TROJANS LOSE OPENING GAME HOOP SERIES

Montreal Team Takes 13 Point Lead Into Second Game Monday

(By John Marsters Canadian Press Staff Writer) MONTREAL, April 12.—A series of powerful thrusts combined with effective rearguard action tonight gave Notre Dame de Grace Community Association of Montreal a 45-32 victory over Saint John Trojans in the first game of the Eastern Canada senior basketball semi-final.

Wearied by their long train journey from the New Brunswick centre, the Trojans only flashed their real form at sporadic intervals—mainly in the second half.

Notre Dame de Grace snapped into action from the first toss-up on which they tallied a basket. With hardly a pause they forged into the lead at the start and were never headed. At the half-time mark the Montrealers led by a 21-9 margin and increased it by one point in the second half despite the better showing of the Maritime champions.

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) HALIFAX, April 12.—Decision to give the three western branches of Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia a grant of $800 in addition to the regular $200 grant given to all branches this year was reserved by the finance committee of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association today.

Because the original grant would be used to defray costs of an intermediate championship series between the three provinces, a series not carried on by any other branches in the Association. The Western branches asked for an additional grant of the same amount to foster junior hockey in their districts.

Defence Pair Also Under Doctor's Care — Wolves Jubilant In Win.

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) HALIFAX, April 12.—No less a personage than Premier Gus L. Macdonald of Nova Scotia has proven himself a harbinger of good fortune for Halifax's cocky Wolverines.

"Everytime he comes in here between periods we go out and win the game," Reg Shields, who patrols right wing lanes for Wolverines, declared tonight at the end of the second period when Halifax had piled up a 5-1 lead.

"What a game," he exclaimed with less dignity than he exhibits in the Provincial Legislature. "There isn't a doubt in my mind about Halifax taking the Allan Cup now. The team is in splendid condition."

By the end of the game, however, the team had dropped a good deal of its condition. No less than three players, Ernie Mosher, Frank Lavigne and Frank Graham were consigned to hospital.

Will Boost Tariff On Steel, Iron Products

(By Guardian's Special Wire) LONDON, April 12.—The House of Commons approved a tariff boost today on steel and iron products from 13 to 20 per cent.

Walter Rumlmen, President of the Board of Trade, urged the increase on grounds that steel and iron imports to the United Kingdom had increased 42 per cent over the 1933-34 average.

Opposition spokesmen declared that in raising the tariff, Britain would alienate certain countries, notably Belgium, which are good clients for her exports.

Judging by the comments of the Montreal papers and the fact that the Royals eliminated Toronto All Stars, we must begin to take our Abbies seriously.

1. In the case of a player whose parents and family change their address.

2. If a player graduates from university or college and takes employment in another city or town.

ON THE SIDELINES

(By Pat Power)

TAKING UP THE torch handed them by the Moncton Hawks, Halifax Wolverines last night showed a howling mob of fans that the trust placed in them was in good hands as they stampeded a classy Montreal Royals squad and at the same time earned the praise of their opponents on the brilliant display of hockey they put forth to catapult themselves into the finals with Port Arthur Bearcats for the highest honor, Canadian amateur hockey—possession of the Allan Cup.

TODAY THE WOLVES are the toast of not only Nova Scotia fans but of every hockey lover in these Maritime Provinces. And well they might be. In eliminating the Royals, a team that was picked to make short work of them after their victory over the Toronto All-Stars, the Maritimers proved conclusively that they are worthy successors to the now disbanded Hawks. Last night they had everything that goes to make up a championship squad. Speed galore, smooth attacks and rugged defensive measures proved too much for their opponents to overcome and the outcome was never in doubt after they had punched home the first goal. Royals however never gave up trying and by their plucky display they earned the plaudits of the packed house that witnessed the game.

WINNING THEIR way to the finals Wolves gave a wonderful display of courage in overcoming hard odds. Out of competition for nearly two months it was feared that they would fall to hit their real stride in such a short series and in view of the manner in which they overcame this obstacle makes their showing all the more remarkable. The end of the trail is nearing now however and although Red Stuart's team still faces a mighty foe in the persons of the Port Arthur Bearcats, the feeling in Maritime circles is that the toughest barrier has been hurdled and that for the third year in succession the Allan Cup will reside in a Maritime home.

