

PRINCE EDWARD — NOW EVERY SENSATION KNOWN TO MAN EXCEPT THE LOVE OF WOMAN!

And he lived in misery and died in shame... a fiend or friend or fabled monster? ... or a soulless wretch with mechanical brain? ... hunted by a thousand men... the only thing he feared was fire! ... a man-made monster with the strength of a dozen men, he made no concession to life or love!

IN MEMORIAM

MR. JOSEPH J. MACDUFF

Death, at all times, brings its sorrow and sadness, but when it comes as swiftly as the passing of the fleet winged swallow, it leaves both homes and friends in a state of profound sorrow and suffering. Such was the passing of the late Jos. J. MacDuff.

Around on Monday, in his usual health, calling on friends and passing the cheery word to all with whom he came in contact, he returned to his home about 8 p. m., and within a few hours the earthly ties were severed and he passed to the great beyond.

Born at Brookfield, in January, 1878, he spent his early days in that settlement, moving to Charlottetown in 1903. The following six years he spent in this city plying his trade, namely that of mason and bricklayer, and in 1912 was appointed by the Dominion Government, as superintendent of Dominion public buildings, in Prince Edward Island. He held this position for 11 years, when the office was closed out. Moving to the United States in 1923, he remained there until June of this year, when he returned to Charlottetown.

He leaves to mourn his loss, a sorrowing widow, two sons, Vernon, residing at home in Charlottetown and Earle, employed with the John Hancock Life Insurance Co., in Boston, Mass., and the following brothers and sisters, William A., of Everett, Mass., Alexander J., of Newton, Mass., J. Leslie, of Halifax, N. S., Mrs. C. J. Babcock, Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Robert Carson, of Prince George B. C.

In the absence of his pastor, Rev. R. Moorhead Legate, the funeral services were conducted by Rev. G. C. Webster. The funeral was largely attended, burial was at Brookfield Cemetery.

The deceased was a member of Byrne L. O. L., Charlottetown. A number of members from this lodge and visiting brethren attending, holding their service at the grave. The floral tributes were very beautiful. The pall bearers were

CLAD ONLY IN UNDERWEAR

Three U. S. Diplomats Escaped Captors In Persia — Traveled 72 Hours.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11—A word picture of three weary American diplomats hiking over rough Persian mountain trails while clad only in underwear was painted for the State Department in a report from Minister Charles C. Hart at Teheran.

The three unwilling travelers were the victims of Lurs bandits, from whom they finally escaped after the intervention of Imperial Persian troops. Today's reports had the diplomats safely back in Teheran after 72 hours physically unharmed, save for lacerated feet.

Last Thursday, the three men—Robert B. Streper, of Columbus, O., American consul at Teheran; Cyril L. Thiel of Chicago, Ill., and Thomas A. Hickok, of Rochester, Pa., consul and vice-consul respectively at Jerusalem—started out from Kermanshah to complete a leg of their journey from Bagdad to Teheran. Military guards held them up near Sahneh, warning them of danger from the Lurs, but allowed them to continue their journey next day.

Ten miles from Sahneh the brigands swooped down on the unsuspecting Americans. They were robbed, cuffed around, stripped to shirts and shorts and forced to run and walk, alternately over 25 miles of rough mountain road.

"If Persian troops try to rescue you," the captors said, "we'll kill you." Dusk descended over the mountains. The Lurs stopped to divide their loot. Suddenly Persian troops appeared, opened machine-gun fire on the bandits. The diplomats escaped in the confusion.

But they were not yet safe. While approaching the Persian troops, the Americans were fired on. Presumably the Persians thought they were part of the bandit group. So the diplomats again took to the hills and spent a chilly night.

Early next morning the Americans found a Persian scout, who guided them to a military encampment. "The governor at Kermanshah, a former Kadjar prince," Hart reported, "was courteous, regretful and helpful. The governor said that word of the capture was received at noon Friday and that all available troops, some three regiments were immediately ordered out."

"Frankenstein" Thriller Supreme

Arch man-made fiends, life-breathing electrical machines, dangling bodies, human skeletons, ghouls, and wicked hunchbacks all have their sinister places in Universal's shivery, eerie and ghostly, daddy of all the thrill-films, "Frankenstein," that opened to a half-frenzied, half-fascinated, packed house at the Prince Edward yesterday. The weak-nerved patrons had been warned to stay home. So they were there to a man.

