

CLAIMS FOOD SUPPLY AMPLIFIED IN EMERGENCY

Labor Censure Motion Against Defence Minister Defeated.

(By Pat Usher Canadian Press Staff Writer) LONDON, Feb. 9 (Cable)—Declaring Great Britain is substantially as good a food position as in 1914, Sir Thomas Inskip, minister for co-ordination of defence, today successfully defeated a substantial attack by the Labor opposition in the House of Commons on protection of the country's food supply in time of war.

The House turned back by 195 to 130 a Labor proposal that large stocks of food be stored in the country, which Sir Thomas termed "fantastic." A Conservative amendment to take steps to increase maintenance and distribution of food supplies in wartime was talked beyond the time limit.

ANSWERS CRITICS

Answering his critics, who suggested he was "by temperament" not a man for such a task, Sir Thomas declared suggestions that sufficient food for two years be kept on hand were ridiculous and would be "scarcely if possible, buy up supplies of food according to the needs of the situation. Large quantities of food, he said, should not be kept on hand in ports liable to attack.

"All the food in the world, if stored in this country, would not make us safe in the event of a surprise attack," he said. "We must defend ourselves from the air and keep the seas open," the Minister maintained.

Introducing the Labor Motion, H. Parker declared Sir Thomas had been in the Defence Ministry for two years and had done nothing to solve the problem.

"We believe some minister should be appointed to put together the whole thing and ensuring that there is co-ordination of activity," he said.

Plans for a distribution on a national basis in emergency should be prepared, he argued. Existing storage facilities should be expanded or new bomb-proof warehouses constructed.

He said that the Port of London was the mercy of raiders, Mr. Parker declared Britain should have at least six weeks' supply of food on hand to serve as an emergency reserve in case of sudden attack. Then stock sufficient for a long struggle should be gathered, he said.

Sir Thomas admitted that nearly 10 per cent of the storage accommodation at present, but countered: "Ten foot, ton and ship for ship, substantially we are as good as self-sufficient today to meet our requirements as in 1914."

Congress Approves Crop Control Plan

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—The administration's new crop control program won House approval by a two to one majority today and went to the United States Senate, where leaders said it would be considered tomorrow.

The legislation which the House accepted by a 233 to 133 bi-partisan vote was a revised draft which a Senate-House conference committee wrote for provision of bills in both chambers passed last December.

The new program, one of the problems the President called Congress to consider, is designed to level off the peaks and valleys in supplies of the nation's major crops—cotton, tobacco, rice, wheat and corn.

CARRAGHEEN MOSS COLLECTED—A sample of Carragheen moss, about which the provincial Department of Agriculture was seeking some information, was collected at Bay Fortune, P. E. I. last August and sent to a chemist in Montreal who submitted it for further analysis to a New York firm. The New York firm reported very favorably as to its quality. It was said, and requested quotations for the moss. The moss is being dried and baled. As there were no means of drying and baling the matter was left in abeyance. Large quantities of the moss had been noticed after heavy wind storms along the North Shore of Prince Edward Island, especially near East point, having been washed ashore after breaking a record for high water and rocks where it grew. When the moss first appeared on the shore it was green in color, but soon bleached to a cream color. The moss is taken and soaked in warm water for a few hours it would make a splendid jelly and may be used for thickening custards or puddings. It was said.

BAKED FILLETS—Take some fillets of white fish and sprinkle with pepper, salt, cayenne, and lemon juice. Put some filling in each; a variety of fillings can be used; for instance, stuffing of breadcrumbs, parsley, seasoning and dripping, or chopped mushrooms, or rice, cheese, and tomato well seasoned, or chopped shrimp or shredded onion. A particularly good filling is tinned asparagus tips. Roll up the filets and place on a buttered fireproof dish. Pour a little seasoned milk over, and put a small piece of butter on each. Cover with buttered paper and bake in a moderate oven until tender, which will be in about half an hour. The milk and liquid which comes from the fish should be thickened with a little corn starch and seasoned, and poured back.

Trans-Mediterranean Airliner Rams Breakwater, Eight Killed

(By The Associated Press) MARSEILLE, France, Feb. 9.—The bodies of eight victims were removed today from the wreckage of a trans-Mediterranean airliner which rammed the Marseille breakwater while taking off and exploded in one of France's most serious civilian air accidents.

The survivors who escaped from the wreckage of the Air France flying boat were brought to a Marseille hospital suffering shock and burns.

The plane wreckage was pulled to the surface and towed to a landing base for investigation by inspectors. It was considered likely for and mist-kept the pilot, from seeing the breakwater.

The accident occurred just as the airliner was taking off on her scheduled flight to Algiers, Corsica, on the Marseille-Tunis line. She hit the breakwater at about 60 miles an hour.

The dead were five passengers and three crew members, all French. Two other passengers and two of the crew escaped. Chief Pilot Pierre Burello, at the controls.

WASHINGTTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—A warning today that the $900,000 nickel export program would hasten another great war.

Leading the opposition to the 20 per cent nickel export program was President Roosevelt, former representative Jeannette Rankin, the first woman member of Congress, told the House of Representatives today.

Now legislative secretary of the national council for prevention of war, Miss Rankin said the program would "increase the need for combatant nations to get their supplies from Holland or develop substitutes like Germany in the Great War. In addition, it would be useless to prohibit nickel exports to Japan alone because the metal would land there eventually after a circuitous route.

Bridge To Open On St. Lawrence

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Automobile tourists will soon be able to drive from New York to Montreal by a new route linking this city with Canada.

Completion of the Thousand Islands bridge over the St. Lawrence between Clayton, N. Y., and Gananoque, Ont., will bring the Canadian border within 360 miles by road from New York, says William T. Field of Waterbury, N. Y., advisory engineer to the Thousand Islands Bridge Authority.

The bridge is expected to be opened to traffic Aug. 1 with ceremonies dedicating it to "100 years of peace and good-will along the border."
