vention site, the executive rejected Montreal and Winnipeg as possible meeting places, largely because they could not provide accommodations for the more than 1,000 delegates during the required period.

Mr. Bracken addressed the executive meeting, called following his announcement last Monday that age and ill-health require that he quit the leadership, and presumably explained the factors underlying his decision to retire to private life. A motion expressing "deep regret" at his decision was adopted.

The delegates to the meeting, representative of all Provinces, included John Diefenbaker (PC, Lake Centre), who has been mentioned prominently as a possible candidate for the leadership, and other leading Progressive Conservative members of Parliament.

Convention Agenda

The meeting adopted a convention agenda and decided that the total number of delegates should number approximately 1,320 supported by an additional 750 who would act as alternate delegates.

The delegates will include three for each of the 245 Federal constituencies, delegates-at-large from each Province, members of the Commons and the Senate and other legislative bodies, Privy Counsellors, and representatives of party youth associations and Progressive Conservative university clubs.

Party candidates defeated in the last elections will not be entitled to delegate status.

This will be the fourth Conservative National Convention in 20 years and the second in Ottawa in that period.

The late Viscount Bennett was chosen at Winnipeg in 1927, the late Dr. R.J. Manion was selected in Ottawa in 1938 and Mr. Bracken was selected in Winnipeg in 1942. Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen served as party leader in 1941-42 but received the post through a party caucus.

Under the agenda adopted today, the convention will get under way at 10:45 A.M., Thursday, Sept. 30, with a procession into the coliseum. There will be the Lord's Prayer and the singing of O Canada and God Save the King.

Will Preside

J.M. Macdonnell, national president and chairman at today's meeting will call the convention to order and it will move into high gear with the appointment of committees and addresses by Mr. Bracken and the Mayor of Ottawa.

The second day, Friday Oct. 1, will be devoted to discussion of reports of the various committees, including resolutions, policy and organization, until the 6 P.M. deadline is reached for the nomination in writing of candidates for the leadership.

The candidates will speak that evening and balloting will begin the following day, Saturday, Oct. 2, at 1:45 P.M. The new leader will give his acceptance speech at 4 P.M.

Berries By Plane To Sydney Market

The plane load of strawberries which landed in Sydney at about one o'clock this morning marked the first air shipment of fruit to that Maritime city from the Island. The strawberries are an consignment from the Mount Stewart Strawberry Growers' Exchange and were loaded aboard the plane at the local airport last night at ten o'clock.

Last Friday evening the weather ceiling closed in on the Boston airport which prevented the landing of a second load of berries consigned to the Boston market. The plane was enroute to Halifax and the fruit was sold on the Saturday market in that city.

There is a possibility of a plane load of berries being shipped to Newfoundland tonight. The sellers market for strawberries in the St. John's area has brought prices this season as high as 80 cents per box.

everyone for their gifts, after which all joined in singing "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow". The latter part of the evening was pleasantly spent with music and singing. WEED CONTROL EXPERT HERE—Mr. George Knowles, Ottawa, field husbandman specializing in weed control was a visitor to the Charlottetown Experimental Farm over the week-end. About 100 experimental plots are in use at the farm testing different chemical and concentrations in the control of weeds. Wild Mustard which is a problem to many farmers, is one of the easiest weeds to control, said Mr. Knowles. It may be killed completely in a grain field without any harm to the crop. The chemical used, is 2-4-D which may be sprayed with the standard potato sprayer, although this is not recommended as the chemical may not be completely removed from the machine with consequent damage to potatoes. Mr. Knowles suggested that special equipment costing about $200.00 be obtained and kept for this work. The Provincial Government is now paying half the cost of the chemical used in controlling Wild Mustard in grain fields, and the offer is gaining wide acceptance among the farmers. Mr. Knowles said that Western farmers have had wonderful success with the chemical.

what was a satisfactory majority. Commission Government, it said, had been totally repudiated in the first referendum and had "subsequently prejudiced its position as impartial arbiter through the intervention by two of its members as spokesmen for the confederation cause."

Consummation of the confederation before the negotiation of terms or understanding of financial and economic impact on Newfoundland people and industry, the League said, "is neither sound nor just and creates a source of bitter controversy in the future."

