CANADIAN WAR LOAN SUBSCRIBED TWICE OVER

OTTAWA, Nov. 30.—Hon. W. T. White issued the following statement today:—"The war loan subscription lists have closed. While it is impossible to make an accurate statement until the returns are complete, the Minister of Finance is able to announce that the total subscription will considerably exceed one hundred million dollars, that is to say, the loan has been subscribed more than twice over. The number of individual applications will reach at least twenty five thousand and probably more. All sections of Canada have participated and the issue has been popular in the truest and widest sense of the term. A noteworthy feature has been the remarkable number of small subscriptions. As soon as full returns have been received and particulars tabulated the government will be in a position to consider the question of allotment."

CHIRKERS PEACE FEEL BROKE UP

LONDON, Nov. 30.—Canadian and Australian soldiers, with a sprinkling of British Territorials, this evening took charge of Memorial Hall, when the "Union of Democratic Control," an organization which is opposed to conscription and favours peace, was advertised to hold a meeting, and were ceremoniously thrown the speaker from the platform and turned a gathering into a recruiting meeting.

The soldiers succeeded in gaining admission with tickets other than those circulated to the members of the Union, and forming themselves at the top of the staircase, leading to the great hall and galleries, forcibly too, possession of the building.

Bombs containing "asphyxiating gases" were launched, and then the soldiers took the platform by storm. Several of the speakers, including E. D. Morel, the leader of the Union, sought refuge in an ante-room, as did the women who were distributing leaflets. The promoters of the meeting were thrown from the platform with the furniture, to which they clung.

The soldiers took the places of the speakers, and passed a resolution demanding that the activities of the Union should be stopped, and declaring that the only terms of peace acceptable to the Allies were those which should be dictated after their complete defeat of Germany.

DO THIS FIRST—YOU!

You know, and every physician knows, that when any sickness has passed, whether it be throat trouble, organic disturbances, contagious diseases, or even a severe cold, a relapse is feared, because sickness robs the system of Nature's resistance and leaves it subject to lingering germs. Drugs never build up a worn-out body—only food can do that, and the first thing to take after any sickness is the concentrated, blood-making oil-food in Scott's Emulsion, which feeds the tissues, benefits the blood and strengthens both lungs and throat. Physicians prescribe Scott's Emulsion after sickness. Nurses everywhere advocate it. Scott's is pure medicinal food, without injurious drugs.

AUSTRO-CERMANS THREATEN GREECE

LONDON, Dec. 1.—Telegraphing from Athens, the Morning Post's correspondent says:—"The Neoh Assy, the organ of former Premier Gounaris, publishes a statement which, it says, it obtained from a diplomatic source, that Germany and Austria are preparing to warn Greece that if the demands of the Entente Allies are accepted and Saloniki is made the base of their military operations, the Central Powers will no longer regard Greek territory as that of a friendly state."

KAISER AND EMPEROR

BERLIN, Nov. 30.—The Emperor William arrived in Vienna today and paid a personal visit to the Austro-Hungarian monarch, Emperor Francis Joseph, at Schoenbrunn Castle. The German Emperor was received at the railroad station, says the Overseas News Agency, by Archduke Charles Francis, the heir to the throne, and Archduke Franz Salvator and Archduke Charles Stephen. The News Agency adds that a large crowd gathered to greet the German Emperor and cheered with indescribable enthusiasm and joy. The entire city of Vienna had been decorated with bunting for the occasion.

The meeting between the Emperor and the Kaiser, which took place in the outbreak of the war, took place in Schoenbrunn Castle, and was a most cordial one. The monarchs could hardly master their emotions. LONDON, Nov. 30.—A despatch to Reuters' Telegram Company from Amsterdam gives an account of a speech which says that Emperor William, who arrived in the Austrian capital at eleven o'clock, had luncheon with Emperor Francis Joseph and Archduke Charles Francis at Schoenbrunn Castle. Afterwards Emperor William received Baron Hurlan, the Foreign Minister, and Count Thun, the Hungarian premier, and then went with Archduke Charles Francis to the German Embassy.

A later despatch received by Reuters from Amsterdam said that the Emperor left Vienna during the course of the evening after having received Dr. Von Koerber, the Finance Minister, and Mayor Weiskirchner.

