CO-OPERATIVE CREAMERIES.

The Secrets of Success As Found by Experience in Wisconsin.

The co-operative creamery in our state has come to stay, says H. J. Bell of Wisconsin, in American Agriculturist. Though but recently introduced, it is well rooted, and is now experiencing a vigorous growth. In establishing a co-operative system, standard governing corporations are a way followed. This necessitates the selection of a board of directors, which is contained the president, secretary, and treasurer. Instead of the old-time, combative committee on sales, the hiring committee, and the purchasing committee, with their eccentricities and jealousies, the executive power is placed in the hands of one person, appointed by the directors and called the manager.

The manager purchases, all supplies, employs the buttermaker and all necessary assistants, makes all sales, collects all bills—turning the proceeds into the hands of the treasurer—settles all differences between patrons, and company, and, in fact, is complete master of the situation, subject only to the dictates of the board of directors. If the manager employs a competent buttermaker, and gives him proper maintenance, he can hardly fail to succeed in the business. Among the qualifications of a competent buttermaker, perfect knowledge of the chemical properties of milk and butter, through understanding of machinery, familiarity with the system of testing milk, and a complete knowledge of chemistry used in the operation. With all these qualifications, the buttermaker must have the support of the manager. His supplies furnish must be of the very best; quality should be the first requisite, and price a secondary consideration. The manager should see that the milk furnished is properly cared for from the time it is drawn until it reaches the creamery.

An important by-law usually found in the co-operative creameries of Wisconsin, requires the manager to visit all farms of patrons, inspect the methods of caring for milk, and see that cows have access to nothing but pure water. He can then reject milk improperly treated, or from cows drinking impure water. One great feature of the co-operative system in Wisconsin which tends to give the patron sense of confidence, is the monthly statement issued by the secretary giving an itemized account of the business of the creamery for the preceding month, accompanied by a check for his dividend. It shows the farmer just how the factory is run.

A Veteran Talks.

Do not plant fruits expecting to make money from them, unless you can enjoy and love their culture; have a taste for and belief in the fruits first, and then, by planting right varieties and giving the most thorough culture, liberal feeding, judicious pruning and binning of the fruit at the proper time with honest packing and tasteful display in the market, you will make sure of liberal rewards. Markets are overstocked with medium and low-grade goods, but there is an ever-increasing demand for very choice products.

How to Treat Overfed Hens.

When a flock of hens will not range over the fields in fair days, but sit under trees or bushes, making no effort to exercise or seek food, it indicates that they are overfed and too fat and will not produce eggs. The best treatment is to give no food for a week, so as to compel them to exercise, and reduce their flesh. (Excerpt from Post-Express.)

HOW ARE YOUR KIDNEYS? THIS SIMPLE TEST WILL TELL.

If any of your family have been troubled with kidney disease, make a test of the urine, and satisfy yourself whether you need a foot remedy before the disease has caused serious complication.

To-morrow morning put some urine in a glass or bottle, and let it stand for twenty-four hours. If it shows particles or germs floating about, is milky or cloudy, or contains a good sediment, then your kidneys are diseased.

Comments are made to take reasons to arrest these natural conditions. Ferrone is especially intended for the immediate relief and cure of kidney and bladder troubles, and its health giving, vivifying, strengthening properties will be felt at once in new blood, healthy circulation, good color, increased vigor, and general strengthening of the system.

Ferrone quickly corrects urinal disorders, headaches, and pain in the back. It improves the appetite, cleanses the food, and makes it nourish the nerves, makes them strong and enduring, and fits one for life of activity.

Do not be misled by cheap, so-called kidney cures offered by dealers for the sake of extra profits. There is only one safe and reliable specific for kidney, bladder, liver, and urinal troubles, and its name is Ferrone.

Release postal blank to accept a substitute, and insist on your druggist supplying the genuine Ferrone; it is the best. Price 50 cts. per box, or three boxes for $1.25. At all druggists or by mail from N. C. Folsom & Co., Kings on, Ont.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

LESSON III, SECOND QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, APRIL 19.

Text of the Lesson, Rom. xiii, 7-14. Memory Verses, 9, 10—Golden Text, Rom. xiii, 10—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

(Copyright, 1908, by American Press Association.)

7. Render therefore to all their dues; tribute to whom tribute is due, custom to whom custom, fear to whom fear, honor to whom honor.

After assuring us of our high and holy place in the love of God through the gift of His dear Son and that nothing can possibly separate us therefrom and telling us in chapters ix to xi of God's unchanging purpose concerning Israel, he then exhorts us from chapter xii onward to let God have our whole being that by a righteous life which He will live in those who are yielded to Him He may make Himself known to others. Subjection to the powers that be, cheerfully paying tribute and taxes, rendering respect as foreigners would in a country where they are temporarily abiding—these things Christians should gladly do because they are citizens of heaven and thus command the country to which they belong.

8. Owe no man anything, but to love one another, for he that loveth another hath fulfilled the law.

Some one has said that love is the law itself in manifold action, an obligation never fully discharged. Love is seen perfectly only in Christ, never in sinful mortals. If any think that they have seen it perfectly in some redeemed one, let them consider such in the light of I Cor. xiii, 4-7, and also consider one of Mr. Spurgeon's definitions of sin as anything that the Lord Jesus would not think or say or do or bless. If one should ask, Where, then, is the perfect love which casteth out fear? (I John iv, 18) one answer would be, There can be no fear while abiding in His perfect love.

9, 10. Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. Love worketh no ill to his neighbor; therefore love is the fulfilling of the law.

