Alberton

Miss Lucille McQuaid, of Alberton, is visiting friends in Summerside.

Mrs. W. C. Leavitt and son Herbie were passengers to Summerside this morning.

Mr. William Mallett, of Alberton, who accompanied Cyril Leard to Montreal, arrived home recently, after receiving treatment.

The final play-off game of the Phillips Cup League, was decided during the past week. The form of the play-offs was elimination. Montrose defeated Alberton and were then defeated by the Dock Road. The Dock Road then met the wharf and were defeated by the score of 6-5. McDonald and Profitt were scorers for the Dock and Jeffrey, Rayner, Matthews and Mallett tallied for the Wharf. McDonald, of the Dock, sustained a painful injury to his ankle and will be out for a while. The Wharf are to be congratulated on taking the cup, which was donated by Rev. Mr. Phillips, and have displayed a strong team throughout the season. They will be strong contenders and probable favorites to take the Lefurgey Cup, and when they take the ice, the fans can expect a good game. H. Barbour and E.. Millman refereed to the satisfaction of all.

Mr. Willard Oulton, of Alberton, was a week-end visitor to Coleman.

Miss Elva Currie was taken to the Summerside Hospital yesterday morning. She was suddenly stricken with appendicitis.

The writer does not know whether the conditions are prevalent all over the Island, but there are many people indisposed these days with bad colds and there has been one case of scarlet fever reported.

The fine showing of the Abegweits against the Wolves pleased the fans in this section and they have hopes that the locals can overcome the odds of that one game lead, and come out on top. Their fine hockey display was unexpected and since the scores were so close in the two games, there is a chance that the Abbies can do the trick.

The boys are anxiously awaiting the results of the series between Wellington and O'Leary in the McLean League. The winners of this series play Alberton in the play offs, which will soon take place. The teams have already won two games apiece and a fifth will be necessary to decide the winners.

Mr. Roper and Mr. Irving, of the Livestock Branch, Charlottetown, passed through Alberton on the way to their meeting in Montrose Hall on January 31st. There was a large attendance of farmers at the meeting. The first speaker was Mr. Irving, representing the Hog and Sheep Division. He spoke particularly on the necessity of selecting good breeding stock, also on the marketing of these hogs. He said there were possibilities of organizing a Sheep Club in Montrose District, the matter to be taken up in the summer when travelling was easy. There was talk of holding a three-day short course on Agriculture and Livestock, in Montrose sometime in March. Mr. Roper, representing the Cattle Division then opened his talk by mentioning the necessity of co-operation in farm activities. He said that the Department had different loaning associations, which were advantageous to the breeders and also that good calves should be selected and well cared for in the matter of stabling in hot weather, etc. The topic of forming a boys' and girls' Calf Club was brought up and approved of by the farmers. He thought that these clubs had improved the grade of cattle and had proved beneficial in the matter of livestock advancement. He stated that he believed the Island was falling behind in its institutes, and this was proving disastrous as they were a great help and a necessity. He would like to have had the farmers in each district keep strictly to the one breed and not mix the breed, thus making it easy for prospective buyers. Mr. Roper touched on the growing of feed for cattle, and explained that more root crops should be grown and less potatoes raised.—A.

—Rev. Mr. Grant, of Erin, Ontario, is expected to arrive in Summerside this week, where he will preach in the Presbyterian Church on February 10th and 17th.—S.

—Friends will regret to learn that Mrs. Heath Strong, of Summerside, was taken seriously ill last week. She left on Monday for Montreal, accompanied by her brother, Dr. E. E. Sinclair and Mrs. Sinclair, to consult a specialist.—S.

