IN MEMORY

Lines on the death of a Rollo Bay Hero.—Bert Campbell. The brave lad sleeps, in his khaki clad

On the distant battle field? Near the sputter of maxims and shot and shell, The idle song birds scolding, And the daisies steeped in morning dew

We were not there to see him fall Or give him sweet replies A gem dropped from the firing line To shine with the heavenly throng

WAR

"They say that 'war is hell,' 'the great accused. 'The sin impossible to be forgiven: Yet I can look beyond it at its worst. And still find blue in Heaven.

"And as I note how nobly Natures form, Under the war's red vein, I deem it true, That He who made the earthquake, and the storm, Perchance makes battles too.

"The life He loves is not the life of span. Abbreviated by each passing breath; It is the true humanity of man. Victorious over death."

OUR OTTAWA LETTER

An official statement will be issued in the course of a few days by the Militia Department explaining that it is not the intention of the government to call out the nineteen year old boys or to cancel exemptions of other classes. This action is designed to combat the agitators, who seem to be under the impression that other classes are to be called out at once. At present the government is securing sufficient reinforcements to keep the Canadian army at strength, and it is very unlikely that it will be necessary to call out any other classes or to cancel any more exemptions until after the harvest. If, however, the war situation becomes so critical that more men are needed at once the government will be compelled to take drastic action. But this is not expected.

Preparations are well under way for the flotation of Canada's next Victory Loan in October, which will probably be the greatest financial effort the Dominion has yet made. The amount of the Loan has not been definitely fixed, but the impression is that the sum to be asked for in the prospectus will be $250,000,000, with a real objective of $500,000,000. There is no doubt as to Canada's ability to raise this large amount, even after four years of war. The money is needed to meet the growing military expenditure and to provide Canadian credits from which Great Britain may purchase our production of munitions, aeroplanes, grains, meats, cheese and other foodstuffs and supplies. This, it should be made known, is the only means by which Canada's products may be secured.

The Bible Students Association here is apparently in wrong with the authorities. Yesterday something like 1,000 copies of "The Morning Messenger" and "The Watchman" two of Pastor Russell's publications which are banned in Canada, were seized by the police, and the secretary of the Association, a young man named Rogers, was placed under arrest. Some of the literature was found at Rogers home and the balance at the headquarters of the Association on Bank street. This is the second time within a few months that banned literature has been seized at the Bible Students' headquarters here. The first seizure was made in March when over 2,000 copies of "The Watchman" and "The Bible Students' Monthly" were confiscated.

The announcement is made that Judge MacLennan, of the Supreme Court of Montreal, has been appointed a Commissioner to investigate the charges of irregularities in the allotment of the military vote in the constituency of Chambly-Vercheres. The charges were made in the Commons, in the dying hours of the session, by the sitting member for the constituency mentioned. The Minister of Justice told him at the time that he would be granted a commission, and the appointment under discussion is the result.

Word has been received in Ottawa to the effect that Captain Hammond Johnson is in London taking a course in aerial navigation, probably with a view to transferring to the Royal Air Corps, a branch of the service which is very popular overseas as well as in Canada. Speaking of the Royal Air Corps recalls a report I heard the other day to the effect that the school of instruction at Deseronto is soon to be removed to Ottawa.

To William A. Cole, an Ottawa business man, belongs the unique distinction of being the only person in America who being unfit for overseas service himself engaged a man to take his place in the firing line. Mr. Cole pays this man's family $40 a month and keeps the life of his substitute insured besides.

Col. S. R. Jenkins, M.D., of Charlottetown, and Dr. Alexander MacNeill, of Summerside, were in Ottawa last week attending the annual meeting of the Medical Council of Canada. Dr. MacNeill was re-elected a member of the executive.

Rev. T. F. Fullerton and Colonel Stewart passed through Ottawa last week en route to London where they attended a meeting of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church.

