Dillon's success will be an inspiration to all our juveniles to hitch their chariots to a star (as it were), and play hockey, with the "big time" in view. If they go the "straight and narrow" way—keep clear of tobacco and spirituous liquors and pay attention to the advice of their hockey coaches, they have a good chance to make the grade. It depends a lot on the "will to win"—a case of "mind over matter". It is possible to make the physical conform to the mental ambitions to a marked degree.—K.