HOLY NAME SOCIETY IS ORGANIZED

St. Paul's unit of the Holy Name Society was organized in Summerside on Sunday evening under the direction of Rev. Father Cloran of Charlottetown. The evening devotions began with the recitation of the Rosary and Litany of the Blessed Virgin by the pastor, Rt. Rev. Monsignor MacLellan. This was followed by an inspiring sermon by Father Cloran who took as his subject, Holiness. In the course of his sermon he pointed out the real meaning of holiness and its absolute importance and necessity to all. He explained that man does not have to act unnaturally to be holy but that on the contrary holiness is compatible with and even natural to the life of everyone, whatever his walk in life may be. During the collection of pledge cards that followed the male choir under the direction of Hon. Adrian F. Arsenault sang the hymn, "To Jesus' Heart All Burning." Before Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament given by Rev. Father O'Hanley, the immense congregation of men pronounced their Holy Name pledge. Devotions closed with congregational singing of "Holy God We Praise Thy Name," under the direction of Father Cloran.

In the morning at High Mass Rev. Father Cloran preached an inspiring sermon on "A Catholic's Book of Life." In the course of his address he showed that three things are necessary in the life of every true Catholic. Prayer. Kindness and Self Control. to practice these things constantly was the true meaning of "Catholic action."

Rev. Father Cloran also preached at the nine o'clock Mass.

Sunday being the Feast of St. Blase the blessing of throats took place at the conclusion of the three Masses.—S

Ontario Local Dealers Selling At Lower Prices

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

TORONTO, Feb. 4.—Although the Eastern Canada Potato Marketing Board has ruled that Ontario potatoes are to sell at 50 cents a bag today, local dealers were disposing of them at 25 to 35 cents a bag. They had received no official notification of the new price, they said.

According to the board's ruling Prince Edward Island potatoes were to sell for 75 cents and New Brunswick potatoes for 70 cents, but these were raised a week ago in anticipation.

(It is believed locally that the "dealers" referred to above are the retail merchants who do not come under the price pegging regulations, but whose prices will necessarily be governed by the prices fixed for the brokers and shippers. The fact that potatoes are temporarily retailing below the pegged price in Toronto may mean that merchants are endeavoring to dispose of surplus stock, graded under the old regulations and purchased before the provisions of the Marketing Act became effective.)

TORONTO, Feb. 4—(C.P.)—Apparently unaware that the Eastern Canada Potato Marketing Board has established the wholesale price of Ontario potatoes at 50 cents a bag, Toronto wholesalers continued selling today at 25 and 35 cents.

Notification of the new fixed price had not been received by wholesalers, said A. Merkur, manager of the Western Produce Co. He said the price of New Brunswick potatoes was raised about a week ago in anticipation of the board's ruling.

"We have not raised our prices as we have received no official notification from the board," said J. D. McCart, manager of W. J. McCart and Co.

The wholesale price of potatoes was fixed at 70 cents for New Brunswick and 75 cents for Prince Edward Island.

RAILWAYS PROVIDE FOOT-WARMERS

(By The Canadian Press)

MANCHESTER, Feb. 4—Middle-aged people will revive some memories of winter railway travel in the east when they read that two English railways have announced that hot-water bottles will be available free of charge to passengers travelling by first-class sleeping-cars on the principal night expresses between London and the North.

Here is a curious example of the turning of the wheel, for, if hot-water bottles now spell the apex of railway luxury travel, hot-water tins or "foot warmers" were among the moderators of the rigors of winter travel which were provided to the passengers of the not very distant but much more Spartan past.

People used to eagerly look for the arrival of the heavy trolley laden with the "foot warmers," though there were differing views about their value. Their effect generally was to burn the soles of the feet during the comparatively short period when they were really hot, leaving the rest of the body cold. Most people used them, but many held, probably with truth, that they engendered chilblains.

SCOUTING IN CHESTER, N.S.

Prince Edward Island is at present engaged in its share of the Dominion wide drive for funds to increase the membership of the Boy Scouts Association. It is therefore rather interesting to learn what the little town of Chester, N. S., accomplished a few years ago to increase their Boy Scouts membership and to raise funds for a hall.