VICTORY HOWEVER proved costly to the Halifaxians with the announcement that Ernie Mosher, their captain, is out for the balance of the season. Wolves will feel the loss of their cagey centre player keenly. Mosher is one of the real veterans of Maritime hockey wars, noted for his hockey brains and very often in the Wolves' rise to their new laurels it has been this same player who either made the winning play or punched home the winning counter.

BASKETBALL PLAYOFFS in the two city gymnasiums are certainly providing the hoop fans with the utmost in close, thrilling struggles. Rarely in the packed gyms so far have the winners been able to garner more than a four or five point advantage and in most cases the games are decided in the closing seconds.

THIS IS WELL borne out in the recent semi-final series at the Y between the Senior Y and P. W. C. After the college squad had taken the opener by virtue of a field goal in the last twenty seconds of play the Seniors came back to take the second game, necessitating a third encounter, winning the tilt by a solitary point, the result of a free throw awarded just as the regulation time was at an end.

THE VICTORY SENT the Y into the finals with the Hi-Y team and although the latter team were big favorites in the first game they found unexpected opposition, winning 34-36, a 34-all deadlock being broken in the closing seconds, in fact the successful try for a basket was in the air as the timer's whistle closed proceedings. The second game of this series takes place tonight and in view of the Seniors' showing in the opener the Grads are considered no better than an even choice to come out on top. It should be another real battle if the Y team sticks to the style of play they adopted in the first setto.

PLAYOFFS ARE by no means the only ones that are producing close battles. Falcons and Navy are engaged in a bitter best out of five series for the Holy Name Club title and again the Y's are being decided in the last few minutes of play.

NAVY CAPTURED the first two games to take a big edge and were favored to complete their conquest last night for the third straight year. Falcons however put themselves back in the running with a 33-32 win, a foul shot in the last 30 seconds giving them their edge. Games could not be much closer than these and bears out the fact strongly that City basketball teams are very evenly matched.

VETERAN BOXER DIES

(By Paul Zimmermann) (Associated Press Sports Writer)

LOS ANGELES, April 12.—The game heart of fireman Jim Flynn that carried him through more than 100 b-listing ring battles, including a knockout victory over Jack Dempsey, stopped beating today.

The 55 year old fireman, fighter, christened Andrew Charitlone at Hoboken, N. J., Dec. 24, 1879, breathed his last at the city receiving hospital.

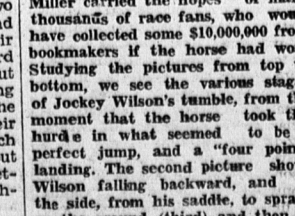

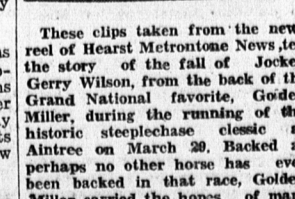

A heart attack struck him down last night, but true to the tradition he helped mold in the ring from 1901 to 1923, he refused to quit. An hour before he died, Fireman Jim smiled weakly and gasped:

"I'm groggy, but I'm not out. You won't have to throw in the towel."

But, Flynn was mistaken as he was all too often in the declining years of a career that took him into the fistic marts against Tommy Burns, the Ontario boy who wore the heavyweight crown, Jack Johnson, Billy Papke, Sam Langford, Gunboat Smith, Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, Luther McCarty and many others.

Flynn already was on the way down when he met Jack Dempsey at Salt Lake City in 1917. Two years later Jack was to become world's champion and one of the greatest. Flynn always said he was lucky in stopping the Manassa Mauler in the first round.

DISPUTED FALL

These clips taken from the new reel of Hearst Metronome News tell the story of the fall of Jockey Gerry Wilson, from the back of the Grand National favorite, Golden Miller, during the running of the historic steeplechase classic at Aintree on March 29. Backed as perhaps no other horse has ever been backed in that race, Golden Miller carried the hopes of many thousands of race fans, who were have collected some $10,000,000 from bookmakers if the horse had won. Studying the pictures from top to bottom, we see the various stages of Jockey Wilson's tumble, from the moment that the horse took the hurdle in what seemed to be a perfect jump, and a "four point" landing. The second picture shows Wilson falling backward, and to the side, from his saddle, to sprawl on the ground (third) and then to creep on hands and knees, off the course. Golden Miller, riding (extreme right), continued rambly with the field.
