

Support FIRST AID and HOME NURSING

PLAY your part in carrying forward the great work of St. John Ambulance!

In Canada, St. John Ambulance Association and Brigade operate from coast to coast. The St. John Ambulance Association—without charge—teaches First Aid and Home Nursing and the St. John Ambulance Brigade renders a First Aid and Nursing Service wherever disaster may strike or injuries be suffered.

When you support the activities of St. John Ambulance, you assist in saving lives that would otherwise be lost and in reducing the ill effects of injuries and sickness.

Rustico Community Club Annual Meeting

The Rustico Community Club held its first annual meeting in the parish hall, Sunday evening, February 2nd. Rev. J.C. Poiré, president, acted as chairman. The minutes of the organization meeting and a summary of other meetings were read by the secretary, Jean Dolron and adopted as read. As to the election of officers, it was a very short procedure. This club is only a few months old and so the members thought it better to re-elect the same officers for another term.

The president, the pastor, thanked the meeting for their confidence in the present board of directors but at the same time reminded them that if the directors have a great part to play, they cannot do everything alone. Each and every one of the members must do his share.

Mr. Edmond Arseneault, who was kind enough to come out and assist, had very precious advice to give. He stressed the fact that members must look at the possibilities more than at the accomplishments. There are many things members might do if they just set their minds to do them. Mr. Arseneault tried to make the audience decide just what they wanted to do. The main end is certainly to educate young people, to get them to put all their mind to their work and to learn to do it in the proper way. All through the meeting, in fact, Mr. Arseneault was ready to give a word of explanation, a piece of advice or his support to the suggestions he judged good.

After thanking the speaker for his great kindness, the chairman brought up the question of Poultry Clubs. Last year's club had great success but must do better this year through experience. A vivid discussion followed as to the best methods which should be taken to get new members and to keep their interest. The question was not as to whether there are profits to be made, there is no doubt about this. Right now, everyone is interested in the agricultural education of the youth.

It is quite probable that soon the district may have a club and a swing club so that everybody may take up the work they prefer. The ladies also expressed the wish of starting a clothing club and they will soon be organized.

The question of having a short agricultural course was brought up and it was decided to ask some men from the Dept. of Agriculture to come and give lectures on certain topics. At different intervals during the evening, short films were shown to the audience on the subjects discussed. They proved to be very interesting and instructive.

The young people of Rustico recently reorganized their bowling league. Eight teams were formed in the parish and all players are greatly interested in seeing their team win. These bowling alleys were constructed several years ago by the branch of "La Societe l'Assomption" and the community is grateful as they have furnished another means of very pleasant amusement.

Messrs Adrian and George Pincau from Rustico are taking a course in plumbing at Charlottetown.

