GUILD GIVEN ACCOUNT OF RECTOR'S VOYAGE

(Bambridge Georgia Advance)

Ladies of the St. Mary's Guild of the Episcopal Church met Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. E. Sims, on Planters Street. After the devotional and a short business discussion, Rev. H. Scott-Smith (who was for some time attached to Saint Peters Cathedral, Charlottetown, P. E. I.) gave an interesting and inspiring account of his recent European tour, as follows:

"Crossing the English Channel from Dover to Ostend, we spent the first day of our tour in Brussels, which is called "Paris in Miniature," a beautiful city, full of interest and famous the world over for its lace. We had the opportunity of seeing the lace makers at work. Leaving Brussels, we arrived at Cologne, where we stayed four days. Cologne is famous for its beautiful Cathedral, said to be the most beautiful Cathedral north of the Alps. It took six hundred years to complete. In the Cathedral is the Treasury and one is amazed at the enormous quantity of gold and precious stones. Here they claim to have the bones of the three wise men inclosed in a casket of gold and adorned with hundreds of jewels.

"Leaving Cologne, we embarked in a very comfortable boat for the trip up the Rhine, which I imagine is one of the most beautiful trips in the world. We stayed over the first night at Bonn, which is famous for its University and the birthplace of Beethoven, which is now a Museum containing relics of the great composer such as the original M. S. S. of the Moonlight Sonata. Another night on the Rhine we spent at Coblentz, an interesting old place with beautiful buildings, one of them being the palace of the First Emperor of Germany. We finished the Rhine trip at Wisbaden, the most famous spa in Germany where people come from all parts to drink the waters and take the baths. Here we stayed for a week making several excursions to other cities. Heidelburg, famous for its ancient University and a most beautiful city and old Castle now in ruins, in the cellar of which we saw the largest barrel in the world, holding forty-nine gallons. We also visited Worms, the home of Martin Luther, where there is a wonderful set of statuary to his memory. Frankfort is another city which well repays a visit.

"Returning home through Belgium we visited some of the battle fields and got into the trenches and dugouts. Ypres, one of the most important places in the World War, was bombarded day and night for two weeks and only one house was left standing. Today, it is entirely rebuilt, even to the Cathedral, which is a handsome building. Souvenir-hunters on the various battle fields have not yet removed objects of interest entirely, as we saw boots and water bottles and other things lying around.

"What brought home to one the horrors of war perhaps more than anything else were the visits we made to the Cemeteries with their rows and rows of graves almost always marked with a plain Cross, the emblem of the Prince of Peace.

"One cemetery we visited contained the bodies of eight thousand Belgian soldiers. It caused one to pause and think of the awful waste of life and to hope that the time will come when war shall be no more, and that God will give to the world the blessing of peace."

IN MEMORIAM

JOSEPH FISHER

There passed peacefully away to his Eternal reward at Scotchfort, November 21st, Mr. Joseph Fisher, at the mature age of seventy-six years.

Mr. Fisher was born at Scotchfort, where he spent his life, as an industrious worker. He was a man of sterling character, upright, honorable and a highly esteemed neighbor.

During his illness he was frequently visited by his pastor, Monsignor Maurice McDonald, who administered to him the last sacred rites of the Roman Catholic Church, of which he was an ardent and devoted member.

He is survived by two sisters, Mary Ann, in U. S. A, and Mrs. Patrick McKenna, Scotchfort, with whom he lived and by whom he was devotedly nursed. He is also survived by two adopted children.

The funeral which was held on Monday twenty-seventh, to Tracadie Church was well attended, despite the incongeniality of the weather. After the Requiem Mass his remains were laid to rest in the adjacent cemetery there to await the "Glorious Resurrection." The pall-bearers were: Messrs. Joseph Egan, Alex McKenzie, Edward Hughes, Edward Mullins, John McDonald, John Weir, R. I. P.

Sea-Going Butterflies

The manner in which moths, butterflies and other pests travel the ocean are many. An observant purser on one of the boats plying the Atlantic told an interested passenger that he had seen specimens of the Monarch Milkweed or Black Veined butterfly come over to England from its native America. This was the purser's explanation. "When we leave Norfolk, Va., in the autumn there are always a lot of these butterflies flying about the potato locker, which is on deck, and some of them get shut in and live on such nourishment as they can extract from the potatoes. When they arrive in dock in England they escape. Last summer we had two all the way over that never left the ship until we arrived at Tilbury, and I saw them fly away there."
