

THE CENTRAL GUARDIAN

Wherever You Meet Difficulty in the Dark

THE uses for an Eveready Flashlight are innumerable. One of the times you will most appreciate its handiness is when backing a car on a narrow road after dark, or in fixing a tire, or locating engine troubles.

For the motorist the Eveready Spotlight is the most suitable style. It focuses; gives a 300-ft. beam or a wide circle of light for illuminating objects near at hand. A twist of the end cap makes the change.

—and remember to insist upon Eveready Batteries. They give brighter lights and last longer. The new Eveready Unit Cells make it more convenient to keep refills on hand. Made in two sizes only—one or other fits every tubular flashlight.

RETURNS FROM PORT ARTHUR.—Rev. J. Dugall MacKenzie has returned from Port Arthur, Ont., where he was a Commissioner to the General Assembly. He visited his old home, Inverness, Que., not far from Montreal, and was accompanied to the island by his sister, Mrs. Wm. H. Murdoch and daughter, Miss Alma, who will spend a month's vacation in this province. Mr. MacKenzie reports crops looking splendid around Montreal and all over the route of travel through Ontario to Port Arthur. But in the northern portions of New Brunswick and Quebec everything is parched for lack of rain.

REMEMBRANCE A FINE PICTURE Irresistible strong in its appeal and unlike anything heretofore presented on the screen is the Goldwyn production of "Remembrance," written and directed by Rupert Hughes and showing for the last time to-day at the Prince Edward theatre. For the first time in the annals of motion pictures the father of a family has been made the principal character in a story of such depth and sincerity and truth to life that it cannot leave the spectator unmoved. What Mr. Hughes did for the mother in "The Old Nest" he has done for the father in "Remembrance," and the result is the most genuinely worth while picture that has come to the Prince Edward

Shine the Surface and You Save the Shoe

Anyone can understand that a well polished shoe is like a well painted house. Water, mud, dust, etc., instead of being ground into the leather is kept out by the polish. Thus the shoe is preserved and its life materially lengthened. Use BLACK-O for Black, Tan-O for tan and WHITE-O for White. They are excellent polishers. Substitutes will not give you the same satisfaction.

theatre in many months. We are introduced to an extravagant family—mother, sons, daughters, all of them spending money recklessly in order to maintain their social position and never thinking of the poor, over-worked head of the household who must pass his days and a large part of his nights slaving to pay the bills. Then he breaks down under the strain. It is a serious illness that threatens to result in his death and for the first time the selfish family realizes what it has done. At the close of the picture one is made to understand that at last Dad is going to have his innings. The story is superbly presented and acted, with Calude Gillinger in the role of the father a character that he portrays with perfect sympathy. It is the kind of a performance that reaches straight to the heart and leaves one better for having seen the picture.

IN MEMORIAM

JAMES R. WALSH.

The death occurred at Little River on June 13, of James Reginald Walsh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Walsh. Deceased had been in failing health for the past year and although not seriously ill yet his life was gradually wearing away. He died at the early age of nineteen years and claimed him for his own, Jimmie, as he was familiarly known, was of a kind and cheerful disposition which won for him many warm friends, who will regret to learn of his early demise. He leaves to mourn besides his parents, two sisters, Margaret and Elizabeth at home, also one half-brother, Mr. Jack Walsh, and one half-sister, Mrs. T. J. O'Connor, both of Malden, Mass.
