

Woman's Realm -:- Social and Personal -:- Fashions -:- Literature

What the Fashionable are Wearing Illustrated Dressmaking Lesson Furnished With Every Pattern

By Annabelle Worthington

No. 2570—The bolero jacket with cape-like sleeves adds new interest to beach pajama ensemble. The trousers are slit at either side to knee length to permit of freedom over the bathing suit.

No. 3208—A demure one-piece frock for kiddies of 2, 4 and 6 years with shoulders forming tiny caps is typically French.

No. 2579—It's feminine, smart, individual and slenderizing! The designer has cleverly added a gathered flounce in tunic effect at the front.

All patterns 15 cents each in stamps or coin (coin preferred).

The Summer Fashion Magazine contains most interesting styles for adults for town or vacation wear. Also darling styles for the kiddies.

MILLER-COURT

A marriage of much interest to friends throughout the province took place on Thursday evening last at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Robert S. West of Belfast.

The charming bride looked winsome in her wedding gown of white crepe satin, with bridal veil trimmed with orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of pink and white roses.

She entered the drawing room on the arm of her cousin, Mr. James A. Miller of Frenchfort, to the strains of Wagner's Wedding March, played by Mrs. Robert S. West of Belfast.

The marriage was solemnized by Dr. M. Scott Fulton, beneath a handsome arch of pink and white flowers.

The happy couple were attended by Miss Margaret M. Miller, sister of the bride, and Mr. Arthur E. Dover, City. The former looked handsome in a gown of pale pink tulle and carried a love-

"Poisoned from Constipation, Indigestion. Feel Great Now."

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Ends 5 Years of Poor Health

"I had suffered for 5 years with chronic constipation and was in a very dangerous condition."

without results. Finally was advised to try "Fruit-a-tives." One box gave me complete relief. I never felt better in my life than now.

Etiquette

By Roberta Lee

Q. When may a man give a woman an article of wearing apparel?

A. When she is a close relative. Q. In what order of pages should a letter be written?

A. If long, it should be written on consecutive pages, but if short, the first and third pages should be used.

Q. With what should butter be mixed with a baked potato, or corn that has been cut off the cob?

A. The fork.

For The Cook

BAKED BEANS, SPANISH FASHION

One pint dried beans, 1 teaspoon soda, sweet red peppers, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 slices bacon, tomato puree.

Use yellow-eyed, Lima or dark kidney beans, as desired. Let soak in cold water overnight. Drain, rinse and set to cook in cold water; let simmer until the skins are somewhat tender; drain and rinse with cold water.

Turn a layer of beans into a baking dish, sprinkle on red peppers, chopped fine, also a few bits of bacon; continue the layers until the beans are used; and the salt and tomato puree to cover the beans. Bake two or three hours or until the beans are tender. More tomato may be added as needed. To secure the puree press cooked tomatoes through a sieve fine enough to exclude the seeds. The peppers may be omitted.

A Morning Smile

Walking along a road in a remote part of the West of Ireland, two tourists were passing one of the cottages—or, as they are better known in the country, "cabins"—of the peasantry. This particular cabin was even more than usually dilapidated specimen of its class, and the chimney, consisting mainly of the remains of an old top hat, presented a comical appearance.

Tells Dyspeptics What to Eat

Avoid Gas-Indigestion

Strict diets are often unnecessary in stomach trouble. While some foods do produce excessive acidity and many stomachs do generate "too much acid" causing gas, sourness, bloating and after-eating pains, the trouble may be safely and quickly corrected by the use of a good alkaline.

ly bouquet of pink and white sweet peas.

During the signing of the register Mr. Earl Carmody, brother-in-law of the bride, sang DeKoven's "O Promise Me."

After the ceremony the bridal party had photos taken, while the guests were entertained by music played by Prof. Thompson.

A sumptuous wedding breakfast was served to about fifty guests, the immediate relatives and friends of the contracting parties. The bridal table was decorated in pink and white and centered with a beautiful wedding cake, while the guests' table was also artistically arranged, the centre of this being decorated with a handsome white cake.

