

IMPORTANT!

Beer & Weeks Big annual

JANUARY

SALE

Household Linens

Sheetings

Bedspreads

Pillow Cottons

Towels

Towelings

Blankets, Comforts

Down Quilts

Long Cloths

continues all this week. We offer values that can not be beaten. We ask, you to Compare qualities and prices

Wholesale prices on all other goods in our Linen Dept.

FREE HEMMING

All sheetings, linens, towelings, pillow cottons, etc., nicely hemmed without extra charge.

Buy at home during 1924 and make P. E. Island prosper

A Modern Printing Plant - at Your Service

GUARDIAN CENTRAL JOB PRINTERY 136 Prince Street

The more you lose your isolated feelings of others, and richer and soft, and the thoughts and feelings more varied, the more complex and which cluster around it, and take the more interesting, and therefore instead, into you the thoughts and the more vividly individual becomes your being.

A single teaspoonful of DR. CALDWELL'S LAXATIVE SYRUP PEPSIN. Will restore good humor

Mothers! Apply Common Sense

THIS is the era of the prevention of disease and sensible people do not wait until sickness has actually come before remedying the trouble. The crowded hospitals everywhere are sad examples of the results of neglect. Be especially watchful of children. Restlessness, lack of normal appetite and feverishness usually indicate constipation. Stop it that instant with a spoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin and you will have prevented real sickness. Mrs. C. S. Bungay, 19 Gnantham Av., Halifax, N. S., and Mrs. W. F. Hunter, Biggar, Sask., seldom have illness in the family because of their prompt use of Laxative Syrup Pepsin.

A Great Family Laxative it may be difficult to decide just what medicine to use out of the many that are offered, but it would not be if you knew the facts. There are laxatives, cathartics, purgatives and physics, and they vary in their reaction on the system. Naturally, the stronger the medicine the more it shocks the system, so wise parents never give anything but a laxative to children. Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin is a mild laxative, a vegetable compound of Egyptian senn with pepsin and desirable aromatics, and so appreciated that it is now the largest selling preparation of its kind in the world, over 10 million bottles being used annually. The formula is on every package. Three Rules of Health Purchase a bottle of Laxative Syrup Pepsin at a drug store and always keep one in the family medicine chest. Give it to anyone from infant to grandparent, for it is safe, and the cost is less than a cent a dose. You can keep a family healthy with just this simple medicine. Give it for constipation, torpid liver, indigestion, biliousness, headaches, colds and other evidence of bowel obstruction. Dr. Caldwell, who was a practicing physician for 47 years, and who originated this formula, had three rules of health that he found very effective among his patients and which you can follow with great benefit: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, and the bowels open.

THE CENTRAL GUARDIAN

NOTE: - Advertising locals cost five cents per word, payable in advance.

BASKETRY CLASS will open at the Cundal Home (Y. W. C. A.) Friday Jan. 11th at 7.30 p. m. These classes are open to all. 867-1-10-21.

PERSONALS

Mr. Sydney Wolfe, Liverpool, N. S., is in the city.

Mrs. Perley Williams left yesterday for Boston.

Mr. Dan McDonald left yesterday for Vermilion, Alta.

Miss C. M. Jennett, Toronto, is a guest at the Victoria Hotel.

Mr. W. T. Anderson, Morell, is at the Queen Hotel.

Messrs. R. Kelly and M. Lewis, New Glasgow, are in the city.

Mr. Jas. McDonald, Rockland, Me., is at the Revere Hotel.

Messrs. Chas. L. Turboyne, C. E. Dillon and W. F. Thomas, Toronto, are at the Victoria.

Messrs. S. Praught and Alex McDonald, Vernon River, have returned to S. D. U. to resume their studies.

Messrs. Wilfred Dunphy and Frank Rooney, Cherry Valley have returned to S. D. U. to resume their studies.

Dr. J. A. McPhee, Messrs. W. S. Noonan and A. Arsenault, Summerside, were passengers to the city yesterday.

The Guardian regrets to learn that Mr. Hubert Strickland of the C. N. R. Shops, City, has been confined to his home for the last two weeks with a serious case of blood-poisoning.

The Guardian regrets to learn that Mr. Hubert Strickland of the C. N. R. Shops, City, has been confined to his home for the last two weeks with a serious case of blood-poisoning.

