WEATHER PROGNOSTICS.

(Acadian Recorder.)

In a climate like that of Nova Scotia, where uncertainty is the prime element, it is only natural that the weather should be a theme of deep interest and of constant conversation. Indeed the Blue-nose, whenever you meet him, is certain to make some observations upon the heat or the cold, the rain or the shine, proving how much the weather is always with us. This fact makes all meteorological learning a thing of added interest, and when it is known that there is a whole series of recognized signs by which the atmospheric conditions can be foretold or fore-guessed, every Nova Scotian wants to read. From time immemorial the weather prophet has flourished among the children of men, and the odd fact about it is that the modern scientific meteorological observations have to a surprising extent re-affirmed the old fashioned home-made forecasts. Quite recently the New York "Sun" published a compilation of these and they form interesting reading.

When standing on high ground and the horizon is unobstructed from all quarters, if the sky is absolutely cloudless, look for a storm within forty-eight hours.

If it starts to rain after seven o'clock in the morning it will continue to do so all day, and very often it is the indication of a three days' rain.

When it is raining and it brightens and darkens alternately you can count on an all-day rain, with a chance of clearing at sundown.

When the rain ceases and the clouds are still massed in heavy blankets, one sure sign of clear weather is the patch of blue sky that shows through the rift large enough to make a pair of sailor's breeches.

Another sign of continued rain is when the smoke from a chimney hovers low around the house-tops. When it ascends straight in the air this indicates clearing weather.

A foggy morning is usually the forerunner of a clear afternoon.

A thunder-storm in winter (usually in January or February) is always followed by clear, cold weather. It is not, as many think, the breaking up of winter.

People living near the seashore say a storm is "brewing" when the air is salty, caused by the wind blowing from the east.

A red or copper-colored sun or moon indicates great heat. A silvery moon denotes clear, cool weather.

The old Indian sign of a dry month was when the ends of the new moon were nearly horizontal and one of them resembled a hook on which the Indian could hang his powderhorn.

Many people troubled with rheumatism and neuralgia usually are excellent barometers and can predict changeable weather by "feeling it in their bones."

And the advice of all the old weatherers is "never go out during April month without being accompanied by your umbrella!"

CIRCUS GIRL AND TIGER ARE PALS

Sweet and winsome is Nettie Dill who trains tigers with John Robinson's circus which will be in Borden Friday, July 4th. Miss Dill is shown in the picture with "Selling" her favorite big contented house cat.

were in a tight corner and had received orders to take no prisoners," replied the officer. "Buck" saw one of our boys talking to a German. He walked up behind our man, putting his hand on his head said: "Move your head." Then he put his revolver in the German's face and blew out his brains. "You should never talk to a German unless he is dead," he admonished our man, who was covered with the German's blood."

The story of how Hutchinson won his D.C.M. was told by Col. Nelles. While the fight was raging round Abancourt at the end of last September, Hutchinson found two German "75" field guns. He had seen guns fired, but there his knowledge of them ended. Lugging them round, he pointed them at the town of Abancourt. He did not know how to sight them, so propping up the trail, he looked down the barrel until he had them trained on the mark.

Then he opened fire. At first, thinking the Canadians were going to enter the town, he did not fire any gas shells, but later when he discovered that they were not going to attack, he opened fire with some gas shells which the Germans had left near the guns. One hundred and fifty shells, at a range of 1,200 yards, were sent by Hutchinson into the town. So great was the damage done that the Germans opened up a barrage all round him, but he went on firing as if nothing had happened. "And he only came away when a company commander forced him to, because he was drawing so much fire on our men," said Col. Nelles. "Our guns were firing very badly that day, and I honestly think that 'Buck' alone did more damage than all our batteries did together."

A "BATTALION MURDERER."

