Harland Meets With Mishap

A hole fifteen feet long was torn in the boat deck of the S. S. Harland by the end of the Hillsboro Bridge draw last evening, as the boat was coming to Charlottetown from the East River, owing to an accident to the drawbridge machinery. The draw struck the vessel on the port side, and besides tearing through the deck like paper, bent one of the rail stanchions so that it penetrated a cabin wall, and smashed one of the life boats into match wood.

One hundred passengers, most of them women, were aboard the boat at the time, and it is almost miraculous that scores of them were not injured by flying wood splinters. As it was, several of them received bad cuts and bruises, and Mrs. William Davey, wife of Conductor Davey, met with painful injuries to her side, necessitating immediate medical attention. Several of the women fainted in the excitement. It seems that the accident, which occurred about six o'clock, was due to a faulty engine, used for opening and shutting the draw. The draw partly opened as the vessel approached and then stuck. The captain had not sufficient stop room in which either to star or turn his vessel, and the end of the draw struck the port side of the ship.

The lower works of the vessel being below the level of the draw, were not damaged, and the boat proceeded without trouble to its usual berth at Bruce Stewart's wharf, from where the injured people were at once taken to their homes by auto.

ANCHORS NOSE ROVERS

OUT IN NINTH, SCORE 8 TO 7

Batting Rallies by Both Teams in Latter Innings Thrill Upwards of Thousand Fans - Players Entertained Afterwards at Prince Edward.

BY (TEC)
ANCHORS 8; ROVERS 7
The fighting Rovers, truly named after many exhibitions of rugged baseball, easily lived up to their reputation last evening at the Abegweit grounds, when they lost a hard fought and thrilling diamond battle to the West End Anchors, by a score of 8 to 7.

Upwards of one thousand spectators witnessed the hair raising duel, and not until the last base was pitched could a solitary customer pick winning team. The final out of the best and most exciting games in the City League this year. The climax was also fitting when Cronin hailed Alyward's deep fly down in left field for the third out. McEachern was on third at the time and could easily have tied the score on a sacrifice, but such are the fortunes of baseball.

Hard and timely hitting by both teams with the bags crowded was a feature of the tilt, especially in the seventh and eighth innings, when the Rovers counted seven times and the Anchors six, one run for the latter in the ninth however spelled disaster for the North End ball tossers.

"Putty" Connors working on the mound for the losers hurled a great game throughout, but could not stop the rejuvenated tribe of Anchors batsmen who garnered eleven scalps over the rough and strewn course.

Hobbs who started for the winners was well within himself until the seventh when he weakened before a collection of hits to be re-lieved by McFarlane, the latter taking the slab in the face of a five to one score to pull his team-mates out of a bad hole. The band behind him reciprocated to bat over six runs in the eighth and one in the ninth as above mentioned, to help him win a thrilling contest.

The Rovers were the least of offenders, having three errors over the route, while their opponents counted for six.

Strikers seemed to be at a premium only fourteen being chalked up to the three hurlers at last evening's game. He had a hard time controlling the above mentioned enthusiasm, especially when the Anchors pulled out of the fire in the fatal ninth to win a well earned verdict.

Twenty dollars was the sum total of the hat collection last evening, and nearly all by nickels at that. Can one imagine the smallness of the contribution—less than two and a half cents a head. If a nine inning game of ball, such as the callibre played last evening isn't worth more than two and half red cents, then baseball in this city is in a class by itself. It would be a good idea to put on a bargain day and charge a gate as a mission of one cent per spectator, this would surely satisfy the conscience of the "hat shy fans." Two and a half cents—pardon the yawn!

Umpire Jack McAleer played as hard a game last evening as any individual on the diamond. He was in there all the time, and at the conclusion of the contest, separated himself from protector and mask to remark, "these goodness Anchors 8; Rovers 7."

Tom White on the bases called them in big league style, his decisions being snappy and up to style on every play.

After the game the ball players of the three teams were the guests of the Prince Edward management where, John McGraw's new series of ball pictures are now being shown, the first of which is entitled "Play Ball". To say that the players enjoyed Bob Meusel, Frankie Frisch, Helme Groh, Frank Snyder and other New York Giant men doing their "stunt" would be putting it mildly. Each and every ball player in the audience last night were on their toes and voiced their opinions afterwards that "Play Ball" and John McGraw is sure to go over big with local audiences.

Why Sharples Needs No Fixing

The reason is self-evident: Strong, simple construction! Sharples has only half as many parts as most separators—but each part is doubly well made! It has taken over a third of a century of constant development to bring the Sharples down to its present state of sturdiness, simplicity and freedom from repair troubles.

311-tight Gear-Case -oil once a month only No discs or blades, to get bent or worn and throw the bowl out of balance. Only one piece in the Sharples Bowl. No oilers, oil holes or oil distributing grooves to get plugged. Oil in gear case oiled everything. No seal bearing to wear out and cause hard turning. Sharples has ball bearing running in oil. No steel points under spindle to wear out and create friction. Sharples doesn't use this at all. No wear on spindle. Sharples flexible spindle absorbs vibration. No set operating speed—no poor skimming when turned too slow. Sharples skims clean at all speeds. No variation of cream—no high supply tank—no exposed gears—no washing of discs—no oil-drip shaft. Sharples perfect design eliminates these.

SHARPLES SUCTION-FEED CREAM SEPARATOR

Sharples is troubleproof! Better still it is cream-waste-proof—owing to the wonderful Suction-feed, which insures clean skimming at all speeds—true of no other separator. We'll be glad to demonstrate to you any or all of the above features. Bring the women-folks too—they'll like the easy turning and easy cleaning. Remember Sharples is made by the oldest and greatest separator factory in America—and guaranteed practically forever.

TOM MIX IN HIS LATEST PICTURE; THE NEW SERIAL "PLAY BALL" AND THE CLOSING CHAPTER OF "THE GREEN ARCHER."

"It's like standing in King Tut's tomb," said Tom Mix as he entered one of the Pueblos along the Apache trail where his company was making scenes for "Tony Runs Wild," his latest Fox Films starring vehicle, featuring his wonder horse, which is now showing at the Prince Edward Theatre.

"Here we are in the oldest habitation of man in America, constructed by the Cliff Dwellers before even Indian tradition began, making the most modern of motion pictures.

"This gives me a strange sensation. We stand in a house made thousands of years ago and take pictures for the greatest of modern inventions, the projecting machine and its silver sheet. It is like being in the chambers of the past such as the catacombs and the tombs at the Nile."

Jacqueline Logan plays opposite the chance. Preston Diamond going to third. Alyward is struck out. Run is caught by McFarlane who with two down and two on Con pitched well in the pinch.

Ninth Inning—Anchors, O'Leary grounds out to McEachern. Cameron singles to right field. McFarlane all takes one. McInnis stealing runs is caught by McFarlane who strikes back at McFarlane fly out to McEachern. Dempsey Diamond doubles to short right scoring Cameron Diamond however is caught napping at second.

Rovers—McInnis starts a Rover rally by singling to left field. Crowell hits to Campbell and is safe on latter's error. McInnis goes to third. Crowell grabs second. Cullen grounds to McEachern scoring McInnis. The throw was high for Francis, McInnis going under. McEachern at bat is hit by a pitched ball. Preston Diamond batting bases jammed with runners; bingles scoring Cullen and Crowell on McEachern low throw. McEachern going to third and Diamond to second. Blanchard strikes out. Williams strikes out. With the score standing 8 to 7 against the Rovers Crowell saves the game for the Anchors on a nice catch of Alyward's fly to deep left field for the third out. Score, Anchors 8; Rovers 7.