The Guardian regrets to learn that Mr. Hubert Strickland of the C. N. R. Shops, City, has been confined to his home for the last two weeks with a serious case of blood-poisoning.

The Guardian regrets to learn that Mr. Hubert Strickland of the C. N. R. Shops, City, has been confined to his home for the last two weeks with a serious case of blood-poisoning.

The Guardian regrets to learn that Mr. Hubert Strickland of the C. N. R. Shops, City, has been confined to his home for the last two weeks with a serious case of blood-poisoning.

The Guardian regrets to learn that Mr. Hubert Strickland of the C. N. R. Shops, City, has been confined to his home for the last two weeks with a serious case of blood-poisoning.

The Guardian regrets to learn that Mr. Hubert Strickland of the C. N. R. Shops, City, has been confined to his home for the last two weeks with a serious case of blood-poisoning.

The Guardian regrets to learn that Mr. Hubert Strickland of the C. N. R. Shops, City, has been confined to his home for the last two weeks with a serious case of blood-poisoning.

The Guardian regrets to learn that Mr. Hubert Strickland of the C. N. R. Shops, City, has been confined to his home for the last two weeks with a serious case of blood-poisoning.

The Guardian regrets to learn that Mr. Hubert Strickland of the C. N. R. Shops, City, has been confined to his home for the last two weeks with a serious case of blood-poisoning.

The Guardian regrets to learn that Mr. Hubert Strickland of the C. N. R. Shops, City, has been confined to his home for the last two weeks with a serious case of blood-poisoning.

The Guardian regrets to learn that Mr. Hubert Strickland of the C. N. R. Shops, City, has been confined to his home for the last two weeks with a serious case of blood-poisoning.

The Guardian regrets to learn that Mr. Hubert Strickland of the C. N. R. Shops, City, has been confined to his home for the last two weeks with a serious case of blood-poisoning.

The Guardian regrets to learn that Mr. Hubert Strickland of the C. N. R. Shops, City, has been confined to his home for the last two weeks with a serious case of blood-poisoning.

The Guardian regrets to learn that Mr. Hubert Strickland of the C. N. R. Shops, City, has been confined to his home for the last two weeks with a serious case of blood-poisoning.

The Guardian regrets to learn that Mr. Hubert Strickland of the C. N. R. Shops, City, has been confined to his home for the last two weeks with a serious case of blood-poisoning.

The Guardian regrets to learn that Mr. Hubert Strickland of the C. N. R. Shops, City, has been confined to his home for the last two weeks with a serious case of blood-poisoning.

The Guardian regrets to learn that Mr. Hubert Strickland of the C. N. R. Shops, City, has been confined to his home for the last two weeks with a serious case of blood-poisoning.

The Guardian regrets to learn that Mr. Hubert Strickland of the C. N. R. Shops, City, has been confined to his home for the last two weeks with a serious case of blood-poisoning.

The Guardian regrets to learn that Mr. Hubert Strickland of the C. N. R. Shops, City, has been confined to his home for the last two weeks with a serious case of blood-poisoning.

The Guardian regrets to learn that Mr. Hubert Strickland of the C. N. R. Shops, City, has been confined to his home for the last two weeks with a serious case of blood-poisoning.

The Guardian regrets to learn that Mr. Hubert Strickland of the C. N. R. Shops, City, has been confined to his home for the last two weeks with a serious case of blood-poisoning.

The Guardian regrets to learn that Mr. Hubert Strickland of the C. N. R. Shops, City, has been confined to his home for the last two weeks with a serious case of blood-poisoning.

The Guardian regrets to learn that Mr. Hubert Strickland of the C. N. R. Shops, City, has been confined to his home for the last two weeks with a serious case of blood-poisoning.

The Guardian regrets to learn that Mr. Hubert Strickland of the C. N. R. Shops, City, has been confined to his home for the last two weeks with a serious case of blood-poisoning.

The Guardian regrets to learn that Mr. Hubert Strickland of the C. N. R. Shops, City, has been confined to his home for the last two weeks with a serious case of blood-poisoning.

The Guardian regrets to learn that Mr. Hubert Strickland of the C. N. R. Shops, City, has been confined to his home for the last two weeks with a serious case of blood-poisoning.

The Guardian regrets to learn that Mr. Hubert Strickland of the C. N. R. Shops, City, has been confined to his home for the last two weeks with a serious case of blood-poisoning.