Chester had no hall for its Scouts and as in other places where a hall is lacking the Scouts were not flourishing. Mrs. W. D. MacNeill, who is at present in Summerside, but resides in Chester during the summer months, was asked if she would help the boys to get enough money to buy or build a hall. Mrs. MacNeill consented to do so. She started a vigorous campaign among the visitors and citizens of this charming little summer resort in Nova Scotia and soon had the sum of about $175.00. An opportunity presented itself to the Scouts to purchase a disused building at a bargain. With the assistance of an old gentleman, who was allowed a room in the building for himself, the boys set to work to remodel it, and it was not very long before it became the headquarters of the Boy Scouts. Neat shelves were put up by the boys for a library and gradually books were brought in, many American tourists leaving suitable books.

Besides the regular games of scouting, the hall was used for basketball by the boys and other recreations. They also lent the hall to the Girl Guides, one of their many good turns; the girls returned the compliment by putting on a concert for the boys. This all happened some few years ago and now the little town of Chester has in the vicinity of 180 Scouts, all going strong. Mrs. MacNeill received a message of appreciation from Lord Baden-Powell and her young son a copy of the Scout laws.

Surely this is a wonderful example of what can be accomplished by a small community if they only make up their minds.—S

MT'L. JUDGE GIVES RULING

No Crime To Export Liquor to Prohibition Country, Claim.

(C.P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

MONTREAL, Feb. 4—Exportation of liquor from Canada to a country wherein such importation was forbidden by law did not at any time constitute an indictable offence in Canada, Judge Jules Demarais ruled here today.

The Judge in a lengthy ruling which discussed in detail points of law involved, threw out count five of an indictment against 52 persons arraigned on charges of being members of a $5,000,000 conspiracy to defraud the Canadian and Quebec governments through illicit handling of liquor. Count five concerns exportation to foreign countries.

The ruling was given at preliminary inquiry today of nine of the accused: Sam Bronfman, Allan Bronfman, Harry Bronfman, distillers, F. S. Blair, Barney Aaron and David Costley all of Montreal, Mrs. Eva Carline, Halifax, and William A. Yule of Halifax, and Perth, Scotland.

Following the judgment taking of evidence began, Alphege Levesque, of Quebec City, owner of the admitted alcohol-carrying schooner 'Galliano' testifying he had purchased liquor from Abraham Bronfman and F. S. Blair. Three cheques and one receipt attested payments totalling $1,949, made by Levesque to Blair during March and April, 1933; in addition Levesque stated that on a previous occasion he had bought 8,000 gallons of alcohol at $1 per gallon, and 300 bottles of champagne, from Abe Bronfman in Montreal. He also swore to having purchased unspecified amounts of liquor from William A. Yule at Halifax.

Preliminary hearing will continue tomorrow for the nine accused and the rest of the 52 already arraigned, all but one hailing from the Maritimes. The other resides in British Columbia. They are expected back in court at the earliest possible date. Previously they had obtained Crown permission to absent themselves until Feb. 11 while the British Columbian was to have returned on Feb. 18.

Aerial Defense Pact Is Viewed Optimistically

Anglo-French Accord Hoped To Lead To Forming Of Five Power Aerial Defense Alliance.

LONDON, Feb. 4—The United Kingdom tonight was satisfied with the first tentative reactions to the new Anglo-French accord which, it is hoped, may lead to the framing of a five-power pact of mutual air assistance, Germany's return to the League of Nations and her resumption of international commitments.

Although officially none of the interested governments have yet declared their response to the joint invitation following the official communique which last night summarized the results of the important Anglo-French discussions, intimations from Berlin that the Reich considers the proposals a "basis for negotiations" was heartening.

No Official Replies

Sir John Simon, foreign secretary, stressed before the House of Commons this afternoon that no official replies had been received to Britain's invitations to the governments of Germany, Italy and Austria, to join with Britain and France in the projected general accord and inferentially he deprecated loose reports, one way or the other, about what these governments would do.

Belgium and Italy were understood to be ready to work with France and England and it was towards Berlin that official ears were cocked. Probably the German foreign ministry will not be able to formulate its decision for some time.

