

CHILDREN NEED FOOD—NOT ALCOHOL

How careless it is to accept alcoholic medicine for children when everybody knows that their whole health and growth depends upon correct nourishment.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

gives, to improve their nutrition and repair waste caused by youthful activity. During school term all children should be given Scott's Emulsion because it benefits their blood, sharpens their appetite and rebuilds their strength by sheer force of its great nourishing power.

WEST TRYON NOTES.—What might have proven a serious accident, was narrowly averted on Saturday the 23rd by the presence of mind and quick action of Mr. Artimas Carr. Mr. Brenton Lea while loading ice slipped and was quickly surrounded in the ice cold water at the hole from which he had just taken the ice. Mr. Lea's calls for help brought Mr. Carr quickly to the rescue who gave the necessary assistance of landing Mr. Lea on terra firma once more. Needless to say Mr. Lea feels deeply grateful to Mr. Carr for his timely assistance. It is with feelings of regret that his friends learn that Mr. Fred Lorc has sold his farm and intends to launch out in some other line of business in the West. Day by day Mr. Artimas Leard is noticed winding his way to the wood. Artimas believes in having a full wood house in the country. Mr. John Howatt is giving his usual satisfaction driving the school van.

CONCERT AT ELDON.—The basket social and entertainment held at Eldon on Friday night, Feb. 22nd, was a decided success. The night was an ideal one and the Hall was filled to its utmost capacity, standing room being a premium. Judging from the hearty applause and cheers all present were delighted with the efforts of the youthful performers. Miss Annie MacRae of Eldon ably performed the duty of accompanist throughout the evening. Mr. J. D. Martin acted as chairman and the following programme was well rendered. Remarks by Chairman. Bagpipe selections, Mr. J. W. MacLeod. Dialogue, The Mouse Trap. Solo, Long, Trill, Jack MacDonald. (encored.) Reading, Margaret Gillis. Chorus, The Allies. Dialogue, ridget's Investment. A SPLENDID WORK.—The Women Patriotic Society, Bradalbane are still busy knitting for the soldiers regardless of the price of yarn, $1.50 a lb. They shipped 42 pairs in January, 1918, 22 pairs in February and 46 pairs in March which makes 507 pairs shipped to the boys overseas since November, 1916. The Society wishes to thank all those who helped them knit the socks.

ENJOY FERRY TRIP.—Mr. Murray Robertson, of Cavendish and Mr. Jas. E. Andrews of Hunter River, made the round trip by the car-ferry on Wednesday last. They expressed themselves as highly pleased with their trip, and give great praise to the Government for the convenient and regular service they have given this island. They expect to take another such trip in the near future.

A NOVEL AFFAIR.—On the evening of February 27th a very successful bean supper and measuring party, was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. D. McLean, Rice Point, under the auspices of the Devonshire Red Cross Society. The evening was very pleasant and quite a number came from the adjoining districts. The time was pleasantly spent in music and games, and all went away feeling that the evening had been profitably spent. The snug sum of $42.55 was realized, which goes to help along the good work of the society. The committee wish to thank all those who attended or helped in any way to make the affair a success. (Patriot please copy.)

HYMENEAL.—On Monday morning on the 4th inst. a pretty wedding took place in the Manse, St. Peters, where Ethel Blanche McCallum, eldest daughter of Mr. Ebenezer McCallum, St. Peters Bay was married to Harry John McEwen, son of Mr. Adolphus McEwen, St. Peters, who is a prosperous farmer in Elrose, Saskatchewan and who has been in the West for about fourteen years. The marriage ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. M. McLeod and was witnessed by some of the immediate friends of the contracting parties. Miss Lova Anderson presided at the organ, and the bride was given away by her father, and she has been the recipient of many useful presents, including a handsome rug from the St. Peters Red Cross Society of which she was the Treasurer. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. McEwen left for the West. After visiting several cities on the way they expect to be "at home" in Elrose by the last of the month. The couple who are quite popular, will be a valuable asset to the life of the West. Their many friends wish them a pleasant journey and all good wishes for a long and happy life.

Sir Eric Geddes Discusses Shipping

LONDON, March 6.—"Our Allies are making every effort to increase their production of ships," Sir Eric Geddes, First Lord of the Admiralty, said today, "but despite glowing reports in the American press and great as the effort of that country doubtless time must elapse before the desired output is obtained."

Sir Eric said the rate of exaggeration in the German reports of tonnage alleged to have been sunk was increasing steadily.

Sir Eric, whose address was delivered in the House of Commons, said the naval forces of the Allies in European waters would be augmented shortly by a fleet of Brazilian warships.

"I believe the individual piece worker on ships works as hard now as he did last year, when he is actually at work," Sir Eric said, "but he seems readier to take holidays and we cannot afford holidays. If improvement is not speedily made, the point where production balances losses will be postponed to a dangerous extent."

The First Lord said he was seriously concerned at the increasing number of vessels lost at night, and appeared the loss during the corresponding months of the year previous, he added, although during four months of the latter period unrestricted submarine war had not been proclaimed by the enemy.

"I have stated," the First Lord continued, "that the curve of the losses of merchant shipping continues downward. That statement is as true today as when previously made. It is true there have been bad weeks and bad months. February was, in comparison with recent standards, a bad month. But on the other hand, January was a good one.

"As to the curve of the loss in the world's tonnage, only two months of the current quarter have elapsed, but assuming the March loss to be as high as that of February I find that the falling curve continues."

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS.—March 6.—Whatever the future may have in store we know, at least, that the talk of a German offensive in February was untrue. The month ended with quietness and the front remains devoid of anything but local incidents, such as raids sudden burries of artillery and trench mortar fire, and bursts of aerial activity in which we still hold markedly the upper hand.

Sinking Submarines as Fast as They are Built.

"For some months," said Sir Eric, "we believe that we and the Americans have been sinking submarines as fast as they are built."

The trend the figures of loss of shipping by enemy action was steadily improving Sir Eric stated. The loss to the world's tonnage during February was little more than half the loss during February of last year, he said.

It was perhaps natural, Sir Eric continued that co-operation between Great Britain and the United States should be extremely close. On behalf of himself and his colleagues he wished publicly to pay tribute to the untiring and generous devotion to the prosecution of the war which governed the action of every representative of the United States navy with whom he came in contact. The personnel of all ranks, he said, had the respect and esteem of the officers of the British navy.

Concerning ship-building, he said there was no lack of materials at the present time, and that there were more men in the yards, but the output reached only 58,000 tons in January although it should have been much larger. It was true the weather was exceptionally bad and also that January, owing to the holidays always was a bad month for the output of ships. One week or one month could not be taken by itself. He expressed the opinion that February would be shown to have made nearly twice as good a record as January, although only about two-thirds of what the same yards had done previously with fewer men.

U-Boats Destroyed in Increasing Numbers.

Submarines were being destroyed in increasing numbers, he continued, and as the methods employed against them were developed the numbers would be enlarged still further. There was a growing reluctance on the part of the German crews to put to sea. The chances that a submarine would return from a voyage from the waters around England were one in four or one in five.