The independent Evening Telegram said editorially that the outstanding fact was that though the elections had been twice afforded the opportunity, they showed that they did not favor responsible government.

The newspaper added: "It [the Telegram] sees no purpose in re-iteration and the keeping of old sores open. The outcome represents the will of a majority of the people. To disregard the expressed wish of 77,295 would be to invite trouble. Acceptance of the verdict will avoid dissension and division."

On the other hand the responsible government Daily News said "it would probably be a wise gesture on the part of the Canadian Government to prefer that a decision to enter union should come from a parliamentary majority in this island, since that would dispose of the important argument that terms negotiated after commitment can never be satisfactory."

Chesley A. Crosbie, leader of the party standing for economic union with the United States, admitted that economic union had been superseded by the issue at hand.

"We are bound to have confederation eventually but our own government should negotiate any terms and get a better deal," he said.

He added that if Canada accepted Newfoundland into confederation now there might be trouble in St. John's.

Dr. Shaw To Head Health Survey Here

The Provincial Government has appointed Dr. Harold Shaw, Provincial pathologist, chairman of the Provincial Health Survey committee, Premier J. Walter Jones informed the Guardian yesterday.

The Premier said the reason for the setting up of the new organization was to enable the Province to take advantage of the national health program now being promoted by the Dominion Government. The cost of the health survey to the Provincial Government will be $15,000; the remainder will be paid by the Dominion.

As soon as the survey has been completed and approved, the Dominion Government will grant to the Province: $33,000 for public health; $47,000 for tuberculosis; $53,000 for mental health; $7,000 for venereal disease; $7,000 for crippled children; $26,000 for cancer; $37,000 for hospital construction; and $7,000 for professional training.

The committee to serve under Dr. Shaw will comprise two physicians to be chosen by the Provincial Medical Association; and four laymen and one nurse who have already been appointed. The laymen are Mr. Justice G. J. Tweed; Henry Wedge, Summerside; Melvin J. McQuaid, Souris; and Dr. J. C. Murphy, Charlottetown. The nurse is Miss Dorothy Cox, R.N.

PILOT KILLED

pilots call on when fog suddenly rolls in from the sea. They slide their ship through Grande Greve, a gap in the cliffs three quarters of a mile wide.

Mills had done it often before. Now he had to do it again, just the same little trick once more, and the fog would be lifted.

But somehow this time the opening to Grande Greve was missed.

Suddenly before him through the swirl of fog Mills saw the cliff. He gave his ship everything; the roar of the motors rose in a screaming crescendo. The plane zoomed sharply, but not enough.

Then the crash and explosion. Trees were sheared off as the flaming wreckage cut a 200-yard swath through the bush.

centration of population. Montreal, he said was not as suitable as Canada's capital, and Winnipeg was west of no less than 185 constituencies in Eastern Canada.

Today's meeting of the Progressive Conservative national executive confined its efforts to choice of Ottawa as their "Convention City", and fixing the date of the gathering as September 30, October 1 and 2. No specific mention of the party leadership was made in favor either of Ontario Premier George Drew or John Diefenbaker, firebrand of the party in House of Commons debates, and member for Lake Centre, Saskatchewan.

Likely Contenders

Mr. Drew was not in Ottawa, and while Mr. Diefenbaker was at the meeting he declined to enter into any discussion of party leadership.

Other possible candidates for the leadership left vacant by Mr. Bracken's resignation are Gordon Graydon, M. P. for Peel, Ont.; Howard Green, M. P. for Vancouver South; Donald Fleming M. P. for Toronto; and Rupert Ramsay of Saskatchewan.

Criticises Opposition

At one of these private sessions attended by ranking officers of the party, Mr. Holman, The Guardian learned, was outspoken in his criticism of the Progressive Conservative opposition at the last session of Parliament. Speaking for Prince Edward Island Progressive Conservative supporters he charged that there had been altogether "too much unnecessary absenteeism on the part of party members from the province of Ontario. This absenteeism, he contended had lost the Progressive Conservative Opposition opportunity to defeat the Government on the floor of the House on at least three occasions between January and June 30. The Prince Edward Island delegate said he would call on chief Progressive Conservative whip Col. A. C. Casselman to enforce more rigid discipline with respect to Ontario members.

