

THE AUTOMATIC DOOR WAS ALL RIGHT, BUT PAPA WAS CARELESS

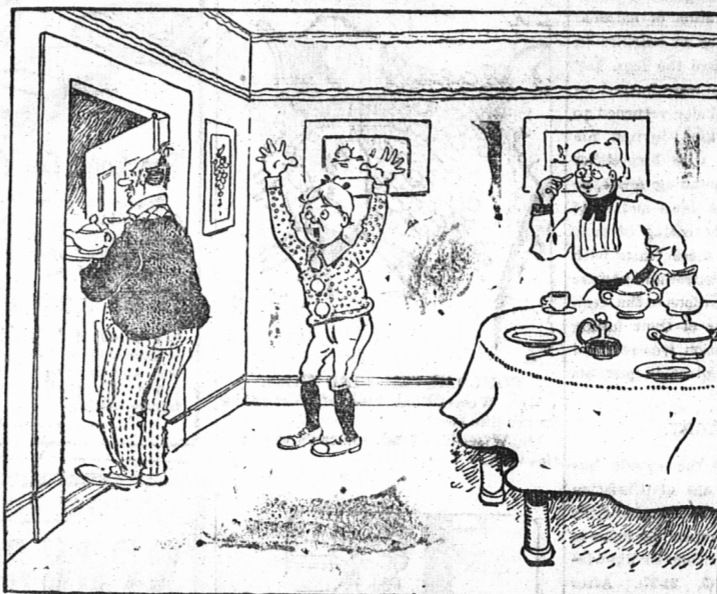

Dear Tommy—Our waitresses are continually kicking the paint off the swing door between the kitchen and dining room. So I fixed it like this.

You just step on the button and the door opens—

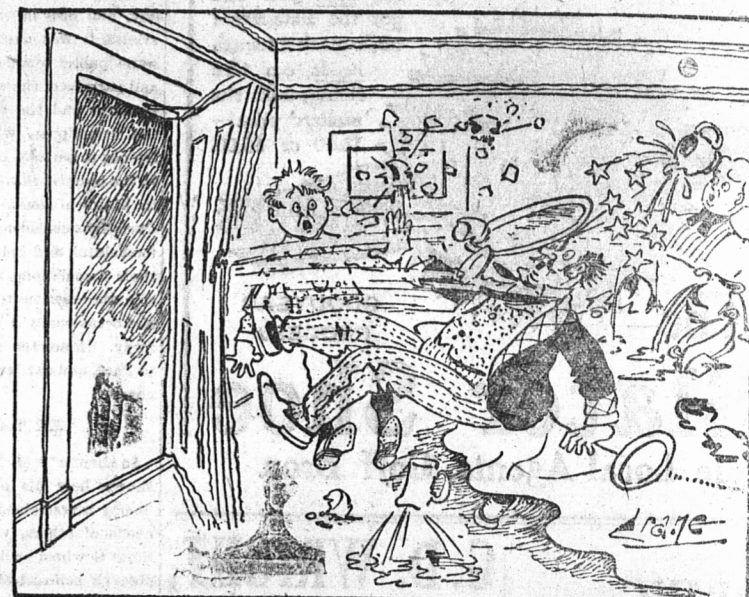

Just giving you time to walk through, when it closes itself.

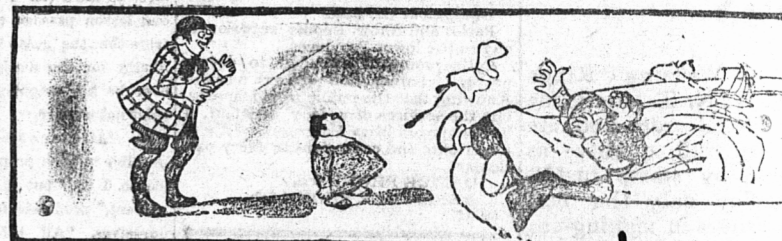

Papa tried it and was so tickled—

That he stepped in the doorway to see it work.

Of course, when it flew back it knocked him over, and he got mad at me. Yours, etc. Willie.
