"3 GODFATHERS" BANDIT TALE WITH FRESH SLANT, ACTION-LOADED OFFERING

Death Valley, California, forms the spectacular background for the thriller-packed Technicolor outdoor drama, "3 Godfathers," starring John Wayne, Pedro Armendariz and Harry Carey, Jr., at the Capitol Theatre.

Based on Peter B. Kyne's memorable tale of three western badmen who make a desperate attempt to escape over the desert fighting storms, a harrowing third and the ominous shadow of them pursues them. This Argosy production carries a dramatic wallop in every reel.

Wayne is the amiable, two-fisted leader of the desperadoes, Armendariz is the sentimental Mexican, and Harry Carey, Jr., the member of the trio who is wounded after their attempt to hold up a bank. Together they match their wits against the pursuing posse led by Sheriff Ward Bond. Complications arise when they come upon a dying mother and are persuaded to adopt her infant child, a situation which gives way to a tender and humorous moment. In the end, Wayne is the lone survivor and, although he is apprehended, a twist of the tale turns him from villain into hero.

Wayne, who has become a model for the screen's prototype of virile western heroes, his most recent success having been "Fort Apache," is in top form in his latest portrayal. Armendariz, as his excitable lieutenant, contributes to the comedy overtones, and Harry Carey, Jr. makes an auspicious debut in the dramatic part of the wounded boy, a performance which the late Harry Carey would undoubtedly commend.