C.W.L. Sponsors Retreat At Notre Dame Academy

The annual retreat for women sponsored by the Provincial Council of the Catholic Women's League was held in Notre Dame Academy, July 23-24-25. The formal opening was held on Friday evening at seven o'clock when Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was given in the lovely chapel of the Academy, by Reverend Paul Fisher, C.S.S.R., who conducted the retreat.

Following benediction, Father Fisher spoke to the retreatants on the value of the retreat, as a means to personal sanctification. In withdrawing from the interests and cares of everyday life, in peaceful thinking, helped by prayer would be found the most efficacious means to this end.

During the period of retreat, three conferences were given daily by the retreat master, who in simple, appealing language reached the hearts of his listeners impressing on them the value of prayer as a living part of their daily lives. It was shown that the great virtues of the spiritual life, Faith, Hope and Charity, regularly need the reviving influence of a retreat.

With faith and hope, the failures of the past do not seem such a cause of discouragement, nor do the sufferings and difficulties of the present, present such insurmountable obstacles. And the retreat will provide the surest way of advancing in charity, which the Divine Master has taught, is the commandment in which all others is contained.

At the closing conference, Father Fisher commended the retreatants for the zeal with which they had carried out the exercises of the retreat. He impressed upon them the need of ever keeping in mind and putting into practice in their daily lives, the good resolutions formed during this period of meditation and prayer.

The Papsal Blessing was then imparted to the retreatants, and the solemn closing of the retreat was held Sunday evening at 7:30 when Benediction was given by Reverend Father Fisher. The girls choir of the Academy rendered lovely hymns during the morning and evening services in the chapel.

At the informal reception which followed the closing, the gratitude and appreciation of the retreatants (who numbered forty-two), was expressed to the Retreat-Master, for the spiritual aid he had given them, through his inspiring counsel.

To the Reverend Mother Superior and sisters of the Academy, sincere thanks for cordial hospitality and kindly thought for the comfort of all, was expressed by Mrs. D.F. McNeill on behalf of the ladies who attended.

The retreat was organized by the C.W.L. provincial convenor, Mrs. W.J. Sullivan and her committee.

Flying Saucer Is Back Again

ATLANTA, July 26—(AP)—The flying saucer—or something like that—back again.

Reports from widely-separated sections of the country have described "it" during the week-end as:

1. A wingless craft, spurring flame "like a Buck Rogers rocket ship."
2. An aluminum-covered balloon.
3. An unusually-bright light.
4. A ball of fire.
5. A red and blue flame that burst in mid-air.
6. A flash of cherry-red fire.
7. A meteor.

"It" first was reported by two Eastern Airlines pilots, each a fighter pilot during the war, who said they encountered a wingless mystery plane, spurring fire, near Montgomery, Ala.

Clarence L. McKelvie of Columbus, Ohio, lent credence to the pilots' report by declaring he had seen "a flash of cherry-red fire" while a passenger on the plane.

Then an Atlanta hunter stalking game in North Georgia reported "an unusually-bright light" in a lighted room "at about the same time the Eastern Airlines pilots said they saw 'it' over Alabama."

"It" was an aluminum-covered balloon to observers at Yakima, Wash., where the police station switchboard was jammed with excited calls and inquiries.

It was this way last year when someone said he had seen a flying saucer whizzing around.

Chairman Of U.E. Fund For Britain Speaks At Rotary

Sir Ellsworth Flavell, Bart., chairman of the United Emergency Fund for Britain, addressed Rotarians at their weekly luncheon yesterday.

The origin of the fund was the spontaneous inquiry of the average citizen when approached by canvassers for other worthy relief projects such as Relief for Greece, relief for Europe, relief for China or other campaigns—"Why don't you do something for Britain?" "Finally we are getting around to doing just that," said Sir Ellsworth. "Not that we have never done anything or given anything in the past, for thousands of individuals and organizations have been sending relief of all kinds, but this is the first time it is to be done on a national scale."

"During the years 1939-43 Canadians have sent over $100,000,000 to Great Britain, yet this has been purely voluntary with no organization responsible to see that there was no needy group in Britain missed."

The U.E.F. for Britain is an organization fully equipped to handle both the collection and distribution of gifts. A powerful Board of Directors drawn from the leading citizens of Canada will see that the fund is handled in accordance with the general wishes of Canadians and expended in a business like manner to the satisfaction of the people of Great Britain. The drive is non-political having been approved by all parties, and is non-denominational. Sir Ellsworth said offices will be maintained in Ottawa, Toronto, and London, England.