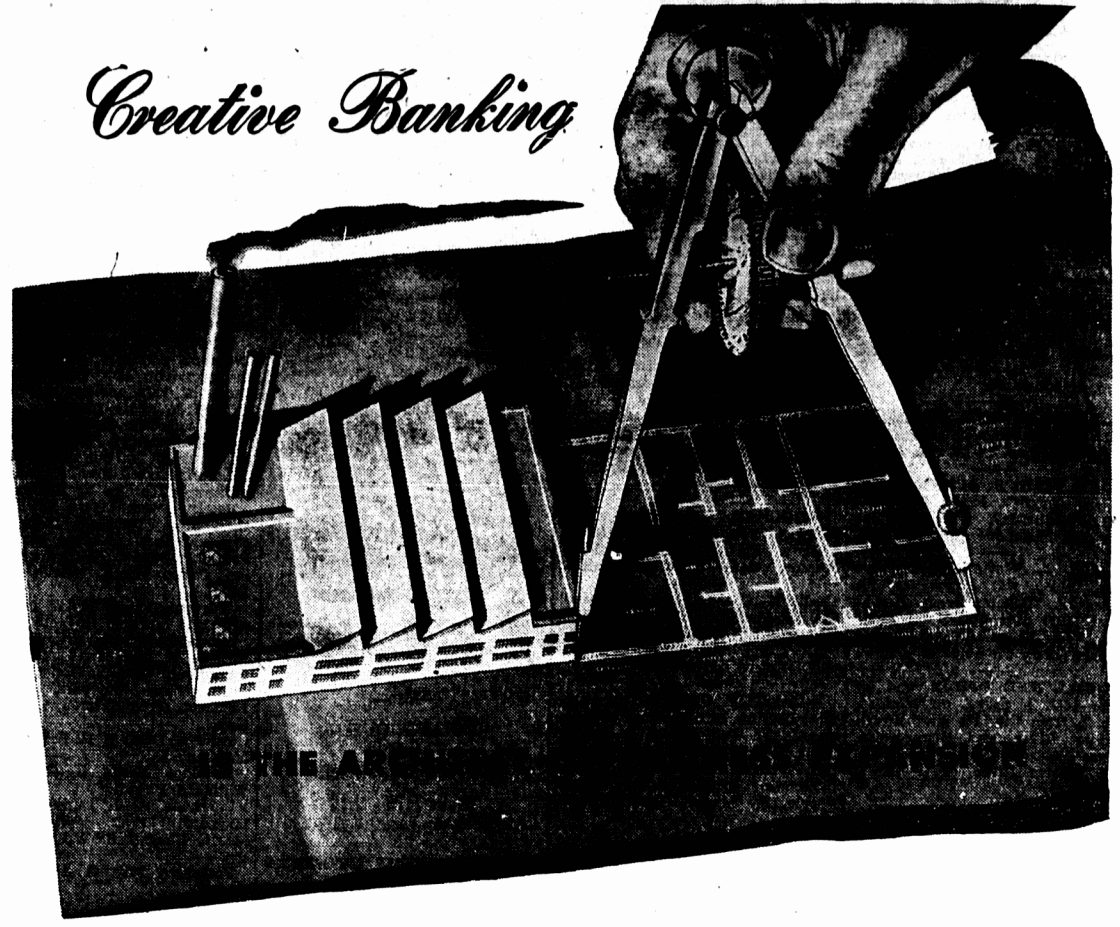

Highlights Of York And Vicinity

Mr. Wells representative of Wells & Matthews firm of Guelph, Ontario, has recently been in York obtaining contracts for his firm in the double bereavement. The loss of a dear brother and within a few hours was followed by the death of Dr. Eustace Vessey's wife who died from shock. The late Mr. Vessey was born in York received his education here and later moved to Western Canada. He was a veteran of World War II.

A large number of relatives and friends gathered at the home of Mrs. Vessey to celebrate with this services, still is grounded for modification to overcome a tendency toward tail-plane icing.

Creative Banking

A LONG-ESTABLISHED company finds a need to extend its capacity. A man with a sound idea and an obvious market decides to launch a new business.

Building materials will be needed—lumber and steel, bricks and mortar, concrete and plaster. Architects and contractors may be consulted. But the basic material is money—and the first consultation is with the bank.

When that bank is The Bank of Nova Scotia, creative banking accurately appraises the plans, measures the needs, weighs the probabilities. If the credit history is favourable, creative banking advances not only money but the continuing helpfulness of sound financial advice and business foresight. Creative banking creates better business for Canada.

Let's do it together!

Defects Develop In Britain's New Pressurized Plane

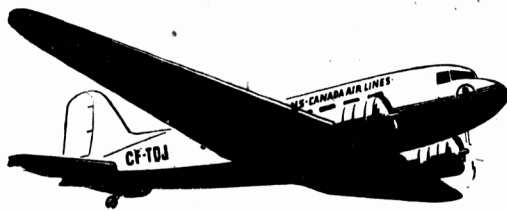

LONDON, Feb. 7. (CP)—John Wilmot, Minister of Supply and Aircraft Production, told a press conference today that three defects have developed in the Tudor I, Britain's first post-war pressurized airliner, which is scheduled to be used on the North Atlantic run. He said that the opening of the London-to-Montreal service of the British Overseas Airways Corporation will be delayed. Wilmot said that during special B.O.A.C. trials under tropical conditions the four-engine Avro Aircraft developed the faults, which he listed as:
1. Tail-buffeting within a certain speed range in bumpy conditions.
2. Reduction in air miles per gallon.
3. A tendency to swing on take-off.

The extent of delay before Tudors will be in service to Montreal and on other Empire routes will depend on the time it will take to cure the defects, the minister said.

Wilmot said safety first was "not so much a motto as a religion" in British civil aviation and "most urgent" action was being taken to see that the Tudor defects are cured.

In the meantime, another new British civil aircraft, the twin-engine Vickers Viking for European