The Guardian regrets to learn that Mr. Hubert Strickland of the C. N. R. Shops, City, has been confined to his home for the last two weeks with a serious case of blood-poisoning.

The Guardian regrets to learn that Mr. Hubert Strickland of the C. N. R. Shops, City, has been confined to his home for the last two weeks with a serious case of blood-poisoning.

The Guardian regrets to learn that Mr. Hubert Strickland of the C. N. R. Shops, City, has been confined to his home for the last two weeks with a serious case of blood-poisoning.

The Guardian regrets to learn that Mr. Hubert Strickland of the C. N. R. Shops, City, has been confined to his home for the last two weeks with a serious case of blood-poisoning.

The Guardian regrets to learn that Mr. Hubert Strickland of the C. N. R. Shops, City, has been confined to his home for the last two weeks with a serious case of blood-poisoning.

The Guardian regrets to learn that Mr. Hubert Strickland of the C. N. R. Shops, City, has been confined to his home for the last two weeks with a serious case of blood-poisoning.

The Guardian regrets to learn that Mr. Hubert Strickland of the C. N. R. Shops, City, has been confined to his home for the last two weeks with a serious case of blood-poisoning.

The Guardian regrets to learn that Mr. Hubert Strickland of the C. N. R. Shops, City, has been confined to his home for the last two weeks with a serious case of blood-poisoning.

The Guardian regrets to learn that Mr. Hubert Strickland of the C. N. R. Shops, City, has been confined to his home for the last two weeks with a serious case of blood-poisoning.

SMELT GILL NETS in stock at Brace's, Summerside. 871-1-10-21.

FUR FARMING PAYS.—Buy "Brayco" Fox Wire at Brace's Summerside. 871-1-10-21.

DID NOT SELL.—The Charlottetown Milling property offered by auction yesterday did not sell as price offered did not come up to reserve bid.

PLEASE ATTEND THE ANNUAL MEETING OF JOHN R. DINNIS Pedigreed Foxes next Monday, Jan. 14, 1924 at 7.30 in Board of Trade Rooms. 898-1-11-31

BRADALBANE CHRISTIAN CHURCH.—Regular preaching services Jan 13th at 11.00 a. m. New Glasgow at 7.00 p. m.

Y. W. C. A. JUNIOR GIRLS GYM CLASS will open in P. W. C. hall Saturday, Jan. 12th at 2 o'clock. Registration open to all girls under 16. 869-1-10-31.

MR. ARTHUR NEWBERY announces the engagement of his daughter, Florence Travalgini, to Major Frederick I. Andrew. Marriage to take place this month.

MEETING POSTPONED.—The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Protestant Orphanage will not be held this (Friday) afternoon owing to the meeting of the Women's United Missionary Society.

BROOKFIELD.—The services in the Brookfield Congregation on Sunday Jan. 13th, will be as follows: Hunter River, 11 a.m., Harrisville, 11 a.m., Brookfield 6.45 p.m., and Wheatley River Hall at 8.15 p.m.

FUNERAL TODAY.—The funeral of the late ex-Private Robert Gass, whose body arrived by express from Kentville, N. S., Wednesday evening will take place (Friday) Jan. 11th, at 2 p.m. Interment Clyde River Cemetery.

ISLAND LADY DEAD.—Word has been received of the death in Rosindale, Mass., January 5th, of Miss Edith Wildes MacKinnon, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. MacKinnon, at the early age of 19 years. Besides a sorrowing father and mother she leaves to mourn two brothers, Howard A. and Robert B. and one sister, Margaret. Robert H. MacKinnon is a brother of P. M. MacKinnon of this city, and has many friends in this province, who will regret to learn of his sad bereavement.

FARMERS' WEEK IN MARCH.—It is the intention of the Department of Agriculture to delay the holding of Farmers' Week until the first week in March. At that time the meetings of the different organizations, the holding of the Provincial Show, the Provincial exhibits of grains and potatoes, and in all probability the Horse Show, will be held. This is the wish of the people attending, as it has been found in the past that the last week in January is almost invariably cold and stormy. During the first week in March the days are more congenial for the holding of these meetings.

THE LATE JAMES YEO There passed to his eternal rest on Wednesday, Jan. 9th, at Mission Memorial Hospital, Mission City, British Columbia, James Yeo, 68 years, formerly of P. E. Island. He leaves to mourn the following three brothers, George of Bradalbane, William of Charlottetown, Thomas of Union Road. Also four sisters, Mrs. S. S. Sellick of Detroit, Michigan, Mrs. William Arthur and Mrs. Humphrey Arthur both of Charlottetown, P. E. I. (Patriot please copy.)