GOOD GAIN IN CUSTOMS REVENUE

OTTAWA, Dec. 1.—A very substantial increase in Customs revenue for the month of November, ended yesterday, was accounted by the Hon. D. Reid, Minister of Customs. The revenue for November was $9,18,000 compared with $5,160,000 for the corresponding month of 1914, being an increase of $4,020,000.

For the eight months of the present fiscal year the customs revenue was $62,288,000, as against $53,910,000 for the eight months of 1914, or an increase of $8,377,000.

This is considered very encouraging in view of the economic situation caused by the present war. Up to date the Canadian Government has advanced a total of $57,720,000 in temporary advances to the Imperial Government to pay for orders placed by the shell committee. These advances have been from time to time repaid by the Imperial treasury.

VEGETABLE SEED SITUATION

The following extract of an article from a newspaper of Gothenburg, Sweden, will be of interest to growers of vegetable seeds. The article refers to the Board of Directors of the Agricultural College of Alnarp, Sweden, asking for a Government grant for the encouragement of vegetable seed growing.

"The Board points out that the war has most clearly emphasized the importance, for the country, of home production of vegetable seed. Owing to the most important vegetable seed producing countries having prohibited the export of such seed, the prices of a great number of important vegetable seeds have risen enormously. And, still worse, some seeds can hardly be obtained at any price. It is reported, from a well informed source, that vegetable seed growing in the countries engaged in the war has been largely neglected during the past summer and that for this reason further advances in prices can be expected. Reports from Germany state that the supply of seed of spinach, carrots, most kinds of cabbage, onions, cucumbers and peas is utterly small. Furthermore, Germany has prohibited the export of vegetable seeds to the end of the war. There is therefore every reason to fear that we have to face the possibility of a very serious shortage of certain vegetable seeds."

BRITAIN'S LOSSES TO DATE 600,000 MEN

LONDON, Dec. 1.—British casualty lists published during November total 1,232 officers and 45,184 non-commissioned officers and men in all fields of war, bringing the total since the beginning of the war up to approximately 600,000.

Heavy as were the losses in killed, wounded and missing for the present month they were much lighter than in October, when the names of 3,110 officers and 71,187 non-commissioned officers and men were included in the lists.

An statement issued in London, October 29, gave the British casualties from the beginning of the war to October 3 as 493,284. The total amount of officers in that period was 21,293, and among other ranks 472,001.

HER HAPPY TASK

Several members of a women's club were chatting with a little daughter of their hostess.

"I suppose you are a great help to your mamma?" said one.

"Oh, yes," replied the little miss, "I turn to count the spoons after the company is gone."

The Kiel Canal, in which the German Fleet is enjoying incalculable success, is one of the Kaiser's pet possessions. Some time ago the canal was reconstructed in order that battleships could safely manoeuvre in its safe precincts.

Only a few months ago the Kaiser's yacht broke a ribbon band at Holtenau, the gateway to Kiel Harbor, a little ceremony which announced the reopening of the canal in its new guise.

The sixty miles of the waterway had been deepened and in parts enlarged, so that the German Fleet could use it as a short cut between the Baltic and the North Sea. As a connection between these two stretches of water, the Kiel Canal has its greatest value. It enables the German Fleet to be assembled in either the North Sea or the Baltic, and, via the Kiel Canal, come to each other's aid should either wing be attacked.

Without this strip of water between the two seas the German Fleet could not combine without travelling many miles through the straits of the North Denmark.

Ten million pounds were spent by Germany in reconstructing the Kiel Canal. One of the difficulties which confronted the engineers was the building of bridges over the canal sufficiently high to clear the masts of the warships passing beneath.

The sluices of the Canal at Holtenau are the largest in the world, being over a thousand feet in length and 148 feet wide.

JOINTS Quit Aching Soreness beats it away

NO MORE STIFFNESS, PAIN OR MISERY IN YOUR BACK OR SIDE OR LIMBS!

Wonderful "Nerviline" is the Remedy.

A marvelous pain reliever. Not an ordinary liniment—just a potent five times more powerful, more penetrating, more pain-subduing than any thick, oily or ammonia liniment. Nervine only gets up the pain and stiffness in chronic rheumatic joints, gives quick relief to those throbbing pains, and never burns or even stings the skin.

"Rheumatism kept my joints swollen and sore for ten years. My right knee joint was often too painful to allow me to walk. In this crippled tortured condition I found Nerviline a blessing. Its warm, soothing action brought relief I had given up hoping for. I rubbed on quantities of Nerviline and improved steadily. I also took Ferrazine at mealtime in order to purify and enrich my blood. I am today well and can recommend my treatment most conscientiously.

