IN MEMORIAM

MR. DOUGALD McEACHERN.

(From Yesterday's Evening Guardian) The death occurred at his late residence, 307 East Eagle St, East, Boston, Mass., of Dougald MacEachern aged 65 years and 24 days. Trusting in the merits and atonement of his Lord, and Saviour Jesus Christ, "Ye are mine saith the Lord of Hosts, on the day that I cometh, to make up my Jewels. I will spare you as a man, spareth his son that seareth him." Mr. MacEachern was born at Rice Point, Prince Edward Island, on May 24th, 1848. He was the second oldest son of the deceased Donald MacEachern, Eldon, and Mary Campbell. He leaves a widow, and the following brothers and sisters:—Neil and James of Rice Point, Donald in Jersey City, Hugh in Campbell, Mass., John C. in Providence, R. I., Mrs. Sarah Macdonald in Argyll Shore, Mrs. John MacQuarrie in Nine Mile Creek, and Mrs. Janet MacKay in East Boston, Mass.

Your toilet isn't complete unless you use that toilet requisite that is now considered an indispensable toilet necessity—Harmony of Rose Talcum. It is pure, soft, soothing, fine and clinging, delicately fragrant—it is the last touch to a finished toilet. Large tin 25c. The MacKinnon Drug Co., Corner Great George and Kent Sts.

and his subtle touches of humor are as clever and pleasing as ever. Another well-known comedian, Joseph Cawthorn, gives a side-splitting German dialect song, "You Can't Play Every Instrument in the Band". The Victor Minstrel Company has forsaken the darky dialect to give a rural minstrel show under the title of the "Rubetown Minstrels"; Billy Murray contributes an amusing burlesque, "There's No Place Like Home"; Helen Clark and Walter Van Brunt sing a semi-sentimental duet; the Peerless Quartet render a funny number entitled "Bobin Up and Down", and also a lively ragtime number, "That Raggedy Rag"; and the Orpheus Quartet, and Campbell and Burr render several new ballads. With the playground work in full swing throughout the country, the dozen folk dance selections for the children of the kindergarten, intermediate and grammar grades are worthy of particular mention. These records mark an epoch in the Child Welfare movement, for the conscientious training and development of children in the home and school, as well as on the play-ground. They furnish healthful, sane, and delightful amusement, and take the sunshine or music and play into the lives of children everywhere. The telling of stories and fables is an indispensable adjunct of the playground activities, and the four stories of childhood as told by Georgina Faulkner will delight the little ones. Any "His Master's Voice" dealer will be glad to play upon request any of the records in this new June list, and if there are children in your home you should make it a point to hear the special children's records.

EVERYBODY Plan to come to ST. PETERS
