IN MEMORIAM
CHARLES L. BUSTIN.
 Charles L. Bustin aged 57 a citizen respected as a business man in his domestic life and activities in Church work, succumbed to a prolonged illness at his home 244 King Street east, Saint John about 2 o'clock Friday morning May 13th. He had been treated by leading surgeons and practitioners of this city and Montreal.
 Mr. Bustin leaves his wife, formerly Mrs. Laura E. Crockett, daughter of the late Amos West, of York, Prince Edward Island, and two children, Edith at home and Mildred, Mrs. Charles Kee of Grand Mere, Que; of a former marriage, their mother, a daughter of the late Andrew Myles, of this city. Three surviving sisters are Mrs. J. D. Howe, Mrs. H. J. Johnson and Miss Rebecca Bustin Saint John.
 Charles L. Bustin had for a considerable number of years been prominent in the furniture trade, enlarging the scope of his business with consistent progress. In all matters in which the good citizenship of business men was called upon the Bustin firm did its share under the management of the gentleman who has passed away.
 Rev. E. E. Styles, pastor of Exmouth street United Church, paid Mr. Bustin a worthy tribute today in saying that as one of the trustees of the church and a member of the Official Board his activity and interest were genuine and constant. He was not a member of any of the leading fraternities, choosing the retirement of his family circle and participation in his church's management. St. John Telegraph-Journal

MR. FREEMAN REEVES.
 The death occurred at Newark, N.J., on June 2nd, of Mr. Freeman Reeves, of Kensington, P. E. I. Mr. Reeves had gone to New Jersey in October, where he was employed as carpenter work. He took pneumonia at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Bastedo, and was taken to the hospital where he had the best of nursing, but the end came on the date mentioned. The remains arrived in Kensington on June 4th, and were buried from his home in Freetown. His daughter, Mrs. Bastedo, accompanied them home, also Mr. John Bastedo and his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Earle Reeves. Mr. Reeves was a hard working, upright man and his death is a great blow to his widow and family of fourteen children. His funeral took place from his home on Sunday, June 5th. The service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Ayers, assisted by Rev. Mr. Sains who spoke feelingly on the occasion. The pallbearers were Albert Connick, John Duggan, Hamfort Reeves, George Reeves, William Sudberry and John Bastedo. The hymns sung were: Asleep in Jesus and Jesus Lover of My Soul, Safe in the Arms of Jesus. The remains were laid to rest in Freetown cemetery.

Enjoyable Reception at Long Creek
 A very enjoyable reception was held at the home of Miss Florence McKenzie, on Monday evening, May 30th, when the members of the Long Creek Women's Institute and their friends went their way to her home to tender her a farewell reception on the eve of her departure to take a training course in the Prince Edward Island Hospital. When all had assembled, the president, Mrs. Norman McLean, called the meeting to order and expressed the regret felt by the Institute in the loss of one of our most valued members, and called upon Miss Jean McArthur to read an address while Miss Mary Stretch made the presentation of a French Ivory toilet set. Although taken by surprise, Florence's good wit did not fail her, and she responded in very cheerful accents, thanking the members for the remembrance, and although somewhat regretful of the fact that she was leaving, nevertheless she was glad of the opportunity of fulfilling her chosen career. The evening was spent with music and games, and needless to say the wants of the inner man were well attended to by the bounteous refreshments served by the ladies present. At a late hour all joined hands and sang, "Auld Lang Syne" and dispersed to their various homes wishing Florence a very enjoyable training career and a successful graduation.

Limbs Were Stiff, Rheumatic All Over
 Wonderful Recovery Made By Mr. Duggan, Who Says "Nerviline" Did It All
 Georgetown, April 4th.—These terrible pains that made life a burden to Mr. A. Duggan, of 26 South Road, of this city, bother him no more. All trace of rheumatic pain has left him, thanks to the curative effect of Nerviline. "No other liniment could have done for me what Nerviline did. My legs were stiff and full of pain. My knee and ankle, joints were swollen and ached. Nerviline penetrated and took out the pain. Stiffness disappeared. Today I am well—thanks to Nerviline."—A. Duggan.

Some Evil Consequences of Prohibition
 BY R. McL. ENMAN

ARTICLE TWO.
 As is generally known, the most militant anti-prohibitionist in the United States is Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, one of the leading educational institutions of the Republic. Several weeks ago he debated with Senator Borah in Boston on the subject of whether the Republic should include a "wet" plank in their 1928 presidential platform. The debate, in which Dr. Butler ably contended that the anti-prohibition plank should be included, was listened to by millions of radio enthusiasts, and attracted nation-wide interest.
 Dr. Butler's scathing denunciations of prohibition are so generally known that it is needless to give any direct quotations from him here.

Lowering Morals of Universities
 In an address delivered to the Princeton Club of St. Louis in January, 1926, Dr. Christopher Gauss, dean of Princeton University, declared the prohibition law is "lowering the morals of all the universities of the United States."
 In asking his hearers to use their influence to repeal or modify the law, he said:
 "We cannot deny that the problem of drinking is a very serious one at Princeton, as at all other American universities. In the time when you men attended the university there were places where the student could drink a glass or two of beer without great injury to himself. Today, if they want to drink, and it is folly to say they will not drink, they must go to a type of place, which, if we call a spade a spade, would be designated a 'dive.'"
 "If you knew the underworld that has grown up since the enactment of that law you would be amazed. Now I regard the attitude of the public and students toward that part of the constitution as one of the most demoralizing influences in the life of the nation."

