23RD SESSION

(Special to The Guardian)

GENEVA, March 9.—Mr. Chamberlain, British Foreign Secretary, opened the twenty-third session of the Council of the League of Nations today. One of the main items on the Agenda is the Geneva Security Protocol, which Great Britain is expected to declare unsuited to her ideas.

The British, however, resent advancement of the idea that they are killing the Protocol. Their representatives insist that what they intend to do is to explain their objections to the proposed Pact. The present indications seem to be that action on the Protocol will be postponed to the meeting of the League Assembly in September and that meantime the negotiations for the Guaranty Pact recently proposed will be pushed.

The hope appears to be that the Pact may be made the feature of a revised Protocol, whose aim of pun-ishing any aggressor state would be achieved as by the original measure merely another procedure being adopted.

A British spokesman said after today's meeting that no plans for an Inter-Allied Conference on the Security Pact had been formulated.

THE MARKETS

OTTAWA, Mar. 9.—(Eggs)—Local receipts continue to increase, and these are beginning to displace the United States imported eggs. During the past week prices have gone down steadily, but many consider they are still high for storing purposes.

Trading in poultry is chiefly in frozen stocks, receipts of live and fresh dressed poultry in the east being very light and all in the west. Toronto jobbing specials at 39, extras 37, firsts 35, seconds 31. Montreal unchanged. Winnipeg dealers paying delivered extras 30 to 34, firsts 28 to 32, seconds 24 to 28. Imports last week amounted to 1,071 cases.

Saskatchewan receipts light. Dealers quoting delivered extras 30, firsts 28. Calgary dealers quoting delivered extras 32, firsts 30, seconds 27. Edmonton still using British Columbia eggs. Local receipts light.

MONTREAL, Mar. 9.—There was agood demand from the United Kingdom and the continent of Canada for grain here today and as the prices bid were in line with export's views, the volume of business was the largest transacted here in some weeks. Total sales were estimated at 500,000 to 600,000 bushels.

There was also an increased demand from New York exporters for grain and a good trade was done in this direction on C.I.F. basis. Local exporters were asking for oats, and sales of some round lots were made. It was reported that all the stocks of number two Canadian western and number two feed grades were cleaned up at bay ports, and number four Canadian western sold at four cents per bushel over the Winnipeg May option, and number one feed at one cent per bushel over C.I.F. Montreal and number two feed at six cents per bushel under the same option, C.I.F. Bay port New York exporters were bidding 5 1/2 cents per bushel over the Winnipeg May option, C.I.F. Bay ports for number three barley. The demand for ocean grain room was also better. The feature of the domestic market for coarse grains was the further weakness in oats and prices scored another decline of one cent per bushel. Ontario number three white was quoted at sixty cents and number four grade at 58 cents per bushel ex-store. While prices displayed a better feeling in the spring wheat flour market, there was no actual change in quotations. The condition of the market for winter wheat grades was unchanged. A moderate amount of business was transacted in mill feed and prices were firm. The movement of rolled oats was fair. The egg market was without any special feature to note. A stronger feeling developed in butter and prices were advanced half to one cent per pound, which was attributed to the stronger cables advices. The cheese market was extremely dull, but the trend was steady. Beans were steady at $2.70 per bushel.

City Council

Street Committee, submitted the following program to be followed in building permanent streets this summer. Weymouth Street, from Water to Grafton, Easton Street, from Great George to Rochford, Hillsboro Street from Water to Grafton.

He also proposed macadamizing Grafton Street from Queen to West Streets. Couns. Moran and Taylor thought that Sydney street from Pownal to Great George was in need of attention and should be re-macadamized, with a view to making a permanent street of it later. These two blocks served a good deal of traffic.

Couns. Yeo, Foster and McLeod, said a block of Kent Street from Weymouth to Hillsboro needed repairs. These had been promised before but had been dropped in courtesy to the street committee. A resolution was passed calling for the macadamizing of the Grafton street section.

Coun. Prowse spoke of work that need to be done in Ward five. Coun. Stewart referred to the flooding some time ago of the stream at the North end of Government Pond. He felt that emergency measures as this should be provided for in future.

The Police Report submitted by Sergt. J. S. Walker, showed three convictions for drunkenness, one for vagrancy, one for breaking and entering, and two for stealing. Seventy-four citizens were notified in respect to the snow-cleaning by law.

Coun. McLeod, chairman of the fire committee, said that the recent tryout of the Silby engine had showed it to be in remarkably good working order for so old a machine. At times it had attained a pressure of 120 lbs.

Resolutions were passed as follows: A resolution that the salary of the Meat and Milk Inspector be $75 a month starting from January 1, 1925.

A resolution expressing the sympathy of the Council to the family of the late Marshal Cameron. Coun. Rattray in moving the adoption of this resolution, Coun. Moran seconding it, several other of the Councillors and His Worship all paid tributes of respect to the memory of the late Marshal and spoke in appreciation of the long service he had rendered the city as a law officer.

A resolution was passed asking the City Clerk to advertise for applicants for the position of City Marshal.

Coun. Stewart then read an amendment to the Act of Incorporation in regard to the licensing and regulation of dance halls, restaurants, and similar establishments within the city.

DISPLAY CABINETS China Cupboards, Old Dressers and Vitrines

It is not generally realized today that a great deal of Colonial furniture was intended to be brightened by a piece of china, says Esther Singleton in the "Antiquarian." In the open space between the scrolls of a bookcase, a pediment, or the top of a highboy, a place is often left for a bust, figure, jar, or a basket of fruit or flowers.

Very frequently on the top of a highboy, or case of drawers, when the slab was level, three graduated mahogany steps were placed and the china arranged formally, making a kind of pyramid. Occasionally these mahogany "china steps" come into an auction room, or an antique shop; but they are growing very scarce. There is no mystery, nor any difficulty, about making them. Any plain cabinet-maker can accomplish this; and the effect is so fine that the style of decoration should be revived.

As a rule in Colonial times ornamentation pieces and figures such as Bow, Chelsea and Derby make, including portrait busts of favorite heroes and actors of the day were imported. Ornamental china is advertised constantly in the New York papers and its place in the decoration of the house is noted.

After collectors have gathered choice objects, the important question arises as to the best method of displaying them.

The number of shelves was regulated by etiquette; two shelves were permitted to a baronet; three to an earl; four to a princess, and five to a King or Queen. An old rule reads: "The dresser's countess should have three shelves, on which should be ranged dishes, pots, fagons and large drinking-cups, while on the broadest part of the dresser there should be two large wax candles, to be lit when any one is in the room." Here, we have an idea of the formal arrangement of the handsome table.