(Signed) C. PARKS, Princes Albert.

Not an ache or pain in the muscles or joints that Nerviline won't cure. It's wonderful for lumbago and sciatica, for neuralgia, stiff neck, earache and toothache. Nerviline is simply a wonder. Best family liniment known and largely used for the past forty years. Sold by dealers everywhere, large family size bottle 50c, a small trial size 25c. Refuse a substitute, take only "Nerviline."

—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then to keep their stomach, liver and bowels regulated, and never know a miserable moment. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing too.

TO HELP THE WEATHER MAN

One of the greatest helps the weather man has in his predictions and records of weather conditions, is an accurate knowledge of the amount of moisture precipitations, from the most violent rainstorm to the lightest dew; but until now he has not possessed an instrument that could give him this knowledge.

A recently invented device promises, however, to record the exact amount of a single raindrop or snowflake, and the exact time of its arrival; so that if the instrument lives up to the predictions made for it, we can have closer "guesses" from the weather man.

The new instrument is constructed to take advantage of the fact that any change in the temperature of a conductor of electricity, such as would be caused by snow falling upon it, causes a change in the amount of current it will carry. It contains two conductors that are exactly equal in every way, and that under the same conditions carry exactly the same amount of current. A constant current is run through them in such a way that it is divided between them according to their relative resistances; so that as the temperature of each conductor is the same, the current is divided equally. One of these conductors is exposed to the weather, and the other is sheltered in such a way that it is subject to the same temperature changes as the exposed conductor, but is not exposed to moisture.

As long as there is no moisture in the air, the two conductors carry the same current, no matter whether the thermometer is high or low; but as soon as any moisture falls upon the exposed conductor, or as long as the moisture is in the air, the moisture cools the exposed conductor, raising its resistance, and instantly the two conductors carry different amounts of current, the amount of difference depending upon the amount of moisture. Each conductor is charged with enough current to keep it hot, so that within fifteen seconds after precipitation has ceased the exposed conductor is dried thus restoring the balance and preparing the instrument to detect the next change.

A delicate instrument detects and records all changes in the division of current between the two conductors, and records the changes on a tape which is also marked to show time. So by glancing at the tape and working out from the change in current the amount of moisture, by using tables which have been prepared for the purpose, the weather man obtains complete and accurate information concerning moisture precipitation.

If the new device works out as well as is expected, it will be a vast improvement over the present instrument in almost every way. The instrument used at present is the so-called rocking gauge, which consists of two buckets, one at each end of a delicately balanced beam, with a funnel leading from the outside air into one bucket. A fall of one one-hundredth of an inch of rain will fill the bucket; whereupon the sprout automatically swings into position over the empty bucket at the other end of the beam, and the filled bucket is emptied. This instrument is faulty in two ways. In the first place, it will not record a precipitation of less than one one-hundredth of an inch; and the weather man wants much more accurate data than this. In the second place, it will not record the fall of snow until the snow has melted; and the exact time of snowfall is as important every winter as accurate work. The new instrument is much more delicate in detecting

Would I take for one smile of my darling's face, Did I know it must be the last.

So I rocked my baby and rocked away, And I felt such a sweet content, For the words of the song expressed more to me Than they ever before had meant, And the night crept on, and I slept and dreamed Of things far too glorious to be, And I wakened with lips saying close in my ear, "Papa, what would you take for me?"

—EUGENE FIELD.

WHAT WOULD YOU TAKE FOR ME!

She was ready to sleep and she lay on my arm, In her little frilled cap so fine, With her golden hair hanging out at the edge.

Like a circle of moon sunshine, And I humed the old tune of Banbury Cross, And Three Men Who Put Out to Sea;

When she sleepily said as she closed her blue eyes, "Papa, what would you take for me?"

And I answered: "A dollar, dear little heart," And she slept, baby-weary with play. But I held her warm in my love-strong arms, And I rocked her and rocked away. Oh, the dollar meant all the world to me, The land and the sea and the sky, The lowest depth of the lowest place, The highest of all that's high.

All the cities, with streets and palaces, With the people and stores of art, I would not take for one low, soft throbs Of my little one's loving heart. Nor all the gold that was ever found In the busy, wealth-finding past
