TEETH!

FILLING AND CROWNING MADE ABSOLUTELY PAINLESS.

While improvements have been going on in science generally dentistry has not been standing still. The "Berlin System" is based upon the knowledge that the conditions of dental sensibility are numerous requiring a wide range of remedies. The "Berlin System" of painless dentistry embraces every method known to the profession at large, and some that are not generally known. It succeeds because it takes each of the various sensitive conditions into account.

DENTAL SPECIALIZATION

This is the age of specialists, and in no profession is specialization more important than in dentistry. Time was when one could acquire a knowledge of dentistry in a short time, but in the last few years the profession has grown by leaps and bounds, until now it is beyond the attainment of any one man. It is best practiced by the co-operation of several men, each devoting his time to a special branch. We divide the work into parts and have specialists for each part.

NARCOTILE

for painless dentistry is a grand success. If you have tooth troubles we will be glad to talk with you face to face.

THE BARR COLONY.

The Barr colony is practically broken up already. The Rev. Dr. Barr has had a lively time at Saskatoon, the point from which the tack into the wilderness had to be made. A number of his colonists balked for which they are not to be blamed. They found by the time they reached Saskatoon that their money was practically exhausted by the purchase of stock and implements, and they had nothing on which to subsist while getting land under tillage. Under such circumstances they refused to trek into the wilderness and face the certainty of starvation. A meeting was called, at which Mr. Barr had an altercation with Mr. Olinckill, the member for Saskatoon, and ejected him forcibly. Finally another meeting was called, at which the practical direction of the colonists was taken over by Mr. Speers, the government agent. Eighty of the colonists declared themselves to be without ten pounds in cash, and one hundred and fifty desired to leave the party and get work. The eighty are being provided with transportation and implements, and the one hundred and fifty are being assisted to find work. Stories are being related of the helplessness and incapacity of the colonists, which would be amusing if they were not so pathetic. A great many of them seem to have only the dimmest idea of how to handle horses or oxen, and not the faintest conception of their value. The colony is lumbered up with all kinds of farming machinery and household goods of an utterly unsuitable character, and by experience and training the colonists are about the most unfit people who could possibly be conceived to make their home in the wilderness. The colonists seem to have absolutely lost heart at Saskatoon, but apparently the government agent has been successful in putting fresh heart into them by assuring them that they would not be left to starve, that the government would see them through, and that if they put their labor and money out under proper direction they would be ultimately successful. The feeling in Canada towards the colonists will be one of warm sympathy and encouragement, and the government's obligation to see them through must be carried out at any cost to the country; but the feeling in Canada towards the Rev. Mr. Barr is bound to be of a very different character, and Canada's attitude towards all such experiments in the future should be extremely reserved. This gentleman put himself on record as either a fool or a knave when he played upon the idea that such an aggregation as his colonists are could possibly be of importance in modifying Canadian national character, and remedially affecting the Canadian West in its relations to the United States. Colonists in leading strings are not, and can never be successful. The best thing the government can do, both in the interests of the colonists and of the country, is to cut the leading strings as soon as it can conveniently do so.

THE MONTREAL STRIKES.

The labor situation at Montreal has become such a menace to the whole Dominion that some authoritative steps should be taken at once to bring it to an end. It is impossible for the average citizen, either outside of that city or in it, to come to a clear and intelligent judgment as to the merits of the various disputes now pending between employers and employees. It will take time and patient inquiry to decide who are entitled to public sympathy, and, therefore, it is both unwise and unnecessary to express any opinion just now on the point.

