Charlottetown's Big Departmental Store.

Paris for Millinery Styles Prowse's for Stylish Millinery

Yesterday witnessed the first of our fall and winter millinery for this season. It was the greatest and grandest display that we have ever had.

The display of beautiful American Model Hats not an indiscriminal lot of freakish affairs that no sensible woman would wear but a cheerfully selected collection of practical Hats - Hats charming in style and exclusive elegance to be sure but of a character that will appeal to women of refined taste.

These are the sorts of Hats into which the American Milliners put their best efforts. No wonder the ladies of Charlottetown were delighted with them.

Side by side with these imported models are the creations of our own Milliners and no worthier companion for them could be found anywhere. Like all Hats these are marked by a charming individuality that makes them irresistibly attractive. Of course prices—as is always the case here—are exceptionally moderate.

It will be an easy matter for you to choose fashionable trimmings for your Hat from the splendid assortment we have ready for you.

Whatever's new and up-to-date is included in the collection of rich plumes and tips in black white and all the leading shade combination 75c. up to $15.00 each.

A fine variety of trimming birds from 50c up.

Fancy breasts 50c. up.

The Patriot states that heavy frost visited Georgetown last month, but by reading between the lines we have come to the conclusion it had reference to political frost. At present we are not much interested in the political situation—but last night old Jack frost left a reminder behind, in the shape of a lot of damaged tomatoes. Fortunately all day Saturday we had a lot of hands picking, and we saved a large share of our stock but as we have large orders for shipping, our stock will soon be exhausted. However for this week there will not be any advance on previous prices. Green tomatoes for 60 cts. per bushel, 15 cts. per peck, onions (red and white) 4c lb., 10 lbs. for 30c, wholesales at usual price, secure a supply at present low prices, shortly there will not be any to be had at any price J. The millinery opening at Prowse Bros Ltd., yesterday and last evening was an event of pleasure to the ladies of Charlottetown who were present in large numbers to see the superb showing which the firm's artistic milliners had produced. The style and individuality of their millinery is most pleasing while the artistic blending of the beautiful shades used is such as only artists can turn out. The goods in the other different departments were all daintily arranged for the opening, and a great many charming articles were shown in a very suggestive and tempting manner.

The following registered at the Queen Hotel last night: Captain William Richards, Bedford; J. S. McDonald, Mass.; H. J. Jard, Parshoro; J. M. Clark, Summerside; Benj. Galant, Bloomfield; A. Wiehart, City; B. W. McEwen, St. Peters; S. J. and Mrs. McKinnon; Rev. Ewen McDonald, O'Leary; E. J. Anderson, St. John; and L. W. Hennessey, Montreal.

It is estimated that over fifteen hundred persons were in attendance at Paton & Co's millinery opening last evening. The store looked magnificent with the dainty trimmings, rich furs and novelties of all kinds which included some handsome ideas in silk, lace and wool scarves, veils etc. bought for the fair, put on while in Europe and which reflect with credit on the excellent taste of the buyer, as the articles in question while delightfully dainty in texture and color are most serviceable. The millinery department, the centre of attraction, was simply beyond description, as the hats were artistic creations which would have to be seen to be appreciated, their being at least forty or more different styles all of them being most becoming shapes as many of the ladies present last night found out to their pleasure. The showing is to be continued today.

Wednesday afternoon a fire caused by a defective flue in the roof of Granville school, was extinguished by the neighbors and pupils, before much damage was done.
