Sermon on The Ministry of Angels

(By Rev. Dr. Lowry) Preaching in the Nine Mile Creek Church on Sabbath morning last, from the words of Genesis 32:1, "And Jacob went on his way, and the Angels of God met him." Rev. J. W. S. Lowry said that the Bible narrative of Jacob and Esau was replete with solemn lessons for God's people in the journey of life. It teaches us, that, in various events of life, God intervenes and sends messages of help and direction. It has surely been the experience of God's people, that his angel messengers meet with them in the pathway of this pilgrimage. It was a time of great moment in the life of the patriarch Jacob, when he had this gracious experience of the angels of God meeting him. Returning to his home-land with his family, he was to meet with his brother Esau from whom he had been estranged, and the meeting might be dangerous. But before that uncertain interview he had a great experience for "the angels of God met him." These celestial visitants brought him good cheer, and comfort, and blessing. The term "Angel" means "Messenger," and they brought God's message of comfort to him in a time of perplexity and fear. Nor was this the first time that Jacob had a vision of angels. For when going away from his home, a weary sorrowful traveller, with a stone for his pillow, he had seen a ladder reaching up into heaven, and "the angels of God ascending and descending upon it." Later on, at the Brook Jabbon, he wrestled with the Angel, and received a blessing, and the change of his name from Jacob to Israel. And when dying he spoke of "the angel that redeemed me from all evil." Happy man of God, who, in the varied and trying experiences of life, has met with the angels of God. And down even to this present time, God's children who look up and trust, surely meet also with angel messengers sent from heaven. If we have faith, we too, shall meet with the angels of God, and we shall receive guidance and help from the Lord of glory, whose messengers they are to us. Brown, of Haddington, says, "The angels of God, the common name given to those spiritual and intelligent beings, by whom God partly executed his providential work, and who are most ready and active in his service." God assures us, by his servant Moses, that the angels host of heaven were created at the beginning of all things, with eminent wisdom and purity, but evidently capable of change. Their number is very great. The Psalmist says, "The chariots of God are twenty thousand, even thousands of angels." And Jesus declared in his garden agony, "Thinkest thou that I cannot now pray to my Father, and he shall presently give me more than twelve legions of angels." And the apostle speaks of God's people being created "to an innumerable company of angels." The elect angels "who kept their first estate," are "sent forth to minister for them who shall be heirs of salvation," and to transport the souls of the redeemed to their heavenly home at last. Angels appeared to Abraham, and did eat and drink with him in his tent, and the angels smote the first

Canker Paint For Apple Trees

Owing to the fact that the feeding of the apple tree pest, the woolly aphis causes numerous cankers in many instances upon tender varieties of the trees, control of the insect is made much more difficult. For heavy infestations on twigs and water sprouts early in the season, the use of summer sprays will give into which the sprays cannot reach continue to afford a ready source of re-infestation. By the use of a suitable canker and wound paint, says the pamphlet on the woolly aphis of the apple, issued by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, it has proven possible to control completely the aphids in pruning wounds and cankers with one painting only made in late May or June, but in any event not later than mid-July. The canker paint is made up as follows: Castor machine oil (heavy grade), 1 quart; Water, 3 quarts; Nicotine Sulphate (40 per cent.), 8 table-spoons or 4 fluid ounces; Wheat flour (emulsifier), 1-2 lb. Mix the flour with boiling water and stir well for a few minutes to form a smooth paste. Pour in the nicotine sulphate and again stir, and add the oil and shake the mixture thoroughly until a creamy smooth emulsion is formed. The canker emulsion is not so stable. This canker paint should be used within a week or so after preparation. Cankered trees should have all dead and rough bark scraped off in the spring and all root suckers cut at the same time. Thorough painting of all cankers and pruning wounds that can be reached from the ground and by climbing into the tree is sufficient to give good control for the whole season.

John Cabot Statue Unveiled in Montreal

MONTREAL, May 26—(CP)—Many Montrealeers took advantage of yesterday's fine weather to see for the first time the city's newest statue, a bronze figure of John Cabot, distinguished Italian navigator who discovered Newfoundland while in the service of King Henry VII of England. The monument, the work of Guido Casini of Montreal, was presented officially to the city Sunday by Commandatore G. H. Catelli, Dean of Montreal's Italian colony, in the presence of the Italian Consul at Ottawa and representatives of the Dominion, Provincial and City governments. It stands in Atwater Park. In presenting the statue Commandatore Catelli said it was a gift of Italians in Canada who wished to perpetuate the spirit of cordiality that has existed between old Italy and New Canada. Mayor Camillien Houde of Montreal accepted the gift for the city. Dr. Clarence Webster, Shediac, N. B., a member of the Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada, announced at the ceremony that a more recent Italian navigator would be honored. He was determined, he said, to have a monument erected where Gen. Italo Balbo first landed in Canada with his flyers after their epochal mass flight across the Atlantic. Canadian macaroni imported into the British Isles has become so popular that this Canadian export has reached to within measurable distance of the big supplies from France and Italy.
