SELECTIONS

VAGARIES OF THE YAK.

A Clumsy Beast of Burden, but Sure Footed and Faithful.
 "The yak goes much his own way, no matter how strongly his rider may twitch the cord drawn through the cartilage of his nose. It is his wont to march doggedly on with his muzzle close to the ground, breathing so hard that you can almost imagine your ears are buzzing with the sharp drone of a steam saw some distance away tearing its way through timber."
 So writes the great Swedish explorer, Dr. Sven Hedin, who has traveled over a great part of the Asiatic continent on yak back, and therefore knows whereof he speaks.
 One day while Dr. Hedin was exploring a glacier the good and bad points of his yak steed were brought plainly out. The heavy creature picked his way through the rugged moraine, avoiding all holes and balancing himself in a marvellous manner on the sharp edges of rocks. When a steep slope was to be descended, he would draw his four feet rigidly under him and coast to the bottom. He stopped short when he chose, and neither blows nor coaxing had the slightest effect, but after a time he would grunt cheerfully and proceed on the interrupted journey. A snowstorm overtook the party later in the day, and, though the explorer feared that his steed might balk again, he showed excellent sense by making as rapidly for the camp as his legs could carry him.
 "He flung himself down declivities and dived like an otter through the snow," says Dr. Hedin; "but, alas, sitting in the saddle was like riding a high sea in a rocking, pitching skiff. Often I was obliged to fling myself backward till my back touched the back of the yak, and I had to adjust my balance to all his unexpected movements."
 One day he witnessed an amusing race between yaks and camels in a camp at the Pamir mountains. The long haired camels, with their rocking humps, burst at once into a wild gallop and deafened the bystanders with their screams as they dashed along, regardless of the course laid down for them. The yaks were, as usual, both self possessed and obstinate. Two of them declined to budge an inch. Another walked quite away from the course. Some made an attempt to move sideways, while one philosophic pair slowly and solemnly stalked around the course and came in as prize winners.—New York Tribune.

An Ancient Clock
 Perhaps the most interesting gift to the pope on his pontifical jubilee was an ancient clock in the form of a planisphere, dating from 1725. It was constructed at Plaisance by the mathematician, Barnardo Facini, who presented it to the wife of Philip II. of Spain. The planisphere gives the hours and the minutes according to the Italian and Spanish style, the length of days and nights according to the seasons, the daily position of the sun according to the signs of the zodiac, solar and lunar eclipses, the real seasons and the seasons according to astronomy. Notwithstanding the enormous progress made in mechanics since its construction, the movement of the wheels is absolutely unknown. When once it broke down, no one was found able to repair it.
Steamers and Coal.
 Doubling the size of a steamer halves the consumption of coal per ton of displacement.
Hickory Nuts.
 If boiling water is poured over hickory nuts and the latter allowed to remain immersed for twenty minutes before cracked, it will be an easy matter to extract the nut meats.
The Orchard.
 An orchard, young or old, should not be allowed to grow where heavy crops of grass are taken every year. It is weakening to the soil and detrimental to the trees. Peach trees suffer most from standing in thick grass, and pear and cherry trees least.

BACKACHE?

If you have Backache you have Kidney Disease. If you neglect Backache it will develop into Gonorrhoea or Diabetes. There is no cure for gonorrhoea and doctoring you back. Cure the kidneys. There is only one kidney medicine but it cures Backache every time.

NO FADDISH FOOD
 Better than all the faddish food is good, healthy exercise. That's what bicycling is.

 It gives you the exercise you need in that sedentary life of yours. You get this in the fresh air and sunshine—nature's medicine for "all ills." And bicycling isn't what it used to be, because of the great improvements—particularly because of the Hygienic Cushion Frame
 It does away with all vibration—makes all roads smooth roads. It is to wheeling what the "Pullman" is to railroading. This bicycle has it—