It is perfectly manifest, however, that the whole foreign commerce of Canada is in a condition which is already very serious and may soon become disastrous. Montreal is the great emporium of the Dominion. Through it passes practically all the trade of the St. Lawrence. It is the point of transshipment from upper lake and river vessels to the seagoing steamships, while three great railway systems are depositing immense quantities of freight on its docks. A large number of ocean vessels are now in the port waiting to be unloaded and reloaded, and as much of the freight is perishable a great deal of irretrievable loss has already been incurred. If a stop is not speedily put to the foolish and wasteful civil struggle, the local and temporary derangement of industry will become a general and permanent detriment.—Globe

A correspondent of the New York Sun writes to that paper to say that President Roosevelt doesn't know how to pronounce his own name. He points out that the President pronounces it R-z-velt, in three syllables, whereas it should be Rooz-velt, in two syllables. The writer of this communication signs himself Richard E. Mayne, chairman of the department of reading and speech culture, New York State Teachers Association. This is a rather formidable title, but on the whole we think the pronunciation chosen by the gentleman who has inherited the name is entitled to respectful consideration. He doesn't belong to the reading and speech culture class, but he may fairly be presumed to know a thing or two on the subject of his own family name.

FOR BOYS' GUIDANCE.

On a Crop of Wheat and Beans a Harvest Worth Having.

"Don't be deluded into the belief that it is smart to know things that you wouldn't like to tell your mother," writes Ruth Anderson in an article on "That Boy of a Boy" in March Ladies' Home Journal. "Don't think it is smart to listen to stories that are not nice and which are about women—that is a peculiarity of boys! Never read a book that you could not share with your sister, and never look at a picture that might not be framed and hung in her room. 'What? You think somebody will call you 'giry'? Oh, no, my dear boy. If anything is said about your conduct there will be approbation given you, and the chances are that the older man will say of the younger one who is properly modest, 'Brown is a nice fellow; I should like him to come and see my daughters.' It is not necessary for you to see the folly of anything. That is an exploded theory. Why should you sow a crop of wild oats? Why not sow a crop of wheat and get a harvest worth having? From day to day, my boy, you make up the story of your life, and it is the little things, the little honest things, that will make you a man, mentally as well as physically."

PHYSICAL WEAKNESS.

A Dangerous Invitation to Nervousness and Fevers of all Kinds.

With the increasing strain of modern life, the power and vigor which characterized our forefathers is growing less and less. Nervous wrecks so common in the generation were unknown in the olden days. Life was not so strenuous, and more attention was paid to the ordinary rules of health. The average individual to-day is working to the limit of his powers. When an extra strain is imposed the nerves get on edge, digestion goes wrong, and because there is no reserve to fall back upon, ill health is inevitable. For a thousand reasons weakness is a sin against your own body, and a sin against your family. The wise man will keep up his vitality by using Ferrozone. One tablet taken at meal times works wonders. It says to the stomach, "do your work properly," and assures that that organ is doing so. It makes digestion perfect, converts everything you eat into the kind of nutriment valuable in forming rich blood, the real secret of health. Ferrozone continually carries on a process of rebuilding, and develops a wonderful reserve of strength. It brings back lost color, banishes weakness, weariness, headache, backache, nervousness, and cures all derangements of the stomach, bowels, kidney and liver. You may use Ferrozone with the utmost confidence. It's not like other remedies. It is different because it cures. Price 50 cents per box or six boxes for $2.50, at all druggists, or by mail from The Ferrozone Company, Kingston Ont. Ferrozone Assures Health.

IMPORTANT TO FARMERS OF PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND.

A few days ago Messrs. Carter & Co., Limited Seelmen of Charlottetown sent a sample of their "Export" brand of Mammoth Late Red Clover Seed, of which they received one carload (35,000 lbs) to the Director of Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, to be analyzed. They have just received a report from J. Fletcher Esq., Botanist of the Department of Agriculture as follows: MESSRS. CARTER & Co. LTD. Charlottetown, P. E. I. May 6th, 1908.

GENTLEMEN.—In reply to your favor of the 30th ult. addressed to the Director I beg to inform you that I have looked up the sample of Clover Seed mentioned by you, and find that it is an excellent sample, and practically free of weed seeds. As a matter of fact there were a few seeds of unimportant weeds, such as Pigeon grass, and these formed the proportion of about 1 in every 2,000 seeds of good clover. Yours very truly, J. FLETCHER.
