GERMANY PRESSING SWISS AUTHORITIES.

LONDON, Dec. 10.— The commercial pressure which Germany is said to be bringing to bear on Switzerland to modify Switzerland's rigid exportation regulations, is referred to in a despatch to the Monring Post from its Berne correspondent, who says:—"Since the middle of November, the German frontier authorities have declined to admit any Swiss silks, laces embroideries or women's hats, unless they were accompanied by a certificate that no material of British or French origin entered into their composition. As the German Consul-General refuses to grant any such certificates this action is tantamount to a German baycott of the goods mentioned."

King Constantine Explains Greek Attitude

ATHENS, Dec. 5.—(Despatch to the London Times).—I have had the honour of being received in audience this morning by King Constantine of Greece. The King stated that he had been deeply grieved and hurt by attacks upon him, and by suspicions as to his intentions and sentiments He had always shown his appreciation for the English people and English life, and was more dearly tied to England by relationship, by affection and by preference than any other foreign country.

His one endeavour must be to act in the interests of his country and keep Greece clear of disaster. This necessitated a policy of neutrality. The pitiable condition of Belgium was always before his eyes. At all costs His Majesty's desire was to keep his country from sharing the perils and disasters of the great European conflagration.

The only circumstances in which he could consent to proceed to war were if the existence of Greece was threatened or if there was certainty of victory so great that rewards would justify the sacrifices. From the very commencement the King had given most solemn assurance that Greece had not and never could cherish designs against the Allies. The whole Greek nation in history and up to the present time had been friendly to England and France. That Greece, especially her King, could have been thought capable of treachery was an insult to the country and to its sovereign. Yet, in spite of this, he personally had been treated in a manner that caused him the deepest pain.

There was a party in Greece which had been always desirous of Greek intervention. These people never really grasped the situation or realised the dangers that intervention would lead to.

The attack upon the Dardanelles was a gamble which might or might not succeed, but Greece's position had not allowed her to run such risks, nor was the Balkan policy of the Allies at any time a very definite one. Suppose Greece had joined the Allies and suppose subsequently the Allies had decided to reduce their action or retire altogether. In what position would Greece have been left?

FOUND POLAR RECORDS.

OTTAWA, Dec. 6.—News of the discovery by the Canadian explorer Stefansson, of records left by one of the Franklin search parties on the same date sixty-two years ago, is contained in the detailed report of his explorations received by the Naval Service Department. The records were those left by McClintock, an explorer who headed one of the parties which went in search of Franklin in 1853. Curiously they were found by Stefansson on exactly the same date as they were deposited, June 15.

By another coincidence McClintock's records left in a cavern near Cape McClintock, /tell of the explorer's intention to travel three days westward in search of new land. Stefansson, instead travelled three days north and made his discovery of a hitherto unknown land, as has been recorded.

In the cavern were various records, some of which were illegible. Those recorded the fact that McClintock's party were all well, had already examined the south-east coast and were about to proceed west.

Stefansson is now in camp on the north end of Banks Land, if he has not already reached Prince Patrick's Island. At the latter place he expects to establish a winter base as far north as possible. In February he will start an exploring trip over the ice of Beaufort Sea. The explorer is of the opinion that the new land he has discovered does not extend very far west until it is defined by narrow channel. On the other side of this channel he hopes to find more new country to add to Canada's far northern possessions.

INCONVENIENT.