Sir John said he had been informed through the British embassy that a Berlin official had been quoted to the effect that Germany regards the proposals "as a basis for negotiations," and official circles said this was the best answer that could be expected within a mere 24 hours.

It was learned however the foreign office was checking to see if the word "acceptable" might have been omitted from the German statement. According to the Associated Press, officials were a little apprehensive over the possibility that Germany may dodge a direct yes-or-no answer by offering counter proposals.

Parliamentary Reaction

The first parliamentary reaction here was an objection from George Lansbury to the fact that Sir John had undertaken to inform the country by wireless last night of the significance of the Anglo-French understanding and the importance of the joint invitation to other powers to negotiate a general accord.

"I listened to Sir John's statement," said the Labor leader, "and it sounded to me very much like a statement by Hitler of Germany or Mussolini of Italy—."

"Or Stalin of Russia," a member interrupted.

"Yes," Mr. Lansbury agreed, "or Stalin of Russia."

Sir John however immediately explained that no slight to Parliament had been intended. It was considered important, he said, in view of various press reports receiving wide circulation, that a "proper interpretation" be put before the British public without delay, and hence the decision to make the speech last evening.

The Anglo-French attitude, it is understood, is that Germany must first either reject or accept the proposals and that other questions can be settled later. It is stressed that the accord, important as it is so far as relations with France are concerned, is in reality nothing more than a joint agreement on measures which may assure peace for a long time to come providing the other invited governments, signatories of the Locarno treaties, join in them.

(By Melvin K. Whiteleather, Copyright 1935 by the Associated Press)

BERLIN, Feb. 4—Pleased at the tone of the Anglo-French accord but sceptical of its implications, Germany indicated officially tonight that she will not accept it as it stands, and kept the powers guessing as to whether the Reich will negotiate.

Chancellor Hitler, it was said in both English and French quarters, is "non-committal," refusing to indicate whether he will accept the direct approach to European security.

The pact was presented, diplomatic quarters said, almost as a "last alternative to prevent bilateral alliances from forming against Germany."

German officials said frankly the accord, with its air clauses, its League of Nations proviso and other elements, is not acceptable.

Equal Bargaining Rights

Its framework, however, officials said, gives Germany equal bargaining rights with other partners and this "pleases us."

The Diplomatishe Politische Korrespondentz, which always telephones the foreign office before writing, says the breadth of the accord is not yet clear, and "it is impossible to tell whether all of Germany's desires are met in it."

The Korrespondenz praised England's attitude and indicated the Wilhelmstrasse is coming back to acceptance of the Lacarno pact as the best basis for peace.

Receipt of the London communique here was not considered important enough, however, to cause the calling of a cabinet meeting, although when the Prussian cabinet met the report was spread that a special meeting had been called.

"The best that can be said about the accord," it was said authoritatively, "is that it does not appear to be directed against us, as does the Roman pact."

FRANCE WANTS PEACE

PARIS, Feb. 4—(C.P.)—Premier Pierre-Etienne Flandin tonight publicly expressed hope the Franco-British agreements would lead to permanent peace in Europe. In a broadcast address he said: "France wants peace. She seeks only means to safeguard peace and prevent war. That, once again, is the explanation of what France wanted, and did, in London."

The London accord, he said, aims to consolidate the entire system of guaranty and mutual assistance pacts completing the general covenant of the League of Nations Stressing the importance of the proposed air-defence agreement, signatories of which will unite in common action against unprovoked attack by one of their number, the Premier said:

"I hope Germany, which recently affirmed its will for peace, will seize this occasion to prove it."

Referring to the proposed resumption of negotiations for a general arms limitation agreement, Flandin said Germany should participate. "This great nation," he urged, "ought to join equally and freely in so desirable an endeavor for European security."

Flandin's address embodied hopes he expressed to his government colleagues on arriving earlier today at Le Bourget by air from London. Great Britain and France, he said, are in agreement on important European political issues and the time is past for temporizing in central Europe.

Foreign Minister Pierre Laval arrived later today by train, similarly optimistic regarding the Franco-British agreement.