The fusion of the Liberal and Progressive parties is now being again attempted. It would seem probable that the negotiations may be prolonged and the outcome is at present impossible to forecast. What seems most probable is that some working agreement for mutual support may be reached and that Mr. Crerar and another, or possibly more than two Progressive may be taken into the King Government. But the Progressives as a party are not by any means united in favor of fusion. At the election of 1921 they set up 135 candidates of whom they elected 65 defeating both Liberal and Conservative candidates in the contest. There are too many old scores to settle to make possible anything like unanimous action among the Progressives in favor of fusion.

The fusion of the Liberal and Progressive parties is now being again attempted. It would seem probable that the negotiations may be prolonged and the outcome is at present impossible to forecast. What seems most probable is that some working agreement for mutual support may be reached and that Mr. Crerar and another, or possibly more than two Progressive may be taken into the King Government. But the Progressives as a party are not by any means united in favor of fusion. At the election of 1921 they set up 135 candidates of whom they elected 65 defeating both Liberal and Conservative candidates in the contest. There are too many old scores to settle to make possible anything like unanimous action among the Progressives in favor of fusion.

The fusion of the Liberal and Progressive parties is now being again attempted. It would seem probable that the negotiations may be prolonged and the outcome is at present impossible to forecast. What seems most probable is that some working agreement for mutual support may be reached and that Mr. Crerar and another, or possibly more than two Progressive may be taken into the King Government. But the Progressives as a party are not by any means united in favor of fusion. At the election of 1921 they set up 135 candidates of whom they elected 65 defeating both Liberal and Conservative candidates in the contest. There are too many old scores to settle to make possible anything like unanimous action among the Progressives in favor of fusion.

The fusion of the Liberal and Progressive parties is now being again attempted. It would seem probable that the negotiations may be prolonged and the outcome is at present impossible to forecast. What seems most probable is that some working agreement for mutual support may be reached and that Mr. Crerar and another, or possibly more than two Progressive may be taken into the King Government. But the Progressives as a party are not by any means united in favor of fusion. At the election of 1921 they set up 135 candidates of whom they elected 65 defeating both Liberal and Conservative candidates in the contest. There are too many old scores to settle to make possible anything like unanimous action among the Progressives in favor of fusion.

The fusion of the Liberal and Progressive parties is now being again attempted. It would seem probable that the negotiations may be prolonged and the outcome is at present impossible to forecast. What seems most probable is that some working agreement for mutual support may be reached and that Mr. Crerar and another, or possibly more than two Progressive may be taken into the King Government. But the Progressives as a party are not by any means united in favor of fusion. At the election of 1921 they set up 135 candidates of whom they elected 65 defeating both Liberal and Conservative candidates in the contest. There are too many old scores to settle to make possible anything like unanimous action among the Progressives in favor of fusion.

The fusion of the Liberal and Progressive parties is now being again attempted. It would seem probable that the negotiations may be prolonged and the outcome is at present impossible to forecast. What seems most probable is that some working agreement for mutual support may be reached and that Mr. Crerar and another, or possibly more than two Progressive may be taken into the King Government. But the Progressives as a party are not by any means united in favor of fusion. At the election of 1921 they set up 135 candidates of whom they elected 65 defeating both Liberal and Conservative candidates in the contest. There are too many old scores to settle to make possible anything like unanimous action among the Progressives in favor of fusion.

The fusion of the Liberal and Progressive parties is now being again attempted. It would seem probable that the negotiations may be prolonged and the outcome is at present impossible to forecast. What seems most probable is that some working agreement for mutual support may be reached and that Mr. Crerar and another, or possibly more than two Progressive may be taken into the King Government. But the Progressives as a party are not by any means united in favor of fusion. At the election of 1921 they set up 135 candidates of whom they elected 65 defeating both Liberal and Conservative candidates in the contest. There are too many old scores to settle to make possible anything like unanimous action among the Progressives in favor of fusion.