The guests were served by girl friends of the bride: Misses Ethel Sutherland, Daisy Swan, Margaret Ross, Margaret Cairns (Dunstaffnage) Elsie Warren, Mildred Dingwell, and Mrs. Sutherland MacLean.

The popularity of both bride and groom was evidenced by the numerous and costly gifts of linen, cut glass and silver which they received.

The bride's travelling suit was of brown canton crepe with hat and fur to match.

Mr. and Mrs. Court left by motor for a honeymoon trip through the province, with the best wishes for their happiness extended by a host of friends.

Dorothy Dix

"The Trouble With Women's Talking, So Far as Men Are Concerned, is Not That They Talk Too Much, But That They Talk About the Wrong Things," Observes Dorothy Dix

A Metropolitan newspaper has enlivened the silly season by asking its men readers what sort of woman they like, and a surprisingly large number have expressed a preference for silent women.

I hope no unsophisticated maiden, seeking to make herself attractive to the opposite sex, will take this reply seriously. There isn't a vestige of truth in it, and any girl who thinks to make a hit with men by emulating the close-mouthed clam will find herself worse off than a clam, for she will be stranded and no man will take the trouble to dig her out of her shell.

Of course, there is a traditional theory among men that women talk too much, and that they object to women's gabble, and that the world, and especially the married state, would be a lot pleasanter and more peaceful place in which to dwell if all females were born without tongues.

You never see a girl who is a Dum B Dora who is popular with the boys and all dated up week ahead. She may be as pretty as a picture and a good dancer and a swell dresser and have a nifty roadster of her own and a mother who is a good booster and possess all the appurtenances that should make her a social success, but if she has no conversational line she is sunk.

No youth will drag about a girl who just sits up like a knot on a log, and who merely gives evidence of being alive by occasionally uttering a monosyllable or two, and then passing back into the silence. It's not any young man's idea of spending a pleasant evening to work like a coal heaver doing a monologue for the benefit of a young woman who doesn't even feed him a few cues.

In other countries men take the lead in conversation and entertain the women, but the American man is spoiled and he expects his women to do the talking and to amuse and divert him. Look about you at any dinner party and at any ball, or in the pauses in between the acts at the theatre. Isn't it always the woman who is keeping the conversation running? The woman who is trying to be bright and sparkling and vivacious and keep the man interested, while he is sitting back with an expression on his face that says as plainly as print: "Talk on, girlie, entertain me if you can, for I am not going to exert myself to entertain you."

No. The sheiks don't mob the girls with never a word to say for themselves and vie with each other in giving the silent ones a good time. They pass them up and leave them to self-communion at home while they rush the chatters who can twitter along by the yard about nothing.

No. The sheiks don't mob the girls with never a word to say for themselves and vie with each other in giving the silent ones a good time. They pass them up and leave them to self-communion at home while they rush the chatters who can twitter along by the yard about nothing.

No. The sheiks don't mob the girls with never a word to say for themselves and vie with each other in giving the silent ones a good time. They pass them up and leave them to self-communion at home while they rush the chatters who can twitter along by the yard about nothing.

No. The sheiks don't mob the girls with never a word to say for themselves and vie with each other in giving the silent ones a good time. They pass them up and leave them to self-communion at home while they rush the chatters who can twitter along by the yard about nothing.

No. The sheiks don't mob the girls with never a word to say for themselves and vie with each other in giving the silent ones a good time. They pass them up and leave them to self-communion at home while they rush the chatters who can twitter along by the yard about nothing.

No. The sheiks don't mob the girls with never a word to say for themselves and vie with each other in giving the silent ones a good time. They pass them up and leave them to self-communion at home while they rush the chatters who can twitter along by the yard about nothing.

No. The sheiks don't mob the girls with never a word to say for themselves and vie with each other in giving the silent ones a good time. They pass them up and leave them to self-communion at home while they rush the chatters who can twitter along by the yard about nothing.

