RESIGNS POSITION—Capt. C. M. Williams, Field Supervisor of the Soldiers Settlement Board of Prince Edward Island, has resigned his position, his resignation to take effect the end of September. It is understood that Mr. Williams will go into the insurance business. His successor is Mr. M. W. MacIntyre, son of the late Wallace D. MacIntyre, formerly of Montague. A REAL SWIM.—Last Saturday Mrs. Bruce Marr (formerly Miss Grace Messervey) Miss Dorothy Gordon and Miss Margaret Allenby, swam from Pownal Wharf across the harbor to Rosebank, a little over a mile, in 37 minutes. With commendable prudence they had a boat accompany them in charge of Mr. John Gordon who is a witness to their great stunt. Should any other ambitious young ladies undertake a feat of this kind they are strongly advised to follow the example set by the ladies mentioned, namely to have a boat at hand.

—RECEPTION — On the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Thompson at their beautiful home in O'Leary after touring the Island their many friends gathered from far and near with presents of every kind and discription to enable them to start lifes journey together under very favorable circumstances. Many handsome and costly presents were received as well as checks and gold showing the popularity of this young couple by their many friends in O'Leary and vicinity. A very pleasant evening was spent and the spacious grounds were thronged all evening. All our citizens join in extending good wishes and a pleasant journey through life.

On Wednesday morning at about 9.30, while Mr. Reid and his son were absent from home, his barn and grain house were totally destroyed by fire.

Many neighbors rushed to the scene of conflagration, but the fire had made such headway that it was impossible to save the buildings mentioned.

One building near was saved only by a continuous deluge of water.

The dwelling-house was untouched, owing to the direction of the wind (S.W.) which had it veered a point to the west would likely have met a similar fate.

Besides the loss sustained, Mr. Reid will be seriously handicapped in the housing of his stock and grain at this season of the year.

After a depth of 5,965 feet had been reached, or 685 feet more than a mile, the drilling for oil and gas in the second well at Governor's Island has been abandoned, and Saturday the casing is being pulled. This will probably end the venture under taken by Messrs H. M. Doherty and Company of New York over a year ago. Two wells were bored, the first being abandoned at a depth of 1,500 feet. Doherty and Company carried on the boring of the first well and the second until a depth of 1,500 feet had been reached, when Messrs. McKay and McClung took a sub contract from the corporation to continue the work.

It is to be deeply regretted that the efforts of the Doherty Company so far as Prince Edward Island is concerned have proved unsuccessful, as it is understood they expended nearly $500,000.

In a letter he says that he found President Coolidge and Mrs. Coolidge very pleasant and affable, and had the satisfaction of learning that they appreciated the service very much. Mr. Vickerson is a brother to Messrs Fred and Charles Vickerson, Vernon River, and Mrs. George MacMillan, Alberry Plains. It is considered quite an honour to cater to the President and the Lady of the White House and party.

The pleasure of Manday's holiday was somewhat marred when it was learned that shortly after 5 o'clock in the afternoon a car accident occurred in the city in which a little boy, Everett, the three and a half year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Doucette was almost instantly killed.

Mr. Doucette was driving along Sydney Street accompanied by his child, going west; when he reached the corner of Weymouth and Sydney Streets a car driven by Alyre Arsenault, accompanied by Mr. J. B. Gaudet, coming along Weymouth from the railway station going north, struck the car driven by Mr. Doucette.

The car was forced up against a telephone pole and the little boy, Everett, who was thrown out when the cars collided was pinned between the car and post. Mr. Doucette was also thrown out of the car and although in a dazed condition managed to force the car from the post and extricate his child which he carried to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Howatt nearby.

Mr. Malcolm M. Stewart died at his home on the early morning of August 16, 1927. He had been suffering sever pain for almost two years and nine months. In December 1924, after working in the woods, his limbs began to pain with rheumatism, which grew worse and worse as the months passed on. Yet with all his suffering and affliction he was always patient and cheerful.

Mr. Malcolm M. Stewart was born on October 16, 1846 in Caledonia West, P. E. I., where he made his home during his youth. Later he moved to Caledonia which was his home during the greater part of his life. He was in the United States at one time for about seven years and at another time for about five years. He was a man who was highly respected and loved by his neighbors and all who knew him. He was a member of Caledonia Presbyterian Church to which he was always faithful.

Mr. Stewart is survived by his widow, Mrs. Stewart, and one daughter, Mrs. Sarah Catherine Stewart Reed, of Rockport, Mass., and two sons, Norman C. Stewart, of High Bank, John S. Stewart, in the home, also by one brother, Mr. Donald Stewart, of Caledonia West, and four sisters, Mrs. John Nicholson, Glen Martin, Mrs. Annie MacKenzie of Gloucester, Mass., Mrs. Margaret MacLeod, of Rockport, Mass., and Mrs. Mary Sedgley, of Augusta, Maine.

