

Girls! Have the Long Beautiful Hair that is Rightfully Yours

Short, scraggly, unsightly hair is more of a habit than anything else.

Hair must have intelligent care. Merely combing and washing will not keep it in a healthy condition, and give you the abundance of hair nature intended you should have.

should be used at frequent intervals, because it keeps the scalp free from dandruff and harmful matter due to perspiration. Herpicide keeps the scalp in a healthy condition permitting the hair to have its normal growth and sheen.

It is astounding how many men and women will go through life with little or no hair and with what they have in a very unhealthy condition, when at a very small cost, they could get Newbro's Herpicide and save and beautify their hair.

Herpicide is sold and guaranteed at drug and department stores everywhere. Applications at barber shops.

Send 10 cents in stamps or coin today for sample and booklet on the care of the hair. Address: The Herpicide Co., Dept. 180-B, Detroit, U. S. A.

Inspiring Speech by Premier Arsenault

hours last year, I may mention the fact that I disposed of ten thousand letters and telegrams, employing two stenographers. Someone has remarked that I received the magnificent salary of $2700. Well, notwithstanding that exceedingly magnificent remuneration I was $500 short, in spite of my best endeavors to economize. The Premier is not extravagant, let me tell you, and there is little fear of his becoming rich on that salary. However, that is by the way. Now, the question that confronts us is: How are we going to get the money that is needed? I will never ask the people of the province to pay one red cent more in taxes until all efforts have been exhausted to collect what is due us in Ottawa. For twenty years before we came into power it had been stated that we had at Ottawa claims which, if recognized, would furnish us with sufficient money to carry on our affairs as they should be carried on. But those claims were never urged. They were neglected until they Government came into power, and when they were put forward and pressed with such force that they were partly recognized, and the door was left open for succeeding representatives of the province in the future to push them.

The Premier proceeded to remind his audience of the enormous advantage to the province of the Car Ferry and the fact that the Borden Administration was the first to put this province into continuous communication with the mainland in the matter of transportation. He then said that Mr. Bell had undertaken, if elected to office, to send a man around the country to teach the fishermen how to fish. But what the fishermen needed was the proper facility to dispose of their catch; they Government came into power, and with the widening of the railway gauge both fishermen and farmers would be able to send their produce right through to point of destination. We had been getting 15 cents less for our potatoes than New Brunswick although we had the same markets, this inequality being due to lack of proper transportation. The Premier then referred to the cable communication which the Conservative Government had established with the mainland and the great boon it was to the province. He then said: These things were done between 1912 and 1915. In 1912 we went to the country on big issues and you returned us with an overwhelming majority. We had the people at our back and were in a position to press our claims against the Dominion in the assurance that the entire province was in sympathy with us. The Dominion Government realized the force of our argument and conceded our claim. It was not a matter of charity, but the fulfilling of an obligation that had been long neglected. In 1915, however, the people lost sight of the big things and centred their attention on the small and trifling matters that were brought before them by an Opposition that had no constructive or progressive policy to offer, but rather indulged in criticisms and personal attacks. The Government was placed in a precarious position and very nearly defeated. What impression did that fact create in Ottawa? Governments are after all only human, and the Ministers in Ottawa felt that the people of this province were unappreciative and did not care about the big things that had been accomplished for them, and when we went to the Capital, naturally we found a different and less ardent atmosphere. Since 1915 we have not been pressing these things at Ottawa, chiefly because of the war, but also by reason of the fact that we also did not have our mandate. Our claims are waiting to be pressed at Ottawa, and it is for you to say who you believe can best collect them. Will it be the Government led by myself or one led by Mr. Bell? If you reject the Government that was instrumental in securing the rights of the province and return a party opposed to the Government at Ottawa, can any reasonable man expect that that Government, equitable and fair though it is, will regard the attitude of the people of this province as other than unappreciative of what is really great and important.

A voice: Pardon me, Mr. Premier, Aren't we supposed to have a Union Government at Ottawa? Then, what would it matter what government was returned here?

The Premier: Yes, there is a Union Government at Ottawa which Mr. Bell and the Liberal Party of this province fought tooth and nail; and there is a Union Government which is going to be fought by the party that is to be organized at Ottawa next month and to which Mr. Bell and his partner will go as delegates. It is a Government that is being fought by the local Opposition, and this is the only province in Canada in which no union was effected, through no fault whatever of ours. Now, Mr. Chairman, I ask again: Who do you believe can best collect our claims at Ottawa—the present Government with a record of successful achievements at Ottawa behind it, or a party that for twenty years was unable to secure anything for the province, even though it had a similar government at Ottawa. I cast no reflections on anyone, but simply place the situation before you as it is. Whatever you do, you must give a decisive and emphatic verdict in favor of the Government if you will have our rights recognized and conceded. You must strengthen the hands of the Government so that they may go to Ottawa, as in 1912, feeling that they have the moral support of the entire province behind them, inspired to impress upon the Dominion authorities the unanimous sympathy of our people in the cause for which we shall plead. Come what may, I ask you in God's name to go and vote as your conscience dictates; vote in the way you think best in the interests of the province, paying no heed to the small and transient things that mean nothing to the future prosperity and greatness of our island, but having in view the big things and the important problems that face us all. I have sufficient confidence in the electors of this province to know that their honesty and integrity will guide them to a just and proper verdict, and one that will demonstrate with no uncertainty the fact that the intelligence of the people of Prince Edward Island cannot be flouted with impunity.

At the conclusion of his remarks the Premier was accorded a magnificent ovation.