Every effort will be made to obtain the cooperation of existing organizations and encourage their further development. Individuals too will be encouraged to send parcels either direct or through the U.E.F. organization.

The Postage Problem

One item of substantial assistance alone is in the matter of postage, said the speaker. For years there have been heard complaints from all parts of the Dominion as to the high cost of mailing parcels to Britain. The individual protests have not been heeded, but the United Emergency Relief Directors are confident that the Government will give consideration to the reduction of postage when it is empowered to speak for the majority of Canadians. This reduction of postage will be effective whether the donor makes his contribution through the U.E.F. or mails his parcel direct to friends or relatives.

Another welcome result of the new organization, said Sir Ellsworth, is that any check payable to the U.E.F. is deductible from taxable income. The individual or group making the donation is not lost sight of, and reports from Britain will be available to them. Notes sent to individuals will be delivered with the gifts. The advantage of sending relief through the U.E.F. rather than as an individual is that the donor can take advantage of the huge purchasing power of the group so that his contribution will actually be greater.

Looking to the future, the speaker said that when the emergency is over, the organization will be a public link between the peoples, and will be a useful channel of information not subject to the red tape of official communications.

Rotarian Neil MacLean was chairman yesterday. The following guests were present: Rotarians Rev. E. Melville Aitken, Hamilton, Ont.; Russell R. MacLean, New Glasgow, N.S.; J.S. Dunlop, Guelph, Ont.; Allan Stewart, Owen Sound, Ont.; and Norman Avar, Amherst. Other guests included Dr. John Morton, Major D.L. Matheson, K.C., M.L.A., Capt. Charles Fwick, Messrs. Thomas DeBoles, George Knowles, Ottawa, and Ed Lavitt, Rockville, Conn.

Centennial Week At Fredericton

FREDERICTON, July 26—(C.P.)—After an invocation service last night and today's military phase in the form of a mock assault, the centennial week program in New Brunswick's Capital City was officially inaugurated this afternoon when thousands of spectators heard greetings from dignitaries in a ceremony at city hall.

"During the last few years this city has enjoyed a period of expansion as well as industrial development which gives promise of a future even greater than the records of the past," said Lieutenant-Governor D. L. MacLaren.

Veterans Affairs Minister Gregg, representing the Federal Government, "forecast with confidence that during the next hundred years, to an increasing extent the city will make itself felt in enhancing the spirit of our whole province."

Premier McNair commented that "one hundred years of corporate growth finds Fredericton on the march."

Firemen, in Fredericton for a convention, and military personnel from all sections of the Maritimes were among the thousands of residents and visitors who attended the ceremony.

Islanders Do Well At Shediac Regatta

The motor launch "Sgtheanich" owned by Mr. K. M. Martin, arrived in port Sunday evening from Shediac, with two sailboats in tow, the Zenith, owned by Mac Irwin and the "Four Bells" owned by Avon Andrew. On board the launch along with Mr. Martin were Fred Small, Mac Irwin, J. L. Curran, Don Martin and Avon Andrew.

The annual regatta of the Northumberland Straits Yacht Racing Association held at Shediac this year was a very successful meet, boats from Summerside, Picton, St. John, along with the Shediac boats competing. The Island boats gave a good account of themselves, both "Zenith" and "Four Bells" taking first place in their respective classes against stiff competition, both Summerside boats, the "J. Mac", Eric MacKay, and the "Rea Rio", Douglas Ramsay, taking home the silverware.

The regatta was brought to a close with a banquet and dance. At the banquet a well-deserved compliment was paid to Mac Irwin as a designer and builder of boats. Mac has built many boats and taught many lads to sail them, and it is largely due to him that interest in boat racing has been sustained over the years. A number of Summerside and Charlottetown enthusiasts also attended the regatta.

It may be of interest to recall that the "Four Bells" a snipe model, was the first of the type to be built in Charlottetown. The Kirk Sea Scout Rovers under the direction of "Skipper" Martin undertook the job in the basement of the Kirk and made a complete success of it. In addition to The Skipper, Avon Andrew was among the seventeen Rovers who participated in its construction.