No. The sheiks don't mob the girls with never a word to say for themselves and vie with each other in giving the silent ones a good time. They pass them up and leave them to self-communion at home while they rush the chatters who can twitter along by the yard about nothing.

No. The sheiks don't mob the girls with never a word to say for themselves and vie with each other in giving the silent ones a good time. They pass them up and leave them to self-communion at home while they rush the chatters who can twitter along by the yard about nothing.

No. The sheiks don't mob the girls with never a word to say for themselves and vie with each other in giving the silent ones a good time. They pass them up and leave them to self-communion at home while they rush the chatters who can twitter along by the yard about nothing.

No. The sheiks don't mob the girls with never a word to say for themselves and vie with each other in giving the silent ones a good time. They pass them up and leave them to self-communion at home while they rush the chatters who can twitter along by the yard about nothing.

No. The sheiks don't mob the girls with never a word to say for themselves and vie with each other in giving the silent ones a good time. They pass them up and leave them to self-communion at home while they rush the chatters who can twitter along by the yard about nothing.

No. The sheiks don't mob the girls with never a word to say for themselves and vie with each other in giving the silent ones a good time. They pass them up and leave them to self-communion at home while they rush the chatters who can twitter along by the yard about nothing.

No. The sheiks don't mob the girls with never a word to say for themselves and vie with each other in giving the silent ones a good time. They pass them up and leave them to self-communion at home while they rush the chatters who can twitter along by the yard about nothing.

No. The sheiks don't mob the girls with never a word to say for themselves and vie with each other in giving the silent ones a good time. They pass them up and leave them to self-communion at home while they rush the chatters who can twitter along by the yard about nothing.

No. The sheiks don't mob the girls with never a word to say for themselves and vie with each other in giving the silent ones a good time. They pass them up and leave them to self-communion at home while they rush the chatters who can twitter along by the yard about nothing.

No. The sheiks don't mob the girls with never a word to say for themselves and vie with each other in giving the silent ones a good time. They pass them up and leave them to self-communion at home while they rush the chatters who can twitter along by the yard about nothing.

No. The sheiks don't mob the girls with never a word to say for themselves and vie with each other in giving the silent ones a good time. They pass them up and leave them to self-communion at home while they rush the chatters who can twitter along by the yard about nothing.

Health Services of Canadian Medical Association

MEASLES

Measles is one of the most common and dangerous diseases of childhood. It is difficult to understand why so many parents look upon measles as a trivial disease, as one which is not to be compared with diphtheria or scarlet fever. It is thought so little of that some parents, regarding it as something inevitable that must occur sooner or later, do not hesitate to expose their child so that he may have the disease and get it over with.

Measles never dies out altogether; there are always a few cases, and usually, every two years, there is a real epidemic. Measles causes more deaths than scarlet fever, and in epidemic years, its death rate is often greater than that of diphtheria.

One reason which may account for the feeling that measles is not particularly serious is that the deaths of a large number of children after an attack of measles are shown to have been directly caused by bronchopneumonia.

Parents think their child was a victim of pneumonia. This is true of course, but the pneumonia would not have occurred had it not been for the measles. The real cause of the child's death is measles, and this should be clearly understood.

In the years which see a measles epidemic, there is also noted a considerable increase in the number of deaths of children under five years of age from pneumonia.

These facts should be sufficient to persuade parents that measles is a serious disease, and that they should take every reasonable precaution to protect their children from its serious and frequently fatal results.

Measles is infectious from the time the first symptom shows itself. It starts with what is apparently a cold in the head, and the rash does not appear for some days. During the days before the appearance of the rash, the disease is spread by the secretions from the mouth and nose.

This is one of the reasons for keeping children who suffer from colds away from other children. Colds are bad enough in themselves, but what appears to be a cold may often be a still more serious condition.

The serious results of measles would be prevented in many cases if proper care were given. Bed is the place for a child who is developing measles, and there he must stay until he has recovered, no matter how mild the attack may appear to be.

Fortunately we have learned something about preventing measles in those exposed to it. Blood serum from a convalescent measles case can be used by the physician to prevent an attack or to lessen its severity if it occurs.