There are many scenes in the film that will both literally and figuratively prompt you to clutch at your neighbor's closest arm as the screen very nearly devours you, but there is one in particular that the most blasé will never be able to resist. The excited young Dr. Frankenstein, played brilliantly by Colin Clive, and his devilish little dwarf assistant, Dwight Frye, complete the last surgical operation on their home-made man. They dash to their shrieking electrical inventions and test the life-giving ray.

But it is entirely too precious to give away! Of course you will see "Frankenstein," and anyone who takes the least bit of thrill away from it for you should most certainly be relegated to the basement.

Mae Clarke, the talented little actress who is taking the world's film fans by storm; John Boles of the golden voice, charming manner, and excellent acting ability; sagacious-looking Edward Van Sloan; and chattering Frederick Kerr and Dwight Frye, have many honors to divide in "Frankenstein," but the screen has never seen anything quite like Clive and Karlo in their characterizations.

ISLAND BORN RESIDENT OF DOVER, N. H., HAS AN NOTABLE RECORD

Nine years ago the city of Dover, N.H., celebrated the 30th anniversary of its founding, and the program in connection with the centenary celebration included a parade of scores of floats depicting scenes of long ago. The first prize was won by a float designed by Mrs. Angelina Garvey, a prominent resident and a native of Blooming Point, P.E.I., she being the daughter of the late John O'Hara of that place.

It was entitled "Ye Olden Days" and was drawn by four oxen. The float, which was marked with the years 1623, might also well be entitled "From the sheep to the loom." It showed the shearing of the sheep, the teasing of the wool, the carding making the rolls spinning, and weaving. The loom was procured at Dover but the spinning wheels and the old fashioned twister, which was really a curiously shaped stick, and the winding frames were all brought by Mrs. Garvey from Prince Edward Island.

The women in the float were dressed in old-time costumes with hop skirts, bustles, etc. Mrs. Garvey has a summer home at Blooming Point and has been visiting here for the past six weeks. She will leave on return next week.

Her father was a celebrated violinist, one of the best on the Island in his day. He played at Government House balls years ago. He was a clever gardener and made a number of the designs for flower beds in Queen Square, Charlottetown. Mrs. Garvey has certainly inherited his musical gifts. In fact, she may be termed a musical host in herself. Not only is she an accomplished violinist, but plays the Jew's Harp, the mandolin, the harmonica, the flute and other instruments. She is also a singer of considerable talent, specializing in old time songs. As an all round performer her services are frequently in demand at various functions, including old-time celebrations and fiddlers' contests in New Hampshire and other parts of the States. She has won several medals and cups in musical competition. She has issued a challenge to all the fiddlers in the New England States (barring the late Mellic Dunham, Henry Ford's protege, when the latter was alive), but the challenge, so far, has not been accepted.

ARBITRATION

A number of unpaid bills were approved. Application was received from Carl Kelly for the position of police officer.

With respect to an application of Mrs. John Reid for damages claimed on behalf of her granddaughter, Edith Reid, a communication was read from the Recorder advising the City had no legal obligation in the matter.

Complaint as to impassable condition of the road from the head of Pownal Street westward to the Sanatorium was received. The resignation of J. S. Biggar from the Police Department was read. It was accepted on motion of Coun. Burke, seconded by Coun. Day.

An application from the residents of School Street was read, petitioning for a street light opposite Mrs. George Yeo's residence. The Mayor read an anonymous communication from a rural district about the arrangement of tables in the market building and the importance of the country trade in the market.

A letter from Mr. J. A. MacDonald inquiring about the claim of Mr. Wats for damages, was read by the Mayor. The Recorder stated the matter had been looked into and a report would be forthcoming.

The report of the Chief Health Officer was read. A discussion followed on the Sanitary Officer's recommendation as to the unsanitary condition of the men's lavatory in the market building. There was general agreement that this lavatory was a menace to public health in its present state.

Patrons receiving treatment at the Sanatorium for venereal disease, Dr. Keeping said, were mostly Charlottetown people. Coun. Reardon said he understood there were some jail inmates, non-residents of the Province receiving this treatment at the Sanatorium. This practice, he thought, should not be continued. The Mayor concurred.

Street Work

Coun. Reardon reported that present street work has been started and is now well under way. He discussed the problem of keeping a passable road to the Sanatorium, and suggested the graveling of Ambrose street as the best solution.

On motion of Coun. Hennessey, seconded by Coun. Day, the tender of Messrs. Palmer and Watson for lighting the Queen Square bandstand was accepted, this tender, ($98) being the lowest received.

