Your Fall Coats are Magnificent

Remarked a lady at our Fur and Mantle opening yesterday "I certainly did not expect to see such beautiful garments in Charlottetown and the prices are so reasonable."

The speaker was a fair critic. Our showing of Fall Mantles is certainly a magnificent one. All the leading styles are represented. Here you may choose from the cream of the celebrated Norway and Britannia makes—our ability to place largest orders giving us the preference and first choice of the most splendid garments.

Every garment is exclusive with us, cannot be seen elsewhere. And as we show but one or two of a style—excepting in the lowest prices—our customers are spared the mortification of meeting duplicates of their choice at every street corner.

Comparison we invite will best serve to show the exceptional merits of our garments.

We advise early choosing, otherwise you may miss the garment you would most desire.

After a long illness, borne with patience and Christian resignation there passed away at St. Andrew's, on August the 14th ult., Mary Ann, beloved wife of Richard Egan. For a long time infirm health, knowing only the shadow, the sunshine of life denied her, she bowed cheerfully in submission to the will of the Almighty Father and murmured not against the Divine decree. Her remains were interred at St. Andrew's, on Friday morning the 16th, where a Requiem Mass was celebrated by the pastor, Rev. A. P. McLellan. The services at the grave were conducted by the Rev. P. D. McGuigan of Tracadie, the choir being assisted by Rev. James Morrison of Charlottetown and Rev. R. J. Gillis, St. Peter's.

On Tuesday evening, Aug. 29, the farm residence of Andrew McLeod, French River, was the scene of a very pretty home wedding on Aug. 21 when his daughter Helena Florence was married to J. F. Profit in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives of the contracting parties. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. D. Sterling of Kensington, at 7 p. m. As the last refrain of the wedding march was being played by Miss Minnie Inman, sister of the bride, the bridal party entered the parlor and stood under an arch of evergreens entwined with flower plants. The bride attired in white, was attended by her sister Miss Lottie Inman, while G. W. Profit supported the groom. After the ceremony the guests repaired to the dining room where to partake of the good things provided by the host and hostess. The evening was very pleasantly spent with music and singing. The sudden appearance of a large number of friendly visitors who come to extend congratulations added new interest to the pleasant occasion. The bride was the recipient of many valuable presents which bore testimony of the esteem and high regard in which she was held by her friends.
