IN MEMORIAM

MRS. JAMES POOLE

The home of Mr. James Poole, Lower Montague, was saddened on Wednesday, Nov. 2nd, when the kind wife and mother was called away to meet her reward. Mrs. Poole has been in poor health for a short time and the best medical treatment and nursing failed to prolong life. Mrs. Poole shall be greatly missed by her family, she possessed in a remarkable degree the qualities that distinguish a truly Christian woman. Her life was exemplary and truly a preparation for death which found her ready and prepared for the end. Two sons and two daughters are left to mourn the loss of a loving and affectionate mother. The sympathy of the community is extended.

MARGARET JANE MacKENZIE

A gloom swept over Shamrock and its vicinity Oct. 13th when it was learned that the spirit of Margaret Jane McKenzie had taken its flight from this earthly tabernacle. She had been in robust health for a few days previous to her death, but she peacefully passed away. She will ever be remembered by her sisters, brothers and all acquaintances by her sweet voice and pleasant demeanour which won the love of all who knew her. It has been a great loss to her family. She was born in Shamrock in the year 1877 and had six brothers, all of whom will fondly cherish her memory. Her pastor Rev. John Strain spoke at the house and grave in his usual comforting way. The pall bearers were Angus R. Macdonald, D. D. Macdonald, William Matheson, Dan Matheson, Aeneas Hughes and Angus McKinnon.

Choral Society Ready For Another Season

The lovers of music will appreciate the announcement that this Society is again to be in the forefront during the winter, for which a very pretentious programme is being arranged. The first concert will be the famous Oratorio, "Hallelujah Chorus" and a miscellaneous programme. This will take the form of a festival, and will be given in two performances on successive nights. An interesting feature is that "Judas Maccabaeus" will be given wholly by local talent. We are sure this will be received with pleasure, and feel confident that our local soloists will make good.

The Caledonia Club has again placed their rooms at the Society's disposal for practice which will begin on Tuesday next, Nov. 8th, at 8 p. m.

The rules for membership and music copies are to be the same as before; forms can be secured from members of the Executive or at the practice on Tuesday evening next.

The Society is fortunate in again securing the services of Prof. Fletcher who will on Tuesday next ready to put the members through the many intricate passages contained in "Judas Maccabaeus."

The Choral Society is organized solely for the benefit of choral work in the city. It brings together and gives free tuition to a certain extent to all those who wish to do something for the betterment of music as an education.

This society was not organized for the purpose of giving concerts to make money and as long as it accomplishes musical results and breaks even it has its true purpose carried out.

The city offers no benefits out of its organization, and an important in singing once a week is indeed a healthful to body and mind.

Queer Little Old Rich Lady Starved Herself To Death

NEW YORK, Nov. 1—Six years ago when her husband, an official of a Mahattan insurance company, died, Mrs. Margaret Easton drew down the shades in their three-story frame dwelling at 90 Putnam avenue, Brooklyn, and never stepped outside the house.

Food, what was there was of it, came through a cautiously raised window in the basement, and dust settled thick and undisturbed in the house, for no one ever called there.

Occasionally the children of the neighborhood, after hearing home gossip of "the queer little old lady," pecked under the edge of curtains in the basement windows. Now and then they would see Mrs. Easton, somewhere between 75 and 80 years of age, rocking herself—"queer little old lady," dressed like a figure in a woodcut print of forty years ago.

Out of all the mystery there came, of course, the neighborhood conviction that Mrs. Easton was rich. But it was not until midnight on Saturday, when Mrs. Easton was found dead in the rocking chair, that the neighborhood knew how rich. Investigators rummag-

Storm's Toll Made Known

ST. JOHN'S, Nov. 4—Three men, lost at sea, and thirteen vessels wrecked, are known as the marine toll of the Atlantic hurricane which swept Newfoundland from Friday last until Monday. News of which filtered in over the repaired telegraph and telephone wires today.

Fatal Accident With Tractor

CLAIR, N. B., Nov. 4—Word was received last night of a fatal accident on the opposite side of the St. John river. William G. Levesque while driving a tractor on his farm was caught in the mechanism and so badly injured that he died soon afterwards.

English Hunter Tells of Exciting Experience in Forest of Uganda

LONDON, Nov. 2—A good elephant yarn is told by J. Morewood Dowsett, a well known big game hunter, who has just returned from a hunting trip in South Africa.

He was hunting elephants in Uganda when information was brought him of the whereabouts of a large herd. With a native chief and a house boy, he started to find them.

The party came upon the herd in the forest. Mr. Dowsett got several photographs within 20 yards of the beasts when the chief warned him that they had been "scented" and that the animals were coming for them. Snatching up his rifle, Mr. Dowsett shot and killed the leader, a big bull.

While some surrounded their dead leader, many of the beasts stampeded and running the wrong way, Mr. Dowsett was cut off from the party. Reloading his gun, the hunter dashed off for safety and ran into a big bull elephant which crashed through the bush six yards in front of him.

Refused To Eat

Enforcing her rule not to permit anybody in the house, Mrs. Easton talked to the grocer's wife through the grated window of the basement, and Mrs. Spita learned that for about ten days Mrs. Easton had been undergoing treatment from Dr. J. S. Baldwin, of 493 Classon avenue.

"But I am not taking the medicine," the grocer's wife quoted the old woman as saying. "I take the prescriptions, but I do not get them filled."

"Don't you want some food?" she was asked.

"No, I have no desire for food," Mrs. Easton replied. "I am not eating; my stomach won't let me."

Last Saturday night, when he was closing up his shop, Spita, who had been thinking about the aged woman in the lonely house across