Coun. Burke referred to the ventilation of the police cells, against which complaint had been received. It was difficult to keep these cells in a sanitary condition. The matter had been looked into.

Coun. Hennessey tabled a motion on this subject. Failure to remove promptly unsanitary material outside the market building was criticised by Couns. Reardon, Burke and Hennessey.

The Police report was read. Coun. Hennessey asked what authority the City Police had to escort prisoners from Queen's County Jail to the Sanatorium. Coun. Burke said this practice had always been followed. Coun. Hennessey maintained there was no authority for it.

Coun. Holman remarked with satisfaction that a contract had been entered into between the Electric Light Company and the Dominion Coal Company to supply between 5,000 and 6,000 tons of Springhill coal annually through the local dealers.

Reporting for the light committee, he said the committee had been investigating the lighting condition at King Street West. It is believed if the trees are trimmed there will be sufficient light; if not, a new light will be placed. A light will also be placed on Pownal St., near the Canadian National Hotel. (A resolution to this effect was adopted later).

The Public Utility Board has informed the Light Committee that they will take action immediately with regard to the light rates dispute, and will be functioning within the next few weeks. Coun. Holman reported. A grant of $10 per month to Mrs. Frances Hearn, widow of the late Mr. Hearn, market clerk, was passed.

Coun. Hennessey said Coun. Doull had refused point-blank to work on any committee and that left only two men on the Public Property Committee.

Coun. Doull said he had resigned from the committees but no action was taken and therefore he was still a member. Coun. Trainor suggested that a third member of the Public Property Committee be appointed to fill Mr. Doull's place.

Coun. Hennessey: "That is what we want to know. Coun. Doull does not seem to know whether he is on or off the committee." Mayor Stewart: "I should judge by the remarks which he has made tonight that he considers he is still on the committee."

Coun. Doull: "I have never refused to do anything in the way of committee work that any of the other committees have come to me about. As to whether I still am on the committees or not, that is purely a matter between his Worship the Mayor and this Council. I resigned, wishing to fall out of the work, as my services did not seem to be satisfactory, and his Worship simply let it rest without taking action. Certainly the fact of my having put in my resignation is of no use if it is not acted on. I resigned from this Council, but there was no action taken, and still I am a member of the City Council—at least I am not put out when I come and take my place. And I have taken my place on every committee, doing all the work that has been asked."

Mayor Stewart: "I think we may safely leave the matter with the Public Property Committee. They can bring in a report at the next meeting."

Other Business

Authorization of a ventilator to ventilate the police cells was obtained on motion of Coun. Hennessey. It was resolved that tenders be called for coal for the City Hall.

Coun. Hennessey gave notice that he would submit for adoption a bylaw to amend the bylaw to regulate restaurants in the city. The Mayor referred to the need of amending the present bylaw in view of the adverse decision of the Supreme Court on a test case. The City still, he believed, had power to legislate with respect to the hours of closing.

Coun. Burke gave notice that he would submit amendments to the by-law with respect to fish and meat products.

Unemployment

Motion being made to His Worship said he had matter to discuss. Erroneous reports, he alleged, had been circulated as to the city's negotiations to obtain a share in the federal unemployment relief. He outlined these negotiations, and referred to a letter he had written to the acting Premier as to the city's responsibility to pay the cost of administering the funds. This letter, he complained, had not been answered and he did not yet know what attitude the local Government was taking. He thought it unfair that the city should pay all the cost of administration.

Coun. Holman thought it should not be necessary, in an emergency, to write letters back and forth when personal calls could be made on the Government. The civic committee, without further delay, should get in touch personally with the local and federal authorities and arrange the matter in a satisfactory manner.

Coun. Trainor said he understood from the Premier that the Provincial Government would only be responsible for the administration of the relief money outside the city. Mayor Stewart maintained that he had had no such understanding.

Street Graveling

Coun. Reardon moved, seconded by Coun. Holman, that the street committee be authorized to place gravel on parts of McGill Avenue and Ambrose Street leading to the Provincial Sanatorium. He stressed the need of giving as much employment as possible at the present time, and declared, in answer to a question, that absolutely no favoritism was being shown in the matter of employment for street work. Those in most need were given first consideration and the shifts were changed at intervals so as to distribute the work equitably. Coun. Holman strongly supported the resolution.

A general discussion followed. Coun. Kennedy pointed out that the estimates had already been exceeded in this department and it was necessary to practice strict economy. He approved of the object but could not sanction the expenditure at this time. Coun. Reardon accordingly withdrew the motion, after again urging its importance. The Council then adjourned.