The fusion of the Liberal and Progressive parties is now being again attempted. It would seem probable that the negotiations may be prolonged and the outcome is at present impossible to forecast. What seems most probable is that some working agreement for mutual support may be reached and that Mr. Crerar and another, or possibly more than two Progressive may be taken into the King Government. But the Progressives as a party are not by any means united in favor of fusion. At the election of 1921 they set up 135 candidates of whom they elected 65 defeating both Liberal and Conservative candidates in the contest. There are too many old scores to settle to make possible anything like unanimous action among the Progressives in favor of fusion.

The fusion of the Liberal and Progressive parties is now being again attempted. It would seem probable that the negotiations may be prolonged and the outcome is at present impossible to forecast. What seems most probable is that some working agreement for mutual support may be reached and that Mr. Crerar and another, or possibly more than two Progressive may be taken into the King Government. But the Progressives as a party are not by any means united in favor of fusion. At the election of 1921 they set up 135 candidates of whom they elected 65 defeating both Liberal and Conservative candidates in the contest. There are too many old scores to settle to make possible anything like unanimous action among the Progressives in favor of fusion.

The fusion of the Liberal and Progressive parties is now being again attempted. It would seem probable that the negotiations may be prolonged and the outcome is at present impossible to forecast. What seems most probable is that some working agreement for mutual support may be reached and that Mr. Crerar and another, or possibly more than two Progressive may be taken into the King Government. But the Progressives as a party are not by any means united in favor of fusion. At the election of 1921 they set up 135 candidates of whom they elected 65 defeating both Liberal and Conservative candidates in the contest. There are too many old scores to settle to make possible anything like unanimous action among the Progressives in favor of fusion.

The fusion of the Liberal and Progressive parties is now being again attempted. It would seem probable that the negotiations may be prolonged and the outcome is at present impossible to forecast. What seems most probable is that some working agreement for mutual support may be reached and that Mr. Crerar and another, or possibly more than two Progressive may be taken into the King Government. But the Progressives as a party are not by any means united in favor of fusion. At the election of 1921 they set up 135 candidates of whom they elected 65 defeating both Liberal and Conservative candidates in the contest. There are too many old scores to settle to make possible anything like unanimous action among the Progressives in favor of fusion.

The fusion of the Liberal and Progressive parties is now being again attempted. It would seem probable that the negotiations may be prolonged and the outcome is at present impossible to forecast. What seems most probable is that some working agreement for mutual support may be reached and that Mr. Crerar and another, or possibly more than two Progressive may be taken into the King Government. But the Progressives as a party are not by any means united in favor of fusion. At the election of 1921 they set up 135 candidates of whom they elected 65 defeating both Liberal and Conservative candidates in the contest. There are too many old scores to settle to make possible anything like unanimous action among the Progressives in favor of fusion.

The fusion of the Liberal and Progressive parties is now being again attempted. It would seem probable that the negotiations may be prolonged and the outcome is at present impossible to forecast. What seems most probable is that some working agreement for mutual support may be reached and that Mr. Crerar and another, or possibly more than two Progressive may be taken into the King Government. But the Progressives as a party are not by any means united in favor of fusion. At the election of 1921 they set up 135 candidates of whom they elected 65 defeating both Liberal and Conservative candidates in the contest. There are too many old scores to settle to make possible anything like unanimous action among the Progressives in favor of fusion.

The fusion of the Liberal and Progressive parties is now being again attempted. It would seem probable that the negotiations may be prolonged and the outcome is at present impossible to forecast. What seems most probable is that some working agreement for mutual support may be reached and that Mr. Crerar and another, or possibly more than two Progressive may be taken into the King Government. But the Progressives as a party are not by any means united in favor of fusion. At the election of 1921 they set up 135 candidates of whom they elected 65 defeating both Liberal and Conservative candidates in the contest. There are too many old scores to settle to make possible anything like unanimous action among the Progressives in favor of fusion.

The fusion of the Liberal and Progressive parties is now being again attempted. It would seem probable that the negotiations may be prolonged and the outcome is at present impossible to forecast. What seems most probable is that some working agreement for mutual support may be reached and that Mr. Crerar and another, or possibly more than two Progressive may be taken into the King Government. But the Progressives as a party are not by any means united in favor of fusion. At the election of 1921 they set up 135 candidates of whom they elected 65 defeating both Liberal and Conservative candidates in the contest. There are too many old scores to settle to make possible anything like unanimous action among the Progressives in favor of fusion.