The funeral services were held in Caledonia Presbyterian Church. They were conducted by the Rev. Quincy A. McDowell, pastor of the church, who was assisted by the Rev. Mr. MacLennan of Valleyfield, and the Rev. Mr. MacDonald, of Little Sands. Interment was at Little Sands Cemetery. The Masonic Order held services at the Cemetery.

The MacBeth—MacDonald case was concluded in the Supreme Court yesterday afternoon. Two witnesses of the crown were recalled—Mr. J. M. Murley and Miss Bessie MacPhee. The former testified concerning certain telegrams which were not allowed to go in as evidence; Miss MacPhee was called to identify the writing on telegrams; one signature she said was in the handwriting of Jessie MacBeth. The evidence of the late Mrs. MacBeth given at the Coroner's inquest was not allowed to be admitted.

In the afternoon the only witness called to the stand by the defense was Mr. Sydney B. Acorn, clerk in the grocery store of Jenkins & Son who testified that he put up parcels for Daniel McDonald, whom he knows last March 20th and April 9th addressed to Miss Jessie MacBeth and identified sales slips of groceries purchased.

Mr. Gilbert Gaudet, K. C., in the course of summing up the case for the defense said the accused is innocent until proven guilty; that the prisoner is entitled to any reasonable doubt and that if the prisoner was not put on the stand to testify is no cause for comment from the crown.

He submitted that knowledge is a thing that must not be inferred. The existence of the noxious quality of the drug in the case must be proved; that is the first element which must be proved in this case. Is there any evidence of the nature, quality or name of the drug in connection with the case against the prisoner? What did she take? Doctor Bovyer supplied some saline solution because she was vomiting. Was that an noxious drug? She called to see Dr. J. S. Jenkins. He prescribed nothing for her, he said. There is no evidence that the accused had anything to do with her trip to Dr. Jenkins. She didn't go home after she saw Dr. Jenkins, where did she go? What drugs did she purchase? Where did she get the pills if she had any? Were the pills noxious? There is no evidence before the court that Jessie MacBeth ever had any drugs except that supplied by Dr. Martin. That is the stand we take. There is no evidence of noxious drugs. On the 14th of February, Dr. Martin was called in and treated her for sick stomach. Later he was called in and found flooding had taken place. He thought the best procedure would be to complete the miscarriage. He gave her ergot and that is the only evidence before the court of the administration of any drugs. There was a miscarriage later on what drug brought it on.

The prisoner is accused of procuring the drug. How can the prisoner be charged with procuring the drug when they can't tell us the nature, name and kind of the drug which they claim brought about the condition. The crown fails utterly in this regard. Where is the evidence he procured or supplied any medicine or drugs.

Jessie MacBeth goes home around the end of January and it seems she had some pills. She told her father two stories. One that Dr. Jenkins was treating her for her stomach and again that the prisoner supplied them. The statement made by Mr. MacBeth, told him, by his daughter is not admissable. If the first statement is false, can't the second be false also?

The crown went to great length to procure evidence against the prisoner. They produce two witnesses, a man by the name of Beaton and a girl named McPhee. Two contemptible witnesses who opened and read a letter on the way to the post office purported and written by Jessie to McDonald. I submit the contents of this letter is not evidence against the accused. In a criminal case the crown could not give evidence of the contents of this letter. They must give ground to that effect and they must do so. If she got the instructions of how to take the medicine why should she tell him in a letter the directions to be followed. The accused treated her like a gentleman and friend. On the face of it this letter destroys the purpose of the crown.

There is not a word of evidence before the court that the accused saw Jessie MacBeth in the month of February 1927, the time during which he is accused of administering the drugs. If there were no drug procured then there can be knowledge. Then the accused is not guilty. The crown want us to infer from a pill gotten by Mrs. McDonald at MacBeth's—a pill which has been lost—that pills were administered by the accused because he was a friend of hers. In concluding Mr. Gaudet stated he saw no evidence to prove that the prisoner to be guilty of any wrong.

Mr. K. J. Martin, K. C., in a brief address, stated that there is no known drug (quoting from Taylor's Medical Jurisprudence) or combination of drug, taken by mouth that will empty the uterus.

Mr. Gavan Duffy, K. C., in charge for the crown, said that the condition of the patient showed evidence of a noxious drug having been present, and the intimacy of the prisoner with the deceased was evidence pointing to him as the guilty party. In January the girls finds herself pregnant at Hampton and the first person she consults on coming to town was the prisoner. She and the prisoner are seen conversing together at Sackville. A number of telegrams are exchanged while she was at the Lennox Hotel. On Feb. 6th, Bessie MacBeth sees her in Bellevue and gets a letter to mail. You were told of how the letter became opened. The letter was read. Here we have evidence of drugs being used. She told of their effect upon her and adds if they didn't work it would necessitate a trip abroad. We have evidence that she was regularly receiving parcels from the prisoner while she was home.

