YANKEES STRONG FAVORITES TO COP TITLE

Glancing Around The Sport World

NEW YORK, Oct. 5—Looks like Gomez and Hubbell in the opener... St. Louis Cardinals have signed a young pitcher named Jack Card from Ogden, Utah... His first pitching effort was a no run, no hit and 23 batters whiffed... Sacramento will be glad to see him next spring... Ossie Solem of Syracuse shares honors with Tiny Thornhill of Stanford as the biggest football coach in the biz... Ossie stands six foot, four and tips the old beam at 235... Doesn't smoke, crew or swear (quite a guy) and the only way his boys can tell he's on edge is by a different pitch in his voice.

Mebbe Pitt's opponents can chuckle this one off: When the Panthers made a short jump to Morgantown to play West Virginia, two guys who played 20 minutes each in the Rose Bowl last January weren't considered good enough to go... And Jock Sutherland continues to bowl (with five loaves of bread under each arm) ...oh, oh...

Highest paid athlete in the World Series will be Jack Saltzgaver, Yankee utility infielder... He has been at but only 11 times this season, but will get a full share of the series loot.

A penny for Bernie's Bierman's thoughts... When the family of Lyle Rokenbach, Michigan State guard, attends a football game, they reserve an entire section... Lyle has six brothers and seven sisters, plus a couple of parents, aunts, uncles, etc... Coach Charlie Bachman, who issues the "comps," has asked the Rokenbachs to come in installments...

World Series dots and dashes—The series here of 1936, Jake Powell of the Yankees, will be on the sidelines when the big show starts tomorrow... Jake led the series hitters with a .455 average last year... Now he's laid up with a sinus attack, plus a cold... Manager Bill Terry of the Giants has recovered, however, from the illness that kept him idle last week.

The first two bleacher fans in line, who arrived Friday, still are on the job but they're not staying in line all the time... They have a car parked nearby and sleep in it.

Johnny McCarthy, Giants' first baseman, is going around with a heavily taped left ankle but doesn't limp and it doesn't bother him much... He's in just as good shape as Sambo Leslie, the other first sacker, whose right wrist is stiff and hampers his batting a bit... Lefty Gomez took two laps around the Stadium running track for his preparatory exercise yesterday while his prospective rival, Carl Hubbell, conserved his energy and merely walked around... Yankees fans in the fact he visited the bull pen during his tour... Someone commented there was nothing for him to worry about except those right field bleachers... Hub drew "Yeah, that's all" but his tone indicated he might have added "that's plenty."

Der Mag's Father On Hand To See Son Perform

NEW YORK, Oct. 5—The proudest and most excited man in this big city today was an old, weather beaten salt who travelled across the continent to see a guy named Joe play in the World Series. His suitcase crammed with mama's famous cookies, cake and several bottles of wine, Joseph DiMaggio Sr. made his first trip to New York in 41 years with only one bit of sightseeing on his mind. "That," he said, "is to see my boy Giuseppe hit a home run against the Giants."

Tops Wildest Dreams

If you've ever seen an aged father glow over the exploits of a son, then you've got the picture of Papa DiMaggio. In more than 25 years of fishing off San Francisco Bay, he's had more than his share of thrills but to come to New York, all expenses paid, to see Giuseppe strut his stuff before thousands of cheering fans tops Papa's wildest dreams.

Papa arrived yesterday morning accompanied by his third son, Dominic, star outfielder of the San Francisco Seals who hopes to emulate his more famous brothers, Yankee Joe and Vincent, who did a fine job his first year up with the Boston Bees this season. Joe met them at the station, dined himself on the cookies and cake, and then took them out to Yankee Stadium for the series practice.

Major League Attendances Show Gain

NEW YORK, Oct. 5—Major league baseball attendance for the season just closed, within striking distance of all time records, showed a 10 per cent increase over last year's figures.

Semi-official compilation today by The Associated Press disclosed a grand total of 9,457,497 fans passed through the turnstiles of the 16 American and National League clubs. This compared with an aggregate of 8,585,000 in 1936, thereby producing a total increase of 872,497.

The all-time "high" was reached in 1930, when the total attendance for the two major circuits reached 10,186,000.

The most striking feature of this year's showing is that Detroit Tigers, second place club in the American League, set the attendance pace, with a total of 1,181,000. This was a record for home game attendance in the motor city and exceeded by nearly 40,000 the home game figures for the world champion New York Yankees, hitherto the undisputed No. 1 drawing card.

The biggest single game attendance, 69,939, was registered at the Yankee Stadium, June 20, when the champions beat the White Sox twice. Tops in the National League was 61,756 at the Polo Grounds for a double header between the Giants and Dodgers May 30. At Cleveland's Municipal Stadium, July 18, when Joe DiMaggio's home run for the Yankees beat Bob Feller, the attendance was 59,884.

