Immigration to Canada for the preceding fiscal year, the twelve months ended March 31, 1912, was : 138,710; and from all other countries combined 82,406; total, 354,237.

Percentages of increase are : British, 9 per cent.; American, 4 per cent.; other countries, 37 per cent.; total, 14 per cent.

To illustrate the magnitude of the figures just quoted, it is necessary only to state that last year's immigration to Canada is greater than the total population of New Brunswick, according to the census of 1911, by more than 50,000 souls.

AN ACT OF MERCY.

A young first-grade teacher, whose pupils are mainly the children of foreign parents, thought it a good plan to give them a little talk on the obligation of showing kindness to animals. The next day little Pietro stayed in his seat when his schoolmates went out to play.

The teacher was busy at her desk, and did not notice him until she felt a little hand tugging at her sleeve.

"Why, Pietro," she exclaimed, "what is the matter?"

"Nothin', teacher. I just wanted to tell you how I was good to dumb animals yesterday," he promptly replied.

"Why, isn't that nice, Pietro! Just what did you do?"

Pietro drew himself up to his full three feet, and proudly declared, "I kissed the cat!"

ANTIQUITIES IN EAST LOTHIAN.

Whilst workmen were opening a track, preparatory to laying the pipes in connection with the new water supply to the village of Innerwick and district, they cut through what appears (says a correspondent) to have been an ancient burial ground. In cutting the track across the public road about half a mile east of the village, where it branches to Oldhamstocks on the one side and to Innerwick Station on the other, four stone coffins were exposed. I was unfortunate enough to miss seeing three of them, as the workmen had to close the track before dark for safety to traffic, but I examined the fourth one carefully. This coffin was made of stone slabs, carefully fitted together, its length being 5 feet 11 inches, and its width at the widest part 1 foot 11 inches, both inside measurements; it lay east and west, the head of the coffin being towards the west. The position was the same in the case of all four coffins, as they lay side by side, the fourth one being a little apart. Another correspondent writes:—When breaking ground in Tranent Churchyard, and about twelve inches from the surface, the sexton came upon a heavy flat tombstone, 6½ by 3½. The lettering on the tombstone is almost indecipherable. Beneath another twelve inches of soil lay a skeleton, the bones crumbling away on exposure. No semblance of a coffin was observable, but upon the chest of the skeleton lay a roseate, a decoration of some Order apparently.

The groundwork consists of a piece of brown cloth, some three inches in diameter, and still wonderfully tough. Four pieces of gold and silver interwoven braid overlie the cloth, each piece six inches long, and half an inch in breadth. If there had been a centrepiece it must have been lost in turning up the soil. The gold and some of the silver are quite bright, and each piece of braid had been stiffened with three lengths of very fine steel wire.

A suggestion is that this may be the tomb of an officer who fell at the battle of Preston in 1745, and that his decoration Order had been buried along with him, but there are no signs of clothing with the remains, and there is no tradition extant that any officer other than Colonel Gardner engaged in that battle was buried in Tranent Churchyard, and this tomb lies about thirty paces from the lair of the famous colonel.

A Persistent Misrepresentation of Facts is being carried on by certain firms in this City to the effect that, the oilcloths and linoleums sold by us at from 20 to 30 per cent cheaper than they sell the same goods, are of an inferior quality. This statement we positively deny, and if any customer who is told this, premeditated "falsehood" will only challenge the truth of the statement and demand the proof, we will cheerfully produce our invoices and prove beyond the question of a doubt that we buy direct from the largest and best English and Scotch manufacturers, and that the oilcloths and linoleums sold by us are the best made, and that our prices are the lowest in Canada.

CUSTOMERS HAVE BEEN TOLD that our carpets fade. This is the arguments used by department managers in other stores when they are asked to explain why their prices are so much higher than ours. Some of these customers are our good friends, who came to investigate and found that carpet squares of the same quality were just 20 p. c. cheaper here than in the other stores.

PERHAPS WE HAVE SAID ENOUGH about the slanderous tactics used by competing firms in an effort to justify their high prices, but we want to make it plain, that, if you are buying your house furnishings, curtains, carpets and oilcloths "for cash," you can save from 20 to 30 per cent on your purchases and we give you the largest and best assorted stock on P. E. Island to select from.

The True Reason Why Our Prices Are So Much Lower Than Other Stores is Because We Do a Strictly Cash Business

How To Buy Inlaid Linoleum

There are three qualities of inlaid Linoleum A. B. and C. These qualities are not marked on the rolls, but every firm that sells these goods has the book of samples and the quality is marked plainly on the back of the samples The same pattern is not made in the different qualities For instance, if you see a pattern marked C quality you cannot get that same pattern in either A or B quality and the same rule holds good in the other qualities