These commands deal with our treatment of our neighbor, for we can prove our love to God (the sum of the first four commandments, Matt. xxii, 36, 37) only by our love to our neighbor. "He that loveth not his brother, whom he hath seen, how can he love God, whom he hath not seen?" (I John iv, 20.) Love is always kind, studies to please, cannot injure, seeks not its own welfare first, but rather the welfare of others, therefore cannot engage in any pursuit or business which would impoverish others while enriching itself.

11. And that, knowing the time, that now it is high time to awake out of sleep; for now is our salvation nearer than when we believed.

The epistles are written to believers, those who by faith in Christ are saved, have passed from death to life and yet seem to be asleep and talk in their sleep (Isa. xxix, 10; Ivi, 10, margin). The tendency of believers to sleep, both under the most glorious and the most awful circumstances, is seen in Peter, James and John on the Mount of Transfiguration and in Gethsemane (Luke ix, 32; xlii, 45, 46), showing how utterly foreign, even to redeemed people, heavenly things are and how unable we are to grasp them. Samsen asleep in the lap of Delilah shows how the strongest are apt to be overcome by the things of this world, and Jonah asleep in the storm while the heathen captain and sailors called upon their gods is a wonderful picture of the church, asleep to such commands as Mark xvi, 15, while the blind seal of the heathen should put us to shame.

12. The night is far spent, the day is at hand. Let us therefore cast off the works of darkness and let us put on the armor of light.

It seems strange to those who boast of the progress of the century to speak of this being still the world's night, but it is even so, and the day will not dawn till the morning star appears and then the sun (Rev. xxii, 16; Mal. iv, 2). When He said, "Ye are the light of the world" (Matt. v, 14), He certainly meant that the world needed light and was therefore in darkness. The progress is like that of Cain and is not progress in or toward righteousness, for the whole world still lieth in the wicked one (I John v, 19). Believers are children of the light and of the day (I Thess. v, 5) and waiting for the day to dawn, for only then will our full salvation come, to which we are drawing nearer every day, as stated in the last verse.

13, 14. Let us on the Lord Jesus Christ make no provision for the flesh to fulfill the lusts thereof.

The believer is said to receive Christ (John i, 12) and also to put on Christ (Gal. iii, 27) and to be in Christ (I Cor. i, 30), but in whatever way our relation to Christ is spoken of, the fact is recognized that the old man, the old life, is still in us and is to be perpetually reckoned dead or put off (Rom. vi, 11; Eph. iv, 22, 24; Col. iii, 9, 10; I Cor. v, 10, 11). We are to have no confidence in the flesh, to worship God in the Spirit and to rejoice in Christ Jesus (Phil. iii, 3). We are to have the mind of Christ Jesus, and as He never pleased Himself, so we, if filled with His Spirit, will not live unto ourselves in any selfish way (Phil. ii, 5; Rom. xv, 3). There is no salvation for any sinner of any kind of a sinner except by the blood of Christ apart from any works of ours (Rom. iv, 5; Tit. iii, 5), so the life that is expected from us cannot be lived by us, but must be lived by Christ in us without our help. We yield ourselves to Him, and He lives the life and works the works (Gal. ii, 20; Phil. i, 13). Whatever is done, it is His working in us (Col. ii, 12; I Cor. x, 1; I Thess. i, 10). That God in all things may be glorified through Jesus Christ, to whom the praise and dominion for ever and ever.

It's Worth While

Your reading this article because it is an unbiased review of Facts concerning the business of a Company with which you should be doing business, originally written and published by the "Mercantile and Financial Times," without request or payment.

Now Reprinted by Request. An Answer to Inquiries.

Numerous inquiries have recently been received at the New York and Philadelphia offices of the "Mercantile and Financial Times" asking for information as to the methods and business of the Storey Cotton Company, whose general offices are located in the Bourse Building, Philadelphia, as well as in the desirability and value of an investment made with this company. On several occasions in the past these inquiries in these columns extended and favorable references to this company from the New York and Philadelphia correspondents, and we have carefully watched the progress and operations of the company in order to determine whether his commendation was justified by subsequent developments.

Justice to a worthy corporation requires that we should extend the editorial endorsement of this paper to this company at the present time, and to say that it has more than fulfilled every claim originally advanced in its behalf. It is only simply truth and justice to say that the management of the company is today entitled to the highest praise and commendation for the conscientious and straightforward manner in which they have carried out all of their obligations to those who have become identified with the enterprise as investors, and we are full warranted in making the assertion that no financial or investment institution in the country can show a cleaner, more satisfactory or honorable record in its liberal treatment of investors and the public at large than the Storey Cotton Company.

We are much gratified, of course, that the later development of the company's business and its fair and equitable methods have justified the early predictions of our Philadelphia correspondent, and it is equally a pleasure to add that the company's record is today stronger and better able to carry out their obligations than at any time in the past. We have the utmost confidence in the judgment and discretion of our Philadelphia correspondent, who has been the regular representative of this paper in that city for more than a quarter of a century past; and as he has been, thoroughly conversant with the business of the Storey Cotton Company from its inception, as well as its plans and methods, its financial stability and its character of management, his qualified endorsement of the same naturally carries great weight.

The record of the Storey Cotton Company is one that can be ascertained in no particular what- ever; its treatment of its clients has always been eminently fair and just, and it has never made a promise that has not been fulfilled to the letter. We can only emphasize the fact that an investment made with this company possesses every essential element of security and remuneration, and we are confident that those who make such investments will place their money in an enterprise where every possible safeguard is thrown around the principal and where large earnings are assured beyond any reasonable doubt.

The fullest particulars sent free to readers of this paper on application.
