BRIGHTENING UP.

In our columns recently, Mr. W. S. Louson, on behalf of the Prince Edward Island Floral Association, made an appeal for general participation in and co-operation with the work of the association.

Charlottetown is donning its summer garb and evolving into more than its accustomed summer attractiveness. In addition to the municipal work being done on Queen Square by that veteran florist and gardener, Mr. Tait, Senior, private grounds are being transformed into veritable beauty spots.

It is worthy of note that the brightening up process is not by any means confined to Charlottetown and that Summerside is a keen and neck-to-neck competitor in the aesthetic race.

These are the facts so far as we can ascertain them. It may be added that many of our municipalities in the West, desiring to float loans for the purpose of developing real estate propositions have suffered through the failure of their floatations.

The banks have all intimated satisfactory reports of sound and profitable business. Immigration is more than maintaining its record of the previous year, and the West is securing a fair share of new blood for its homesteads.

THE FINANCIAL STRINGENCY. The present financial stringency is not merely a Canadian state of affairs, it is common to the whole world. For the past six months the financial markets of the world have been greatly depressed and the trouble may be traced to three or four causes.

THE FINANCIAL STRINGENCY. The first of these may be termed the general extravagance. With the abundance of prosperity which has been fairly general people have raised their standard of living out of all proportion to the general needs and, when the temporary overflow of wealth shows indications of subsiding, people cannot readily adapt themselves to the more circumscribed conditions.

Second: There has been an enormous number of new propositions placed on the market for flotation and these, together with the desire of older institutions to increase their capital, have clogged the market with undigested securities.

NOTES.

Charlottetown is not alone in the struggle with the dust nuisance. We note by a St. John, N.B., exchange that in that city "a mixture of tar and crude oil is being laid in King Street, in the hope of lessening the dust nuisance."

CHARLOTTETOWN. In the fourth place, the war in the Balkans created a tendency in all capitals of Europe to conserve their gold reserve, and hence limit their credits.

NOON. In one sense it is the extraordinary era of prosperity and advancement which has brought about the existing conditions; and on the other hand the local effect of the war in the Balkans upon the European markets.

SCHOOL VACATIONS. Sir—Such an extremely narrow minded view of our new system of school vacations as that set forth by Mr. J. T. Wigginton, calls for more than passing notice. The first reason with which he assails the excellent system is that summer is the best time for the child to get to school.

THE HUMAN PROCESSION. Sir William H. D. Haggard, one of the veteran members of the British Diplomatic Service, was born June 25, 1846. He is the eldest brother of Sir H. Rider Haggard, the well known novelist.

TODAY IN DOMINION HISTORY

Sir Samuel Leonard Tilley's long and useful career came to an end seventeen years ago today, June 25, 1896, when the distinguished New Brunswick statesman died in St. John, in his seventy-ninth year.

SCRAP BOOK

Ranking with Thermopylae, the glory of the ancient Greeks, and Balaklava, immortalized by "The Charge of the Light Brigade," is the battlefield of the Little Big Horn in Montana, where, thirty-seven years ago today, General George Armstrong Custer and his men made their last stand against the Sioux.

THIS DATE IN HISTORY

1813—The "Lawrence," Commodore Perry's flagship, launched at Erie, Pa.

1839—Total defeat of the Turkish army by Ibrahim Pasha on the Euphrates.

1857—The Pennsylvania Railroad purchased of the State of Pennsylvania its line of canals and railroads for $7,500,000.

1870—Isabella II. abdicated the throne of Spain.

1872—Earl of Dufferin assumed office as Governor General of Canada.

1876—The telephone first publicly exhibited at the Centennial Exhibition in Philadelphia.

1888—Republican national convention at Chicago nominated Benjamin Harrison for President.

1912—Sir Lawrence Alma-Tadema, famous painter, died at Wiesbaden, Germany. Born in the Netherlands, Jan. 8, 1836.

FIRST THINGS

The first Methodist Conference was held 169 years ago today, June 25, 1744. This pioneer conference of what is now one of the greatest of the world's religious denominations was called by John Wesley, who felt that a more definite and extensive organization than he had first given his followers was imperatively demanded.

WEIRD STORY FROM GLACE BAY.

From Glace Bay comes a story that seems almost unbelievable, but the facts are vouched for by many highly reputable citizens, says an exchange. In the vicinity of the overhead workings of the old Stirling pit there is a pasture of several acres enclosed by a fence, but as to gateway, continuously wide open. Usually some half score of cattle are to be noted grazing within this area.

ADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION.

Canadian Medical Association, with a membership embracing prominent physicians and surgeons throughout the Dominion, met in annual convention here today for a four days' session. The attendance is unusually large and representative. In addition to the members of the association the speakers at the convention will include a number of noted medical men and educators of England and the United States.

MAINLY ABOUT PEOPLE.

Lieut-Governor Rogers went to Alberton yesterday afternoon.

Owing to her absence Mrs. Rogers of Government House will not be receiving today.

The interim stationing committee of the Methodist conference has made a change in the last station sheet. Rev. J. L. Dawson will be stationed at Mount Stewart, P. E. I., and Rev. C. K. Hudson at Blais Verte.

The many friends in this city of His Honor, Judge Hector McDonald, who is at present on an extended trip to the Pacific Coast, will doubtless be delighted to learn that up to the present he has had a most enjoyable time and that he will be leaving at the end of this week on the return journey to Charlottetown.

Mr. Ernest H. Strong, of Summerside, who, at the Trinity Term of the Supreme Court last year, was admitted to practice as an attorney, was called to the Bar yesterday, before Chief Justice Sullivan, on the opening of the court for this year's Trinity Term, on the motion of the Attorney General, Hon. J. Matheson.
