soldier or a farm hand. "A soldier, of course. You'd be long time working for a farmer" before he'd tell you to stand at ease.

WEDDING BELLS

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized in Chelsea, Mass., when Gertrude Elaine Bradley, formerly of Charlottetown, P. E. I., and Gerald Goddard of Roxbury, Mass., were united in marriage at the home of the officiating clergyman, Rev. C. I. Wilson, of the Baptist Church.

The bride looked charming in a dress of brown crepe, trimmed with orange, with hat and shoes to match and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and babies' breath. She was attended by her sister, Miss Nora Bradley, who wore a dress of royal blue flat crepe with hat to match and carried an arm bouquet of pink roses.

The groom was ably supported by his brother, Mr. Fred Goddard.

After the ceremony the bridal party motored to the home of Mrs. Cora Cleveland, where a reception was held. After refreshments and congratulations, the happy young couple left by motor on a honeymoon trip to Providence, Rhode Island and

Maroons to Strengthen Lineup

All indications point to the Montreal Maroons putting over an endeavor to strengthen their line up for the last half of the National League race. It is understood that Dunc Munro plans to return to action on the Maroons' defence shortly and would have done so sooner but for the fact that his team has the full quota of player allowed by the rules. To make room for Munro, who has been carrying his uniform on the recent road trips, another player will be sent to the Windsor Bulldogs, and still another player will have to be sliced from the squad if Glen Brydson, Toronto boy now with the Montreal A. A. team, is signed. And it is said such a happening is only a matter of a few days. Brydson, who was in Toronto recently, is rated the best amateur right winger in Montreal.

How About It Charlottetown

The Moncton Times Says:—It was announced last night by officials of the Junior City Hockey League that F. R. Sumner has donated a signet ring to the "cleanest" player in the league. The award will be made on the general department of the player throughout the season, taking into consideration his conduct on and off the ice. Mr. Sumner's action is a worthy contribution to the League and should instill into the young players an ambition to play the game for the game's sake and to be gentlemen at all times.

It has also been announced a handsome trophy, emblematic of the Junior City Hockey League, has been donated by the Moncton Transcript. Five teams are entered in the League and competition for the silverware is expected to be keen.

Something along the above lines should be taken up with regard to the juniors of this city.

Fascist Visitors

Newest Members Of Mussolinis

ROME, Jan. 12.—"Fascist visitors" are the newest members of Mussolini's organizations of men, women and children enrolled in support of the fascist state.

"Fascist visitors" are women who volunteer to go to hospitals, humble homes and wherever moral and material aid is needed. Their task is to comfort minds and nurse bodies.

The fascist party, recognizing the work of women in ambulances and dispensaries, formed the new groups all over Italy and instructed them to work "in the name of Fascism, in the name of the Duce."

Gyro-Stabilizer To Halt Rolling Of Italian Ship

(Canadian Press)

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Harnessing a law of nature as universal as gravitation is expected to keep the new Italian Lloyd Sabaudo liner Conte di Savoia from rolling. Three Soery gyroscopes will be the harness, the first ever used on an Atlantic liner.

The law is one which alike holds up the small boy's spinning top and all the whirling planets. Scientists call it the law of precession. It is the power of a spinning body to resist strongly any attempt to prevent it from changing the plane of its rotation.

Just at her water line, well forward, the Conte di Savoia will have three 100-ton gyros. Spinning tops they are, geared to tilt fore and aft, but strangely enough not to tilt from side to side.

It is a peculiarity of precession that if the tilt is fore and aft, the resistance exerted by the gyro is from side to side. Thus the gyro can be applied to counteracting the roll of waves. Less than one-quarter of a second after the roll starts, that is before human senses can detect the roll, these gyros have caught the beginning of the tilt and are in motion. Herein largely lies their effectiveness—they catch the roll early, they operate on the principle of prevention.

Mitigation of seasickness is only one of varied gyro-stabilizer uses. It saves power, a 20 degree roll figuring equal to a 20 per cent loss of power.

Gyro-stabilized yachts of wealthy sportsmen, already in extensive use, have driven through heavy storms without loss of speed, instead of having to heave to.

In a calm gyros have been used to roll a vessel artificially, as an aid to getting them off mud banks. In a rescue at sea, a stabilized boat is an unusual floating breakwater shelter for the wrecked vessel.

I suppose if I were to die tomorrow you'd marry some other woman immediately.

"Not right away. I'd take a rest first."

Anthropology

This Woman's Life's Labor

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(By The Canadian Press)—Believe it or not, Dr. Margaret Mead, brilliant young ethnologist of the American Museum of Natural History, is a Samoan dancer. Had she not been able to dance so beautifully that the Samoans anointed her with palm oil upon her recent expedition there, and made her a princess, her American college degrees would have proved as useless as her Phi Beta Kappa key. The Samoans don't like intellectual women.

Dr. Mead is now planning a return to the South Seas. So she is practicing upon her dancing steps. She is small and graceful, and if she wants to, she can weave her swaying body, in colorful Samoan costumes, all over the staid old Museum. Even in the hall of the dinosaurs and whales. She said yesterday:

"The career of anthropologist is drawing women in increasing numbers, for museum and field. Women are needed to do field work, but if they go venturing alone they are constantly annoyed by well-meaning boards and government officials who consider it too dangerous for them.

"Field work makes heavy demands on health and tact. You must eat anything, sleep anywhere, fraternize with all types of unwashed, like people as people, and forget pruderies. There isn't any field work left in the United States, so one has to go to Africa, South America, the Pacific Islands or Siberia. And if married, in order to be happy, you must be married to an engineer, a natural scientist, or another anthropologist—someone whose work carried him in to similar fields.

At thirty Dr. Mead has written several books, among them "Coming of Age in Samoa" and "Growing Up in New Guinea." She is the wife of Dr. R. F. Fortune, who, as you would know by now, is another anthropologist. And so perfect in her digestion that she is able to eat "taro," which tastes and looks like soap, but which is really a terrible potato.