"The Battalion Murderer" is the peculiar name bestowed upon "Buck" Hutchinson, of East Caledon, sergeant in the Fourth Battalion, by his admiring comrades. Hutchinson is an "Original," holding the reputation of having killed more Germans than any other man in the regiment. To meet him one would find it hard to believe, for anyone less like a "murderer" would be hard to find. A young fellow, tall and solidly built, he is an athlete all over. He has a slow smile and speaks—very quietly. He is very popular.

"I'm sorry I haven't any story I can give you," he said when interviewed recently. He was perfectly willing to talk, but "really couldn't think of anything of interest."

It was from some of his officers that the story of certain of his exploits was finally secured. "We never kept track of his record, but I do know that in two days he killed, single-handed, thirty-one Germans," said a lieutenant. On September 27 he killed 17, and on October 1 he killed 14. When I saw him he was blood from head to foot. He had used up all his own ammunition, and was carrying two German automatics he had taken."

"Do you know the story about Hutchinson telling a man to move his head?"

"That occurred at a time when we

FAMOUS TANLAC DRAWS MEDICINAL INGREDIENTS FROM POINTS FAR AWAY—NOTED CHEMIST DIRECTS LABORATORY

The ingredients of medicinal elixirs which make Tanlac, come from many remote sections of the earth—West Indies, Mexico, Peru, Central America, the Alps, the Pyrenees, Africa, Russia, Asia, Arabia, Persia, and our own Rocky Mountain sections are among the points from which the principal parts of the preparation are obtained.

In the laboratory of the Cooper Medicine Company, Inc., in Dayton, Ohio, and Walkerville, Ont., under the efficient direction of a celebrated chemist, these medicinal roots, herbs and barks are assembled in the rough and painstakingly developed so as to obtain that high standard of efficiency shown by the uniform preparation, Tanlac.

In sterilized bottles, made expressly for the purpose, Tanlac is placed, labeled and cartoned; the preparation is inspected again and then crated, ready for shipment to points over the world where the demand requires.

Many called throughout the day Saturday at Reddin Bros., Drug Store, to find out just how the famous medicine Tanlac was sold, how it was prepared, and what the preparation actually looked like.

In commenting upon the wonderful amount of interest shown, the Tanlac representative said:

"The success of the opening day of the introductory sale of Tanlac has by far exceeded my expectations. I have been agreeably surprised by the knowledge the public seems to have of the preparation. While many came merely to see what the medicine actually looked like, equally as many came prepared to obtain the preparation. These people simply asked for Tanlac, and the facility with which the medicine was distributed throughout the day proved somewhat of a revelation to the management of our local agencies.

"I am, indeed, gratified," he continued, "to see such marked enthusiasm and I now feel justified in predicting that Tanlac will prove just as successful in Charlottetown as it has in the larger cities of the east and middle west. I do not believe that I am over-estimating the success of the medicine when I state that I am confident that from five hundred to a thousand people will call and obtain Tanlac during the next ten days."

Tanlac is sold in Charlottetown by Reddin Bros.—(Adv.)

The poet and the prophet are always near akin, and the weather prognostics quite easily lend themselves to verse form, so that the following lines are quite in accord:

Rain in the morning the sailor's warning;
Red at night the sailor's delight.
When you see a mackerel sky,
'Twill not be many hours dry.
When the seagulls fly
Know ye that a storm is nigh.
A ring round the moon
Means a storm is coming soon.
When it rains before seven
'Twill clear before eleven.

HARD WORKING WOMAN

Knows from Experience that Nothing Equals Vinol to Create Strength.

Holmdel, N.J.—"I live on a farm and am a hard working woman and for weak, rundown, overworked conditions have found nothing that will create an appetite, build me up and make me strong equal to Vinol."

Mrs. Thomas Ellis.

The reason we recommend Vinol for such conditions is because it is a constitutional remedy and all of its ingredients are printed on each package which will prove that it is a safe and valuable remedy to create strength for weak, rundown, overworked men, women and children.

E. A. Fisher, Central Drugstore, Charlottetown. Vinol is sold in Montague by H. J. Mahon and the best drugstores in every town and country.