The fusion of the Liberal and Progressive parties is now being again attempted. It would seem probable that the negotiations may be prolonged and the outcome is at present impossible to forecast. What seems most probable is that some working agreement for mutual support may be reached and that Mr. Crerar and another, or possibly more than two Progressive may be taken into the King Government. But the Progressives as a party are not by any means united in favor of fusion. At the election of 1921 they set up 135 candidates of whom they elected 65 defeating both Liberal and Conservative candidates in the contest. There are too many old scores to settle to make possible anything like unanimous action among the Progressives in favor of fusion.

The fusion of the Liberal and Progressive parties is now being again attempted. It would seem probable that the negotiations may be prolonged and the outcome is at present impossible to forecast. What seems most probable is that some working agreement for mutual support may be reached and that Mr. Crerar and another, or possibly more than two Progressive may be taken into the King Government. But the Progressives as a party are not by any means united in favor of fusion. At the election of 1921 they set up 135 candidates of whom they elected 65 defeating both Liberal and Conservative candidates in the contest. There are too many old scores to settle to make possible anything like unanimous action among the Progressives in favor of fusion.

The fusion of the Liberal and Progressive parties is now being again attempted. It would seem probable that the negotiations may be prolonged and the outcome is at present impossible to forecast. What seems most probable is that some working agreement for mutual support may be reached and that Mr. Crerar and another, or possibly more than two Progressive may be taken into the King Government. But the Progressives as a party are not by any means united in favor of fusion. At the election of 1921 they set up 135 candidates of whom they elected 65 defeating both Liberal and Conservative candidates in the contest. There are too many old scores to settle to make possible anything like unanimous action among the Progressives in favor of fusion.

The fusion of the Liberal and Progressive parties is now being again attempted. It would seem probable that the negotiations may be prolonged and the outcome is at present impossible to forecast. What seems most probable is that some working agreement for mutual support may be reached and that Mr. Crerar and another, or possibly more than two Progressive may be taken into the King Government. But the Progressives as a party are not by any means united in favor of fusion. At the election of 1921 they set up 135 candidates of whom they elected 65 defeating both Liberal and Conservative candidates in the contest. There are too many old scores to settle to make possible anything like unanimous action among the Progressives in favor of fusion.

The fusion of the Liberal and Progressive parties is now being again attempted. It would seem probable that the negotiations may be prolonged and the outcome is at present impossible to forecast. What seems most probable is that some working agreement for mutual support may be reached and that Mr. Crerar and another, or possibly more than two Progressive may be taken into the King Government. But the Progressives as a party are not by any means united in favor of fusion. At the election of 1921 they set up 135 candidates of whom they elected 65 defeating both Liberal and Conservative candidates in the contest. There are too many old scores to settle to make possible anything like unanimous action among the Progressives in favor of fusion.

The fusion of the Liberal and Progressive parties is now being again attempted. It would seem probable that the negotiations may be prolonged and the outcome is at present impossible to forecast. What seems most probable is that some working agreement for mutual support may be reached and that Mr. Crerar and another, or possibly more than two Progressive may be taken into the King Government. But the Progressives as a party are not by any means united in favor of fusion. At the election of 1921 they set up 135 candidates of whom they elected 65 defeating both Liberal and Conservative candidates in the contest. There are too many old scores to settle to make possible anything like unanimous action among the Progressives in favor of fusion.

The fusion of the Liberal and Progressive parties is now being again attempted. It would seem probable that the negotiations may be prolonged and the outcome is at present impossible to forecast. What seems most probable is that some working agreement for mutual support may be reached and that Mr. Crerar and another, or possibly more than two Progressive may be taken into the King Government. But the Progressives as a party are not by any means united in favor of fusion. At the election of 1921 they set up 135 candidates of whom they elected 65 defeating both Liberal and Conservative candidates in the contest. There are too many old scores to settle to make possible anything like unanimous action among the Progressives in favor of fusion.

The fusion of the Liberal and Progressive parties is now being again attempted. It would seem probable that the negotiations may be prolonged and the outcome is at present impossible to forecast. What seems most probable is that some working agreement for mutual support may be reached and that Mr. Crerar and another, or possibly more than two Progressive may be taken into the King Government. But the Progressives as a party are not by any means united in favor of fusion. At the election of 1921 they set up 135 candidates of whom they elected 65 defeating both Liberal and Conservative candidates in the contest. There are too many old scores to settle to make possible anything like unanimous action among the Progressives in favor of fusion.