It is unofficially announced that Mr. J. H. Grisdale, Director of Dominion Experimental Farms, and frequent visitor to Prince Edward Island, is to be named as acting Deputy Minister Agriculture, when the Copyrights Department is transferred from Agriculture to either Trade and Commerce or Justice. Mr. O'Halloran is to be appointed Chief of the Copyrights Branch. Mr. Grisdale was

GRATEFUL LETTER FROM PRISONER OF WAR

Sapper A. B. Paton, who is now interned in Holland, was adopted by South Milton and Highfield W. P. A., and writes as follows:

Hotel Des Taleries, Schevingen, Holland, April 15. My dear Miss Norton, members of Red Cross, and citizens of your city—

Just a few lines to let you know that I was released on April 8th from bondage to liberty. I wish to extend my sincere gratitude to you all for your unprecedented past kindness to me in saving my life during the past two years with your excellent food comforts. It goes to show and prove we have not been forgotten by our friends at home, who have done such a splendid work. I wish all your societies every triumph success. And may God's rich blessing rest upon you all. Furthermore, I wish you every triumphant success with your good work. I may say I left my partner, Sapper W. B. Ross, 503430, 2nd Canadian Tunnelling Co., Engineers, on Dec. 6th, 1916. It's a very hard kommando regarding food and work we relied on your kindness during the past two years. If your city feels like sending him anything, I have the assurance that it will be greatly appreciated, and thanked by him. I must say I received your parcels regularly. We have still to economize here yet. The only thing we are short of is a little money to buy a little bread or biscuits to carry us over our tea or our necessities such as tobacco or cigarettes. But I suppose the government will see to it. Your society (Red Cross) gave us a splendid reception on our arrival.—treated us O.K. This is a beautiful place, up against the sea. The weather is rather cold yet here. But we forget all this since we received our liberty. Our past two and three years records of captivity would fill a library. Well, dear friends, I will call halt for this time. Again thanking you for your past kindness, and I trust with God's help to perhaps be able to thank you personally on my return. Yours obedient servant,

SAPPER ANDREW ROSS PATON, 503431, 2nd Can. Tunnelling Co., Engineers.

The Sapper W. B. Ross mentioned in this letter, has now been adopted by the King William L.O.L., Kingston. Mrs. E. Macdonald, Mrs. J. Multhead and Mrs. Maskitt, all of Sturton, have adopted a prisoner. The Roseneath Red Cross have taken a second man, and Mrs. Pomroy, city, one; and so the good work goes on.—284 to date. We want many more adoptions and donations. If you think that the prisoners are better treated now, read the following:

More Hun Brutality

Medical Students Paid to Experiment on British Prisoners. Private F. L. Garland, South African, infantry, taken prisoner at Delville Wood and now repatriated, says that when captured he was forced to walk six miles, although in great pain from severe wounds. After being buffeted about from place to place, he was operated on without anaesthetics and sent to Göttingen Military Hospital, where there were also some Australians.

The buildings were mere compounds, with neither a staff of nurses nor orderlies. One doctor paid a daily flying visit and was assisted by a couple of students, who paid large sums for the opportunity to practice surgically on the prisoners.

The wounded were forced to perform all the work, assisted at operations, and made up bandages from old bagging, with which all wounds were dressed. One student unsuccessfully attempted without anaesthetics to extract shrapnel from Garland's shoulder, resulting in severe suppuration. Others were in a similar plight.

The buildings were unheated, and many of the prisoners were frost-bitten. The food was unfit for pigs and leathery were frequent. Bedding and clothing were unchanged for months and stank with the filth from wounds. The lives of most of the British prisoners were saved by the parcels received from England, but the miracle is that any lived. Consumptives were supposed to be separated, but mixed reely among the other prisoners.

appointed Director of Dominion Experimental Farms in 1911, succeeding Dr. Saunders, and is recognized as an authority on agriculture and a highly capable official. Mr. O'Halloran has been Deputy Minister of Agriculture since 1902, and is generally recognized as an official of capacity and worth. Before entering the public service he practised law in Montreal.