Remember When

(By The Canadian Press)

That old adage "they don't come back" was proven at New York five years ago tonight when Jimmy (Babyface) McLarin, Vancouver Irishman, scored a six-round technical knockout over aged Benny Leonard, Ruler of the division in the early '20s and one of the great lightweight boxers of all time. Leonard absorbed a terrific beating before the bout was stopped.

Newark Bears Even Series With Red Birds

(By Fritz Howell, Associated Press Sports Writer)

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 5—Newark Bears, champions of the International League, battled their way back to even terms at three games each in the little world series with Columbus tonight, defeating the Red Birds 10-1 in an exhibition of batting power and pitching finesse.

A crowd of 4,430 watched the Bears win their third straight game after losing three in a row on the New Jersey diamond. The Red Birds have scored but two runs in the 27 innings of the three games here.

Spurgeon Chandler, tall right-hander released to the Bears by New York Yankees with a sore arm after he had won seven and lost three for the American League champions, told Manager Oscar Vitt he was "ready to go" and he lit up to his promise.

He throttled the Columbus bats with seven blows, three of them doubles by first basemen Dick Siebert, who scored the lone Columbus run. Siebert walked in his fourth time up for a perfect night at bat.

Fourteen hits, including four doubles and two triples, rattled the Newark bats. Left fielder Dominic took over direct control of such sports as baseball, hockey and basketball, now governed by their own associations.

Made Move Necessary

Such a move, many sports leaders believe, was made necessary when the Maritime Amateur Hockey Association and the Maritime Amateur Basketball Association broke allegiance to the Athletic Union because they desired a more liberal amateur definition than that permitted by the A. A. U.

In order to make it possible for amateurs under the A. A. U. code to play hockey or basketball without endangering their amateur status, the A. A. U. may foster those sports itself, it is believed.

Would Name Committees

Committees would be appointed within the union to handle the various sports and arrange playdown dates in the same manner in which the organizations formerly allied with the union now operate.

N. S. Yachtsmen May Bid For Aldridge Cup

(C.P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

BOSTON, Oct. 5—Yachtsmen here and at Marblehead, Massachusetts' famed yachting centre, took kindly today to news that Nova Scotia interests were considering challenging for the William T. Aldridge international eight-metre class cup, now held by the Eastern Yacht Club.

J. Armory Jeffries, chairman of the Eastern Club's Racing Committee, said he had been in communication with members of the Royal Canadian Yacht Squadron at Halifax regarding the possibility of a challenge and he welcomed further word of the venture.

The Aldridge Cup, Leonard Fowle, yachting writer at Marblehead explained, was presented in 1931 by the then Commodore William T. Aldridge with the idea it should be open to international competition.

No nation yet has challenged but races have been held between the Eastern and Long Island Sound clubs off Marblehead for the last six years. The last race in September was won by Charles Francis Adams yacht club.

The yachts are 50 feet overall with a 30-foot waterline. Jeffries said the club council would have the final say on whether the Nova Scotia challenge could be accepted under the terms of the gift of the trophy.

More than ordinary interest in this year's America's Cup races taken by Nova Scotians, coupled with the thought of yachting circles that Canada and particularly Nova Scotia should enter a challenge, prompted that province's Highways Minister A. S. MacMillan to consult prominent yachtsmen on the possibility of entering the contest.

A committee headed by W. J. Roue, designer of the Bluenose, and Norman E. MacKay, Halifax, decided it would be more practical to build an eight-metre class challenger.

Will Broadcast World Series

C.F.C.Y. will co-operate with the C.B.C. in bringing to the sporting public a play by play description of the world championship baseball series.

The games featuring the New York Yankees, champions of the American League, and the New York Giants, champions of the National League, will open at the Yankee Stadium in New York today.

The broadcast will commence at 2.15 A.S.T. and will be heard over a national network.

All games with the exception of Sunday will be described on the airways.

Trainor Dies

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 5—(AP)—De Witt Van Court, 77, one-time trainer of famous pugilists, died today.

He trained such men as Jim Jeffries and James J. Corbett, world heavyweight champions, lightweight champion Willie Ritchie, Joe Rivers and Ad Wolgast.

World Series May Settle Many Of Baseball's Riddles

BY PAUL MICKELSON Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 5—(AP)—Some of big league baseball's most debated riddles should be solved when they decorate the horns on the goats and the laurel leaves on blushing heroes after the 1937 world series show between the Yankees and Giants.

Riddle number one, strangely enough, is the game's greatest pithing master, Carl Owen Hubbell. Though he won 22 ball games this year at the age of 34, there's more than a sneaking suspicion that the Red Birds maestro is over the hill. He's lower and his control isn't what it used to be. The Yankees will bet even money he won't be around in the sixth inning of tomorrow's opener.

Cliff Melton, the slow mountain music man whom the Yanks couldn't use three years ago, is almost a cinch to be the series goat or one of its greatest heroes. The Yanks are loaded for the greatest young pitching star of the year.

Joe McCarthy, more so than Terry, is on the hottest spot of the two managers. Colonel Ruppert, owner of the Yankees, is going around town saying the Yanks are a kick in but if the Giants win he'll be pretty sour.

