Proof For Women Who Still Suffer

That they can find relief in Dodd's Kidney Pills

Miss Lois McKay suffered from Pains in the Back, Side and in the region of the Heart—Dodd's Kidney Pills cured her.

RIVERTON, Digby Co., N. S. Dec. 1.—Every day seems to bring a message of cheer for the weak, run-down women of Canada. Today's message comes from Mrs. Lois McKay, a well-known resident of this place. She, like others, has found new life in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"Before I used Dodd's Kidney Pills," Mrs. McKay states, "I suffered with a bad pain in my back and side, pains in my bowels, and sharp, cutting pains around the heart. I was always tired. Sometimes when I sat down I could hardly get up out of the chair. But thanks to Dodd's Kidney Pills, my pain is all gone and my back is well. I have proven for myself that Dodd's Kidney Pills are good. Female trouble is nearly always caused by diseased kidneys. The position of the female organs and the kidneys shows how one is dependent on the other. That's why weak women find new life in Dodd's Kidney Pills. They always cure diseased kidneys."

The Food Question

Collier's (Canadian edition), of August 26th contains an article entitled "Westfield—a Pure Food Town," which is sure to be interesting to all housekeepers. The people of Westfield (Mass.) woke up to the fact that they were not getting pure food or pure material for use in food. They do not want, and now will not have, fruits, jams, etc., in which certain preservatives are used, peanuts that have been varnished to make them look nice, etc. Of the groceries tested in the laboratory one of the most frequently adulterated is baking powder. A delightful concoction known as a tart proved to be full of alum, made with alum, with a jelly centre dyed with coal-tar. The article goes on to say: "So little baking powder is used in some homes that this product would seem comparatively unimportant. But a great deal of baking powder, however, is used in the bought cake and biscuits, and a great deal of this is adulterated." The adulteration may be by ammonia, which is fraudulent but not injurious, or by alum, which is decidedly injurious, as it hardens the tissues of the mucous membranes. As a precaution, look at label and see if ingredients are stated. Better refuse it if alum or something that looks like alum (such as aluminum) is one of them, or if the ingredients are not stated by the manufacturer it will be well to select some other brand.

Jams, jellies, catsups, confections, gelatine, dessert powders, flavoring extracts are often colored with coal-tar dyes. These dyes are sometimes harmless, but very frequently injurious, depending on the particular combination. There is one bottle of Creme de Menthe at the Normal School which contains a coal-tar dye sufficiently poisonous to have killed two people. The bottle is almost full, but the small amount used caused the death of a man and his wife, and then the product was sent for analysis. Extracts are also adulterated with sweet alcohol and with turmeric, a fraudulent adulterant. No doubt many cities and towns will profit by Westfield's experience and follow its example. At a pretty wedding ceremony celebrated last night at half past seven in Wesley parsonage Miss Lizzy Beatrice Casley, who arrived on Saturday from Prince Edward Island, became the bride of Alexander McLure, who came to the city in March from Prince Edward Island. The bride was prettily gowned in white silk voile with bridal veil and carried white carnations and lilies of the valley. The attendants were George and Mrs. Sheen from whose home the arid party had motored to the parsonage. At the wedding dinner served by Mrs. Sheen about twenty guests were present. Roses and chrysanthemums made the table a very pretty sight. Mr. and Mrs. McLure will reside at 204 avenue F. North Saskatoon, Sask.—Etc.

Cameron on the evening of the 27th inst. The Directors met on the above date and the following resolution was adopted:—Resolved, that we urge the Federal Government to purchase the N.B. and P.E.I. Railway from Sackville to Tormentine, widen the gauge of the P.E.I. On account of the absence of some of the Directors the election of a President and Sec for next year was laid over to the next regular meeting to be held in the Schoolhouse at Charlottetown on Dec. 12th at 7 p. m. A charming wedding took place at St. Anne's Church, Somerville, Mass., Wednesday 22 inst, when Ernest J. Mullally, Deputy Superintendent of the Metropolitan Insurance Co., of New York, son of the late John Mullally of "Gowan Brae" was married to Miss Georgia Abigail Parker of Winter Hill, Somerville. The groom was attended by Leo Drury of Boston College and Miss Agnes Farrell was maid of honor. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where the young couple were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Parker and Mrs. Mary Mullally mother of the groom. There passed peacefully to rest at Pembroke Sanitarium, Concord, N. H., on Nov. 9, 1911, James B. Graves, in the thirty-sixth year of his age. The deceased was the fourth son of William Graves of Hnyvale, P. E. I., and left home about sixteen years ago for the United States. He located in Manchester, N. H., where he resided until a year ago, when he entered the sanitarium at Concord for treatment for tuberculosis, which he had contracted some five years before from an attack of Grippe, but the disease had become too deeply seated to be overcome. Always jovial and happy, he is sorely missed. He was a member of the Manchester M. E. Church and died trusting in his redeemer. He was laid to rest in Pine Grove Cemetery at Manchester on Sabbath, Nov. 12th. The funeral service was conducted by his pastor, Rev. J. R. THE STORY IS TOLD

Article No. 6

The story is told. Here is a national opportunity for a great people to unite in a spirit that will build not only the plant of the Edmonton Portland Cement Company, but will build Western Canada. For this institution is only a unit in the making of an Empire.

Senator Beveridge of Indiana has said that Canada is the most self-reliant nation on earth. The United States had a population of forty-five millions before it had a single transcontinental railroad, and that road was only transcontinental by connections, for it started at Omaha. And even today, with a population of ninety millions, the United States has not a single railroad that reaches from ocean to ocean. While Canada with a population of eight millions, has two railroads already that span the continent, and will soon have a third.