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College Street, Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

Misses Agnes, Bernadetta, and Grace Lewis Cardigan recently visited Georgetown.—A.

Miss Anna MacDonald Cardigan recently visited Georgetown.—A.

Messrs Robert and Dunstan McNichol Cardigan recently visited Georgetown.—A.

Mrs. Catherine Gordon who has been visiting in Georgetown the guest of her sister Mrs. T. E. Morley left Monday for her home in a West turned to her home in Georgetown.—A.

Mr. and Mrs. Lou; MacMillan and daughter Charlottetown recently visited Georgetown.—A.

Mrs. Fede Gordon, Roseneath recently visited Georgetown.—A.

Mrs. Laura Campbell Montague recently visited Georgetown.—A.

Mrs. James Gordon Roseneath recently visited Georgetown.—A.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. McIntyre Charlottetown recently visited Georgetown.—A.

Mr. Thomas Renton of the C. N. R. spent the week end at his home in Georgetown.—A.

Misses Souise Mary and George Hemphill Montague spent the week end at their home in Georgetown.—A.

Only the Best will do

The women of the Maritime Provinces who bake their own bread demand the highest quality of flour the world produces—the highest quality of flour that can be milled from the best Manitoba hard wheat.

Is it then surprising that among the women of the Maritime Provinces who bake their own bread, there should today be such a widespread preference for

REGAL FLOUR

Wood N. J.—A. Capt Sigsworth Newport recently visited Georgetown.—A.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie, St. Peters recently visited Georgetown the guest of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Scully.—A.

Miss. Ethel Renton of the Experimental station Charlottetown spent a vacation at her home in Georgetown.—A.

Miss. Annie Murphy Georgetown is visiting in Souris the guest of her brother Mr. William Murphy.—A.

Mr. Webster McNeil New Perth recently visited Georgetown.—A.

Mr. Herbert Murphy who has been spending his vacation at his home in Panyure Island returned to Georgetown to resume his duties as principal of Georgetown High School.—A.

Miss Estella Morris who has been spending her vacation at her home in Donaldston returned to Georgetown to resume her duties as Vice-principal of Georgetown High School.—A.

Miss Marion McGilivray who has been spending her vacation at her home in Vernon returned to Georgetown to resume his duties as principal of Georgetown High School.—A.

Dr. and Mrs. D.D. Scannell and two Sons David and Gordon of Jamaica Plain Mass., are spending a vacation at their summer home in Georgetown.—A.

GEORGETOWN NOTES

Mrs. Captain Smith who has been visiting in Borden the guest of her daughter Mrs. Frank Daziel re-

Mr. Gilbert Jenkins, Mt. Albion and Mr. Wilfred Judson, Alexandria, were recent visitors to Vernon River.

The following were recent visitors at O'Keefe's Lake:—Mr. R. H. Wood, Hazelbrook, Mr. Ceell Ranking, Mt. Albion, Miss Amy Myers, Hazelbrook, Miss Effie Myers, Sydney, Miss Julia Myers, Hazelbrook and Mr. Lester Rankin, Bethel.

Mr. Charlie Walker, Marshfield, has purchased a farm in Beach Hill.

Mr. George Smith, Millview, was a visitor to Alberly Plains recently.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. McLeod and son Lloyd, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Richards, Miss Martha Walker and Mr. Ernest Collings, were in town on Tuesday evening.

Miss Harriet Hayes, Waterville, is at present residing in Vernon River

Mr. John Cronin, Peakes Road, was a recent visitor to Alberly Plains.

Mr. William Masters, Hermitage, was a recent visitor to Vernon River.

Miss Lona Carver, Vernon River is teaching in Hermitage school for the coming year. This is Miss Carver's first year and we wish her every success.

Miss Myrtle Hayden was a visitor to the city on Tuesday.

Whiz Fly Fume

Take Whiz Fly Fume to your summer cottage. It destroys Mosquitoes, Black Flies and other insects. Pleasant odor—harmless to humans and pets. Will not stain.