The Connaughts Will do a General Fur Earning Business

Besides the splendid profits that will be produced by the 15 pairs of pedigreed Island silver black foxes, there will also be ranches of mink, marten, fisher and skunk in the Connaught ranch—these small animals are excellent and steady profit producers.

The 15 pairs of Connaught foxes are capitalized a $15000 a pair, the lowest of any company now before the public, and other important features are equally favorable.

A REAL NOVELTY AT LAST

Paul J. Raivey, the millionaire sportsman of Cleveland, Ohio, went into the wilds of British East Africa not only with the best prepared of all hunting expeditions, but also with a complete photographic equipment in charge of a corps of expert photographers. Although Mr. Raivey has refused repeatedly to disclose any idea of the tremendous cost of his trip to him, it has been estimated that he must have expended easily in the neighborhood of a quarter of a million dollars. This fact will be quickly recognized by everybody who sees these wonderful pictures when they are exhibited in this city—at the People's Theatre. Here at last is an attraction of which it can truly be said, "It must be seen to be appreciated." There are so many amazing sights disclosed by these features that it is simply impossible to name the most astonishing. But the features which have caused the most discussion, and for obtaining which Mr. Raivey has been commended by all the scientific bodies of the world, are the ones showing the usual animals at the water hole, from the largest to the smallest, all quenching their thirst. Watch for showing of this truly wonderful picture, at the People's Theatre. 3606.