All of this demonstrates what the Canadian spirit may accomplish. A few weeks ago a great federal election decided a question of the profoundest import. The alternatives offered to the people of Canada were a partnership with a great nation, tenfold stronger than we, or "Canada for Canadians." And the answer rang out from the homes of the British Empire: "Canada is the land of opportunity, held in trust for the sons and daughters of Great Britain." It was not a political party doctrine, but the "Spirit of the Empire" that sent the theory of reciprocity down to defeat. And it now remains for the men of Canada to fulfil the trust that has been committed to them.

And the opportunity of Canada today is the building of its own magnificent Northwest. A tidal wave of emigration, such as no other country ever saw, is sweeping across the Northwest and occupying its rich prairies with homes. Cities are rising as by magic, and towns and villages are springing up in a day. The roar and clash of machinery is heard where only the dismal bark of the coyote broke the stillness of just the other night. And railroads are spreading out the arteries of trade as if some magic wand had waved its mysterious spell of transformation over this wonderful land.

And it is the people of Canada who are doing all this. For once the united vision, purpose, courage, and wealth of the common people are building an Empire. In a previous article it was said that the story of the building of Western Canada could all be told in one word—Organization. It is the opportunities of the Northwest, the wealth of the East, and the genius and ability of the whole world, fused into a great commonwealth, by the power of intelligent, courageous, and honest organization.

A few years ago a business man in Philadelphia thought of the phrase, "Business statesmanship." He applied it to the late Mr. A. J. Cassatt of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, who had just died. The phrase is in no sense American; but it is indigenous to Canada. The one business of Canada which has been so perfectly organized as to become a national institution, the splendid Canadian banking system, is the product of Business Statesmanship. And when the Northwest is builded, it also will be the national witness to the power and possibilities of Business Statesmanship.

Business Statesmanship means three things: 1. United and concerted effort toward a Common Idea. 2. Scientific and complete organization. 3. Honest and efficient Administration. Applied to the Edmonton Portland Cement Company, all of this means: 1. That the capital of hundreds of individuals all over Canada is being

Behind Every Piano We Sell is Miller Bros' Guarantee

Behind every piano we sell, supporting and maintaining the guarantee of the makers, is Miller Bros., honest recommendation and binding guarantee.

Miller Bros guarantee is more than a printed form or a spoken word. It means that every piano we sell has been selected by us after a most thorough and vigorous search and is in our belief the best piano at its price in Canada.

Our guarantee means that the buyer get full returns in piano quality for every cent expended and this guarantee should be doubly strong for you because we are right here on the grounds to answer all complaints, to settle difficulties and to back up every statement we make regarding our pianos.

We do not consider a sale finished when a piano leaves our store. Your satisfaction is always our main consideration and from the time you purchase the instrument we make it a point to see that you get perfect satisfaction.

A thorough study of the prices, values, fame and quality of our pianos will thoroughly convince you that Miller Bros' guarantee means now, as it did scores of years ago, that our main aim is to satisfy our patrons and not load them with poor instruments for the sake of making a sale.

The Old Miller Bros 123 Kent St Firm of Charlottetown used to build and put into operation a great cement plant where the very best material have been found sufficient for the manufacture of 12,000,000 barrels of cement that can be sold at a profit of $2.00 a barrel.

2. That the most scientific and complete organization of modern times is being employed to build the great mill, and to put it into successful operation.

3. That the most substantial and capable men of Edmonton are the directors of this institution, and are responsible for its administration. These are men whom the people, not only of their own community, but the people of the nation can trust.

And all of this means that the shareholders will receive for their investment stock that will increase in value within the next year from $10, the present price, to $150, much less than its ultimate value. And it will also mean that money which would bring only three per cent. in the savings bank will bring more than twenty-five per cent. in this investment.

This has all happened many times before. Earnings in some form of twenty-five per cent., or even twice as much, are far from uncommon in great manufacturing enterprises, as almost any of the great American Trusts will bear witness. But it was a few Wall Street capitalists and not the people who received the dividends; which is the difference between the American idea of business policy and the Canadian spirit of Business Statesmanship.

And in no evil spirit at all let it be said that the only competitor of the Edmonton Portland Cement Company is an American-made Trust which has been trying to graft itself upon the commercial life of Canada.

This article closes what has been a somewhat unusual series of advertisements. And if the spirit of this great undertaking has been carried to the hearts of the people of Canada, much indeed will have been accomplished. But this is far from being merely a stock-selling campaign.

Selling the stock of the Edmonton Portland Cement Company is relatively unimportant compared to the establishment of a great Commercial Federation that will unite the patriotism and the capital of the East with the opportunities of the West in the right building of this new Nation. When that is done, Northwestern Canada will be the finest and best expression of the "Spirit of the Empire."

The spirit of this undertaking can not be better illustrated than by a story of one of its directors. He had retired from business, and with some hesitation consented to take a large amount of shares and assume the responsibilities of a director. But when he saw the possibilities of a great factory organized and operated as this one will be, he took his associates by surprise one day by saying this:

"We are building the model mill of Canada. Let us build around it the model workingman's town, with beautiful streets, pretty, well-kept, clean homes, good schools, churches—everything that will make the home life of our working men happy and give their children all the advantages we would ask for our children." His suggestion was adopted on the instant, and Marlboro, the Model Workmen's town, is now being planned and will be built by this man and his associates, as the expression of the sentiment and spirit which is making the Edmonton Portland Cement Company.

This institution, the first of Western Canada's Great Industrial Institutions, now offers its shares to the public, for the present only, at $10. Subscriptions may be made through any branch of any chartered bank of Canada, or remitted direct to