Another big question mark in the series of question marks is Hal Schumacher, veteran pitcher of the Giants. Well-founded rumor has it that he socked Terry on the jaw during a dispute three years ago and that since they haven't been what you would call pals. Strictly a hot and cold pitcher, Schumacher might swipe the whole show.

Fight Looms For Control Of Sport In The Maritimes

AMHERST, N. S., Oct. 5—What many sportsmen predicted would be one of the greatest struggles in Gleason, sport loomed today as preparations were made for the annual meeting of the Maritime Provinces Branch of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada here tomorrow.

It was freely suggested here, a proposal would be made the organization take over direct control of such sports as baseball, hockey and basketball, now governed by their own associations.

World Series Nothing New To These Players

NEW YORK, Oct. 5—(AP)—For 30 of the 45 players of the New York Yankees and Giants in the World Series starting tomorrow will be nothing new. That number have had previous experience in baseball's annual fall classic. Fourteen of them have been in two or more previous series.

The "Champions" from a standpoint of experience will be of course, Lou Gehrig and Tony Lazzeri, the Yanks' first and second basemen. Holdovers of the Babe Ruth heyday they are appearing in their sixth series.

Pat Malone, veteran Yankee and Chicago Cubs relief pitcher, and Gus Mancuso, Giants' catcher, are next in line, each having been in three previous series. Ten others will be in their third classic this year.

Everything In Readiness For Annual Fall Classic, But Weather Unfavorable

(By Alan Gould, Associated Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Oct. 5—Everybody but the weather man manifested the cooperative spirit today as finishing touches were applied to preparations for New York's fifth exclusive world series, due to be unveiled tomorrow in baseball's biggest park, the Yankee Stadium.

The opening "batle of left hooks" otherwise identified as a southpaw pitching duel between Veason Gomez of the Yankees and Carl Hubbell of the Giants, presaged a long-awaited "natural."

Officials of the world champions optimistically predicted a record crowd of 70,000 fans. A "near sellout" of reserved seats was reported with 30,000 unreserved grandstand and bleacher seats, at $3.30 and $1.10, respectively, to be put on sale tomorrow morning.

Probable Lineups For Today's Tilt

NEW YORK, Oct. 5—Probable starting lineups for New York Giants and New York Yankees in the first game of the world series tomorrow at the Yankee Stadium, with batting averages and won-and-lost records of pitchers:

Ripple rf .317 Dekey c .338
McCarthy 1b .281 Hoag lf .301
Mancuso c .283 Seikirk rf .328
Whitehead 2b .289 Lazzeri 2b .243
Hubbell (22-8) p .216 Gomez (21-11) p .206

Time of game—2.30 p. m. AST.

Probable Weather—Cloudy and warmer, with probable showers.

Series schedule—Second game, Thursday, Oct. 7, at Yankee Stadium; next three games, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 8, 9 and 10, at Polo Grounds; sixth and seventh games if necessary, Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 11 and 12, at Yankee Stadium.

Betting Odds—First game: Yankees, 1 to 2; Giants 7 to 5. Series: Yankees, 2 to 5; Giants 8 to 5.

English Team Weakened For Empire Games

LONDON, Oct. 5—England's potential track and field strength in the 1938 British Empire Games at Sydney, Australia, were substantially reduced yesterday by announcement Sid Wooderson, world record-holder for the mile, and Alan Pennington, Cambridge sprint star, would not compete.

While these two, regarded as almost certain winners in the February Games, definitely withdrew from the English team, two other top-notchers were wavering and expected to make final decisions this week. They were Don Finlay, one of the world's best hurdlers, and Godfrey Brown, the great quarter-miler.

Wooderson said he was prevented from making the trip due to the necessity of concentrating on law examinations. Recently he set a world record of four minutes, six and four-tenths seconds in a handicap mile. Pennington also is tied up with his studies at Cambridge.

In Finlay and Brown also decided to withdraw, the English team will be greatly weakened.

Turn Out For Workouts At Hockey School

WINNIPEG, Oct. 5—Six members of last year's New York Rangers are among the 34 ambitious youngsters who reported today for their practice sessions of Lester Patrick's fourth annual hockey school.

Gathered from Western Canada, Ontario and the United States, aspirants for a place with Rovers of the Eastern United States Amateur Hockey League skated travel-kinks out of their legs in a light workout.

Patrick, grey-haired maestro of New York Rangers in the National Hockey League, intimated his school classes would confine training or the next few days to skating. Morning and afternoon shifts start next week.

Two goalkeepers, 12 defencemen, 12 wingers and eight centermen are on the list.

SERIOUSLY INJURED

MONCTON, N. B., Oct. 4—(CP)—Raoul Nowlan, six of St. Anselme, was in hospital here tonight in a critical condition from a skull injury suffered when he was knocked down by a car. It was said that the boy suddenly dashed in front of the automobile, giving Alfred Lezer, Moncton, no chance to avoid the accident.
