The Captain reports no signs of ice, clear as midsummer in fact he has been coasting since the middle of March. This vessel will load general cargo for Port Hood, Margaree, etc. The Capt. reports dull times in Cape Breton and very little demand for produce, the cargo will be mostly for seed purposes.—L.*EASTER SERVICES CROWDED.—The continuing Presbyterians of Montague and outlying districts held services for the first time in the Montague Baptist Church on Easter Sunday evening. The Rev. D. McVicar of Cardigan conducted the services, delivering a powerful sermon and taking his text—one very appropriate to the day, The Empty Tomb. The attendance was far beyond all expectations, the building being filled to capacity, composed of men and women of the highest moral standard. A picked choir of male and female voices furnished the singing which was without question the best ever heard in Montague. If a good beginning counts for anything, success is certainly in store for those good people who wish to remain loyal to the church of their forefathers. Mr. McVicar on behalf of the congregation thanked the members and officers of the Baptist Church for their kindness in placing their church at the disposal of the continuing Presbyterians, until definite arrangements are made. It might not be out of place to say that Mr. McVicar's kindness will not soon be forgotten. Next morning the Rev. A. S. Stewart will conduct services in this church at 11 a.m. a large attendance is requested.—L.*MADE FINE SHOWING.—Whether it may be attributed to an hereditary trait or due to his extreme thoughtfulness for his numerous customers, keeping abreast with the times is apparently the motto of Mr. Joseph H. McGregor, Montague's popular, courteous and painstaking meat dealer. The beef which Mr. McGregor had on display during the Easter week just passed was the best ever seen in these parts, and was of such superior quality as to do justice to a place much larger than Montague and goes to show that the farmers of Kings County are gradually getting away from the crudery of selling oats and potatoes, and are going more extensively into the cattle business. The beef which Mr. McGregor had on display included one eleven months old, known as baby beef and the first of its kind to be on sale in these parts, this young animal was fed by Mr. John D. Morrison, Georgetown Royalty, and dressed 395 pounds. Also a heifer not quite three years old, and five pounds, also a very fine heifer and steer fed by Mr. Neil McCannell, Lorne Valley. To the credit of Mr. McGregor we ought just say that in his travels through the country in quest of stock that he ever tries to impress upon the farmer the importance of proper care and feeding, and that it is the finished product that invariably spells success in the end, in fact he has made it a rule to buy nothing but the best.—J.

..*HANDICRAFTS.— Mat hooking will be the order of the day among our Montague women this spring, one woman who takes great pride in showing the results of her handiwork has hooked upwards of six large mats, some of these are real beauties and will be displayed at the fall exhibition, of course this woman attended to all the household duties besides. The revival of the mat-hooking industry has apparently brought with it a revival of the old-time customs and habits, a real genuine hooking frolic being held a few days ago at the home of one of the prominent women on Sackville Street, upwards of a dozen women were present and as hooking was the object they had no time or in fact any inclination to discuss the latest news of the town.—L.

—LIGHT FROM THE DUNK — Mr. Joseph Monaghan, the proprietor of the Kensington Electric Light Plant, was in Kensington Tuesday, in connection with the lighting system there. He has resolved to utilize the motive power of the Dunk at a convenient point, which is sufficiently strong to furnish abundant energy to manufacture light. He will undertake the work at once, and in short a time as possible will construct a dam that will conserve sufficient water and at the same time, will be proof against abnormal pressure. This work will take a reasonable time, but will be done with a view to being proof against reliability. This ambition deserves to be supported and the result will surely be that the current coming to the town will be yet maintained constant and satisfactorily strong. Y.

Prohibition Case In Summerside Ad-journed (Special to The Guardian) SUMMERSIDE, April 17.—Inspector Barbour had a man from Northam before Judge MacQuarrie yesterday charged with two infractions of the prohibition act on different dates. One case in which the information was laid in September last was heard and adjourned for argument. It was contended on the part of the defendant that the case should have been tried within three months from the time the information was laid. The prosecution contended that they had used due diligence to bring the case to trial, but owing to the absence of the witness from the province that they were unable to proceed until yesterday and on this point argument is to take place on Saturday, April 25. The witness appeared in court and gave evidence, but judgment will not be given in the case until the above point is disposed of. In the second case the witness failed to appear being absent from the province and the case was adjourned until Saturday, April 25.