HOPES DIM

PARIS, Feb. 4—The vision of British air legions defending France dimmed tonight as French Nationalists asserted they found loopholes in the vast peace plan drawn up by France and Great Britain at London.

Three of the most important "loopholes" were:

1. An air defence alliance depends upon Reichsfuehrer Hitler's acceptance.

2. An arms limitation agreement must replace war treaty provisions against German armament, and the world already has vainly debated that subject for four years.

3. Germany and Poland, who have been opposing the "Eastern Locarno" pact, must change their minds and sign it.

Commenting on these conditions, the Nationalist newspaper Jour said:

"The Reich in no way appears ready to subscribe to guarantees of security in order to obtain equality rights."

COUNCILLOR CARRUTHERS HONOURED

A very pleasing function took place on Friday evening at the home of Coun. T. D. Carruthers, Spring Street, Summerside, when Mr. Callbeck, manager, and the members of the staff of the Marketing Department of the Canadian National Silver Fox Breeders' Association paid him a surprise visit on the occasion of his sixtieth anniversary and presented him with a beautiful smoking jacket and the following address. Mr. Geo. H. MacCallum very capably presided.

Mr. Carruthers replied in appreciative terms to the hearty good wishes, brightening his impromptu speech with wit and wisdom for which he is noted. The visitors were treated in fine style by Miss Miriam Carruthers and after their mission of goodfellowship, renewed their good wishes in bidding "au revoir."

The address was as follows:

Mr. Thomas D. Carruthers, Summerside, P. E. I.

Dear Tom:—

We know so very few people who arrive at the sixtieth anniversary of the date of birth with such a record of integrity and fair dealing, with such an enjoyment of popular esteem and goodwill and withal so blessed with anticipations of the hopeful kind, that we your associates and co-workers, manager and members of the staff of the Marketing Department of the Canadian National Silver Fox Breeders' Association, should consider ourselves lacking in respect, if not in common courtesy, did we not at this time join in tendering you our heartiest felicitations in manifestation of your worth, and of our friendly feelings towards you.

Your record is a worthy one.

We know of some of the difficulties you overcame in your aspiration to acquire an education, of your entrance to Prince of Wales College where you received the training necessary to qualify you for your subsequent duties as teacher; we know of your activities in school teaching, and of the success in later life of students who received their early instruction at your desk; we know of your clerking in mercantile houses, of your management of large fox ranching establishments, and of your years of service as a Canadian National fox inspector in every Province of Canada, and your record of accomplishment in every instance is one of which you may justly feel proud.

Perhaps the one best test of a man's real worth is in the consideration of his home life. In this respect you are the good guardian and a genial host; while as alderman in the civic council of Summerside you have taken a lively interest in all that pertains to the progress of the town and the betterment of its citizens.

Blessed with a genial disposition and a humor all your own you are in the fore front as an entertainer, whose companionship lightens labor and makes life more than a mere existence.

Please accept this gift from your office associates as a mere token of our esteem. We do hope you may long live in the possession of your usual energy and good health, and that happiness may attend you all the way while this gift will serve as a memento of our appreciation of your personal worth.

MRS. DOROTHY MURIEL WRIGHT

A large number attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Dorothy Muriel Wright, which was held from her late home, 36 Hester Street, North Dartmouth. Impressive services were conducted at the house by Rev. Dr. MacGlashen, pastor of Stairs Memorial Church, who made touching references to the sudden passing of Mrs. Wright and the fact that three small children were left motherless. Dr. McGlashen extended deep sympathy to the bereaved. The esteem and respect in which the deceased was held was justified by the large number present and the beautiful collection of floral offerings received. Among which was one from the officers, W. O., and N. C. O., and men, No. 6 Detachment R. C. O. C. The pall bearers were: Harold and Arthur Wright of Charlottetown, Edward Duggan of Halifax a brother-in-law, Elton and Douglas Staples and Arthur Daine, Halifax. Interment was in Mount Hermon Cemetery.—Dartmouth, N. S., Patriot.