The evidence of her mother shows she had pills at home before Dr. Martin was called in. ("I can't convict a man of suspicion," said Judge Stewart. "I must have facts.") There is no question that the medicine was found there and she said in the letter that the bluff (sick stomach) was working fine. She confesses later on to her father that McDonald was supplying her with drugs. The father confronts him with the fact and he did not deny it and later said it would have been better had I left things alone.

Jessie MacBeth's condition from end of January to the time of her death is the strongest evidence of noxious drugs. Every time she received packages from McDonald her condition was worse. When McDonald heard of her condition, he still visited her. An innocent man would not act in such a way. There is no question about it that she was taking drugs to procure abortion with pills which she said in life, were supplied by McDonald. He was the only man who knew she was in Shediac.

We have evidence that the result of the administration of drugs, was accomplished by the evidence of Dr. Oulton of Moncton. McDonald also shows up in Moncton when the girl is dying and admits things would have been better had he left things alone. The fact that all movements were secret to all except the prisoner is a very strong circumstance against him. If he thought the MacBeth's were trying to put up a case against him then, if he were innocent, he would have left her to her own resources. The whole circumstances surrounding the case point to one person—the prisoner at the bar. There never was a cleaner case of circumstantial evidence before the Court as the present one. These are so strong that no person could conclude the possibility of innocence of the accused.

On account of the amount of evidence submitted which necessitated great care in its perusal, Judge Stewart stated that he would give judgment on Wednesday, Sept. 21 at 11 o'clock.

THURSDAY

PAINFUL INJURY—Whi-e Jack McLean, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Cleaver McLean, King Street, was climbing over a fence at the rear of his home yesterday he fell and injured his hand so badly it was found necessary to have him removed to the Prince Edward Island Hospital where he underwent an operation. It was found an artery was severed in addition to other injuries and it is feared he will lose the use of three of his fingers. The accident is all the more regrettable owing to the fact th his parents were absent from the city—his father being a delegate to the Y's Men's Convention at Chicago and is accompanied by his mother.

The four masted vessel Avon Queen, in command of Captain MacLean, arrived in port on Monday from Norfolk, Va., being twenty one days out, with a cargo of 1500 tons of coal for A. Pickard & Co. The Avon Queen was one of the many vessels caught in the hurricane which had swept all along the Atlantic coast, taking toll of many lives.

The Captain says that when they set sail everything was running along fine, not the least sign of a storm, but later on they got word over their radio, that a hurricane was raging and was sweeping Northward.

No sooner had his crew began to take in the sail than the storm struck them, tearing everything to pieces, smashing his wheel box, cabin doors, windows, tore his mainsail to pieces and smashed the foretopmast, also washing most of his provisions overboard. The waves were towering one hundred feet into the air, his cabin began to fill with water and it seemed hopeless to save the vessel. For two days and a night the crew worked manning pumps and buckets, while two of them were lashed to the wheel. They were at the time of the storm between Georges Point and Sable Island, that graveyard of the Atlantic, where many a ship and her crew have gone down to a sailor's grave.

"Never in my forty years of going to sea," the captain said, "have I experienced such a storm and hope to never again. My vessel was like a chip on the waves, being almost at the mercy of the sea."

The Avon Queen is a 1000 ton vessel, having been built in Parrsborough, N. S., and is owned by Capt. MacLean, is one of the largest and finest in Canada, the Guardian representative having had the pleasure of being shown through her. The Captain had on board with him, his wife and family, who are not feeling extra well yet after their trying experience.

The Captain also owns the three masted vessel, Harry A. MacLennan which has come to this port many times.

The Avon Queen after she discharges her cargo here will sail for Chatham, N. B., where she will load lumber for New York.

SERIOUS FIRE AVERTED.— What might have been a very serious fire took place in Miss Annie McRae's barn at Eldon. A car belonging to Mr. Pitman, manager of the Royal Bank of Canada after having been put away for the night broke out in flames burning the top of the car and setting fire to the roof of the barn. The barn was saved by the quick action of James Larrabee, Jr. When no one could face the flames he got a roof ladder hooked on to the hind axle of the car and pulled it to the road with the assistance of the few who had gathered. A willing fire brigade soon had the fire under control. Miss McRae wishes to thank all who helped to save her property as the wind was blowing a gale. Had the fire got five minutes more of a start Eldon might have been a thing of the past.