The fusion of the Liberal and Progressive parties is now being again attempted. It would seem probable that the negotiations may be prolonged and the outcome is at present impossible to forecast. What seems most probable is that some working agreement for mutual support may be reached and that Mr. Crerar and another, or possibly more than two Progressive may be taken into the King Government. But the Progressives as a party are not by any means united in favor of fusion. At the election of 1921 they set up 135 candidates of whom they elected 65 defeating both Liberal and Conservative candidates in the contest. There are too many old scores to settle to make possible anything like unanimous action among the Progressives in favor of fusion.

The fusion of the Liberal and Progressive parties is now being again attempted. It would seem probable that the negotiations may be prolonged and the outcome is at present impossible to forecast. What seems most probable is that some working agreement for mutual support may be reached and that Mr. Crerar and another, or possibly more than two Progressive may be taken into the King Government. But the Progressives as a party are not by any means united in favor of fusion. At the election of 1921 they set up 135 candidates of whom they elected 65 defeating both Liberal and Conservative candidates in the contest. There are too many old scores to settle to make possible anything like unanimous action among the Progressives in favor of fusion.

The fusion of the Liberal and Progressive parties is now being again attempted. It would seem probable that the negotiations may be prolonged and the outcome is at present impossible to forecast. What seems most probable is that some working agreement for mutual support may be reached and that Mr. Crerar and another, or possibly more than two Progressive may be taken into the King Government. But the Progressives as a party are not by any means united in favor of fusion. At the election of 1921 they set up 135 candidates of whom they elected 65 defeating both Liberal and Conservative candidates in the contest. There are too many old scores to settle to make possible anything like unanimous action among the Progressives in favor of fusion.

The fusion of the Liberal and Progressive parties is now being again attempted. It would seem probable that the negotiations may be prolonged and the outcome is at present impossible to forecast. What seems most probable is that some working agreement for mutual support may be reached and that Mr. Crerar and another, or possibly more than two Progressive may be taken into the King Government. But the Progressives as a party are not by any means united in favor of fusion. At the election of 1921 they set up 135 candidates of whom they elected 65 defeating both Liberal and Conservative candidates in the contest. There are too many old scores to settle to make possible anything like unanimous action among the Progressives in favor of fusion.

The fusion of the Liberal and Progressive parties is now being again attempted. It would seem probable that the negotiations may be prolonged and the outcome is at present impossible to forecast. What seems most probable is that some working agreement for mutual support may be reached and that Mr. Crerar and another, or possibly more than two Progressive may be taken into the King Government. But the Progressives as a party are not by any means united in favor of fusion. At the election of 1921 they set up 135 candidates of whom they elected 65 defeating both Liberal and Conservative candidates in the contest. There are too many old scores to settle to make possible anything like unanimous action among the Progressives in favor of fusion.

The fusion of the Liberal and Progressive parties is now being again attempted. It would seem probable that the negotiations may be prolonged and the outcome is at present impossible to forecast. What seems most probable is that some working agreement for mutual support may be reached and that Mr. Crerar and another, or possibly more than two Progressive may be taken into the King Government. But the Progressives as a party are not by any means united in favor of fusion. At the election of 1921 they set up 135 candidates of whom they elected 65 defeating both Liberal and Conservative candidates in the contest. There are too many old scores to settle to make possible anything like unanimous action among the Progressives in favor of fusion.

The fusion of the Liberal and Progressive parties is now being again attempted. It would seem probable that the negotiations may be prolonged and the outcome is at present impossible to forecast. What seems most probable is that some working agreement for mutual support may be reached and that Mr. Crerar and another, or possibly more than two Progressive may be taken into the King Government. But the Progressives as a party are not by any means united in favor of fusion. At the election of 1921 they set up 135 candidates of whom they elected 65 defeating both Liberal and Conservative candidates in the contest. There are too many old scores to settle to make possible anything like unanimous action among the Progressives in favor of fusion.

The fusion of the Liberal and Progressive parties is now being again attempted. It would seem probable that the negotiations may be prolonged and the outcome is at present impossible to forecast. What seems most probable is that some working agreement for mutual support may be reached and that Mr. Crerar and another, or possibly more than two Progressive may be taken into the King Government. But the Progressives as a party are not by any means united in favor of fusion. At the election of 1921 they set up 135 candidates of whom they elected 65 defeating both Liberal and Conservative candidates in the contest. There are too many old scores to settle to make possible anything like unanimous action among the Progressives in favor of fusion.