A CH'TOWN MAN'S THRILLING EXPERIENCE

The Guardian has received a clipping from the Daily News Advertiser of Vancouver, B.C., telling of the experience of the two engineers from Prince Rupert who were cast adrift on Cape Fox, Alaska, and were lost for fourteen days.

"We left Stewart on the morning of May 10th," said Mr. Agnew, "intending to come direct to Prince Rupert. We took only enough provisions for the trip."

Realizing that life on the cape would be short, the heroes took the hull by the horns and decided to fight fate to the last ditch.

"On Sunday, May 18th, we got on our 'life preserver' and took little Pat, the dog, with us. Poor little fellow, he had a hard time, but he pulled through."

"A half hour later, about a quarter of a mile from Port Simpson, we sighted Mr. Hamilton's launch coming towards us. Our hearts leaped with joy. We were saved! We got into the launch and one of the first things was bread and butter. I tell you I never tasted anything so good in my life before."

"The rescue caused many to feel relieved. From the time it was first discovered that Agnew and Tooker were lost, searching parties have been scouring the whole coast."

Suits that are Becoming Smart and Stylish

Suppose if you thought you could have a real expert clothes designer to design and cut your clothes and supervise the work of finishing you'd think you had got a bargain if you got one at the same price as custom tailors charges.

Now it's just this kind of work that finds its way in our suits—they were designed and cut by artists, finished by expert workmen and are shown here in a profusion of summer elegance.

You can understand that these high salaried designers are capable of putting more style and expert workmanship in suits than common custom tailors. Its extra finish here, the exceptional material there and the touch of the artist throughout that places our suits head and shoulders above common clothes.

It's quality that counts—and quality is emphasized stronger in our swell summer suits than it ever was before.

Ask to see our suits from 12.00 to 25.00.