Students Score Dry Law.
 An editorial in the Daily Cardinal, student publication of the University of Wisconsin, the second largest university in the United States, last autumn declared that prohibition "has accomplished nothing but the ruin of our gastronomic organs, our tastes and our one-time respect for federal law."
 Reformers, who claim that prohibition has been a great success "are hiding their heads in the sand like an ostrich," according to the editorial.
 To prove this, the editorial gave an insight into collegiate drinking by revealing that "it is not difficult for students to secure liquor to commemorate the passing of exams, the meeting of small victories, or other special occasions."
 "One local bootlegger," the editorial continues, "guarantees 10-minute delivery to all student rooms and fraternity houses. All a student has to do is to call a certain telephone number, ask for Jim, and give him an address and the kind of stuff that Jim brings isn't fit for human consumption."

Blames "Big Business."
 Rev. Father Joseph A. Ayd, professor of sociology at Georgetown, Md., University, at a Knights of Columbus convention in Baltimore, in March, 1926, declared that the eighth (prohibition) amendment was added to the United States constitution "only through the instigation of the United States Steel Corporation and the Standard Oil Company."
Canadian Educationalists Oppose.
 Prof. Alfred Baker, of the University of Toronto, speaking of the Ontario prohibition law which was killed last December by the cautious citizens of that province, said: "The O. T. A. has proved a failure, conceived though it was with the best intentions and administered by Attorney-General who earnestly desired its success. It has not stopped the use of liquor; there has grown a contempt for the law; it has created a class of bootlegger who have been enriched beyond the dreams of avarice. Surely it is time to make a change!"
 Principal W. L. Grant, Upper Canada College, Toronto said, previous to the Ontario election: "As a total abstainer of twenty-five years' standing, as one who loves the young men of Canada and whose life is spent in doing his best for them, I am glad to align myself with Canon Cody, Sir Thomas White and Sir John Willison in support of the Prime Minister in his fight against the evils of intemperance and lawlessness."

Is Economic Loss.
 Frequently a supposedly strong argument is given by dry orators in favor of prohibition from an economic standpoint. The following facts gleaned from various sources will serve to dispose of some of that professional prohibitionist tommyrot.
 A California journalist of note, Clemens Horst, says: "The Anti-Saloon League used to boast about the big increase in United States savings bank deposits since 1919. They have given up that argument since it was proved by simple arithmetic that the total increase in America's savings bank deposits since 1919 amounts to a shade less than 1 per cent per day on the total United States population."
 Let the following statistics which the Justice Magazine of Springfield, Mass., has secured from the United States department of commerce at Washington, be analyzed:
 Comparing 1915 with 1919 commercial failures in the United States decreased to the extent of $116,415,540, while comparing 1920 with 1924 they increased $244,265,000.
 Bank failures, comparing 1915 with 1919, decreased $20,702,372, while comparing 1920 with 1924, they increased $155,030,838.
 Federal reserve net earnings, comparing 1915 with 1919, showed an increase of $35,252,010. Comparing 1920 with 1924 they decreased $126,583,188.
 In 1915 the cash back of each $1 deposit in the United States was 27 1/2 cents. In 1924 it had dwindled to 16 1/2 cents.
 Here's one increase, however! Comparing 1915 with 1919, embellements increased $9,965,225, and comparing 1920 with 1924 they increased $32,698,708.
 True, a number of big business men publicly favor prohibition. They believe in prohibition—for the other fellow—those of the common herd who, most of the plutocrats think, exist merely for the big fellow to make a living out of.

Dry Law Bleeds Taxpayers.
 According to statistics obtained at the United States treasury from government reports last autumn, enforcement of the United States prohibition law since 1920 has cost that nation more than $114,724,000. In addition to this outlay, 335 persons were killed in the civil war between federal forces and bootleggers.
New York Bootleggers' Tax.
 Hugh McQuillan, chief of the secret service unit attached to the internal revenue department in New York City, has announced that the income tax collected off of the known bootleggers in that city last year amounted to $5,000,000. That gives just a glimpse of the huge incomes which must be earned by bootleggers by virtue of the prohibition law.
 At the last session of the United States Congress an appropriation of $26,000,000 was voted to defray costs of enforcing prohibition for the current year.
 Andreas Backer, correspondent of the Detroit Free Press and Chicago Tribune, in writing from Oslo on the cost of Norway's prohibition law, which recently has been killed by popular referendum, said: "While it is difficult to calculate the entire cost that prohibition has placed upon the country, it may be safely stated that the total reaches more than 100,000,000 kroner yearly. Losses from liquor taxes reach about 47,000,000 and the cost of fighting smugglers makes up at least another 50,000,000 or more."

Correction
 (Canadian Press)
 GUELPH, Ont., June 9.—The level crossing accident at Puslinch, Ontario, yesterday morning when an automobile was struck by a train and two persons killed and two injured, occurred on the Canadian Pacific Railway crossing, not the Canadian National, as stated in earlier dispatches yesterday. It was a Canadian Pacific train, not Canadian National, which ran into the automobile.
