FAMOUS ACTRESS TELLS HOW SHE USES DERWILLO TO BEAUTIFY HER COMPLEXION

ETHEL CLAYTON

New York—Miss Ethel Clayton, the clever young actress is famous for her beautiful complexion. When her friends inquired about it she said: "It's all due to a toilet preparation called derwillo which I use twice daily. The experience I have had prompts me to make my secret public. This wonderful derwillo instantly beautified my skin and its continued use has made the results permanent. When May Edna Wilder, the well-known beauty specialist, was interviewed in reference to Miss Clayton's remarkable complexion, she stated: "Any woman can have a beautiful complexion when she knows how. It's a very simple process. I use the same article in my work and until you try it you have no idea of the marvelous results. The very first application will astonish you. Go to the toilet counter of any drug department store and get a bottle of derwillo, then make the following test: Examine your skin critically, before your mirror, note carefully its appearance, then apply derwillo as directed. After you have made the first application look in your mirror again and note the surprising change. A peachlike color mounts the cheeks; a baby softness comes to the skin; it makes the dark, sallow skin, shiny nose, spots, freckles, tan, oily skin, sun spots, coarse pores, pimples, blackheads, chapped, rough skin, ruddiness, wrinkles and many other facial blemishes. Derwillo method is absolutely harmless and will not produce or stimulate a growth of hair. It is superior to face powder, as perspiration does not affect it, therefore it stays on better. Thousands who have used it have had the same results as Miss Clayton, and I am sure if you will give it a fair trial you will become just as enthusiastic as I am and always use it in preference to any other powder or beautifier." For this purpose, I have found nothing superior to Liska Cold Cream. NOTE—When asked about Derwillo and Liska Cold Cream, one of our leading druggists said: "The derwillo is a wonderful beautifier, away ahead of anything we have ever sold before. We are authorized by the manufacturers to refund the money to anyone who is dissatisfied, and we would not permit the use of our name unless these products possessed unusual merit. They are sold in this city under a trademark money-back guarantee by all department stores and up-to-date druggists including J.C. Jamieson, Geo. E. Hughes."

A FISHHOOK CATASTROPE

By M. Jessie Leitch
Jerry Miles and his father were going fishing. It was a Saturday in early summer. And so early in the morning that the dawn was but a faint pink flush in the East as the excited small boy eagerly crept down stairs. The birds were twittering sleepily in the tree tops, and the grass was cobwebby with dew. Stepping gingerly into the dew wet grass with bare feet, Jerry gasped. It was cold.
Just then his father came into the woodshed, with fishing basket slung over his arm and called the child to breakfast. His mother urged quantities of milk upon him, gave him oranges to put into his pocket and warned him against drinking water from the river. She asked him if he had his lunch basket packed and a dozen things he had almost forgotten in things he had going off for a whole day's fishing with his father. Just as he said like another man.
Finally they were off, tramping down the road in the bright summer morning. The small boy's heart was fluttering like a bird under his little gingham shirt-waist.
Then Jerry's father gave a long, deep whistle. Jerry knew he had forgotten something. "I'll go back for it, Dad. What did you forget?" "The wire cutter," said his father. "Ask mother for it. It is in the tool chest."
As he flew back for the wire cutter, Jerry wondered why his father wanted it when they were going fishing. But he was out of breath from running when he came back with the wire cutter in his hand and his mother's kiss pressed on his forehead.
But he forgot to ask.
About noon, after a breathless morning of sitting as still as a mouse by his father's side on the banks of the river, doing everything his father did with his rod and line, and only getting one nibble and not from a fish, Jerry got very sleepy, or perhaps it was, as he said later on, that the sun got in his eyes. But he put his hand back on the grass behind him, and ran a fishhook into his thumb. It bled very freely, and it hurt so terribly that Jerry had to bite his lips to keep from crying.

His father started to say, "I thought I told you to be careful, son," then remembered he had done the same thing himself, as a youngster, that it probably was not Jerry's fault. So he said, "Standy there, son, just a minute. Now where did I put that wire cutter?"
Jerry held out his hand. His father did not even try to pull out the fishhook. He simply pushed the barb on the end of the hook right on through the skin, and pinched off the shank with the wire cutter. It was not very deep. It then easily pushed out the remainder of the hook. It hurt, but Jerry was so interested in discovering what his father had wanted the wire cutter for, that he forgot to even wince.
His father, squeezing the wound a little, so it bled more freely, drew a clean handkerchief from his pocket, and wrapped up the thumb in it.
"We should have some hot water and an antiseptic of some kind, son, but your hand is clean, and so was the fishhook. As soon as we get home I'll turn you over to your mother."
And though the day was short, ended because of the accident, Jerry never forgot. And after that the wire cutter went in with the rest of the tackle when he went fishing.

JUST BETWEEN OURSELVES

BY DELLA E. STEWART

We've always heard that there's lots of room at the top. So there is. But there's lots of room at the bottom also. We can fall if we want to and sometimes, if we don't want to. It's for us to decide whether or not we care to keep on climbing.
There's room at the bottom for all the lazy ones, the ones who have all the time there is but use it only in telling what they might do if they had the chance to get all the dishonest ones. Every now and then one of the latter does fall with a crash, sometimes catch at others as he falls.
There's room at the bottom for the grouch, early ones. Once in a while, one of them does climb to the top in spite of his discourtesy and gruff manner. But not very often.

There's room at the bottom for those who think they can transcend the fundamental laws of the home and society. Plenty of particular niches. Not often will the Procrustes of life help us out if we choose unwisely, and if he does, the process is apt to be painful and slow.
Failure is generally elective. There's room at the bottom at the bottom—if we want to occupy it.

ANCIENT ORIGIN OF JAZZ

NEW YORK, May 25.—The shimmy, the one-step and the jazz music are as old as the hills and the ancient melody-loving inhabitants of Peru were the first to produce them. And to make their claim secure for all time they inscribed the figures of the dance on their prehistoric pottery and metal so that when future archaeologists sought proof of their claim there would be no doubt about it.
Sure enough, their claim to fame as the originators of the trots that mean life went they inscribed a lot of light footed persons, has been found by Charles W. Mead, assistant curator of the Department of Anthropology in the American Museum of Natural History.
This discovery, incidentally, blasts the theory that jazz was first a product of the now extinct Barbary Coast of San Francisco, where adventures since the days of '49 whirled with the girls of the dance halls.
And that isn't all—they have dug up from the ruins of old Peru such instruments of jazz as the drum, the cymbal, the rattle, the pipe, the flute, the whistle, the trumpet and other devices of sundry character.
The ancient popularity of the jazz and shimmy is attested by the abundance of dancing figures on most of the pottery which has been unearthed and is in possession of the American Museum of Natural History.

The First Arbor Day

SONNET IN SPRING

Meadows now are spangled with buttercup.
Pastures with daisies white and woods with may;
And when on Eastern dews the sun rises up,
The scented hedge winds from the sunbeams play,
Larks spin to amber haze; and in midnoon
The sower hears across the fallow still
The homely cheating cuckoo call; and soon
Thrushes with evening the distance fill.
Lamb's bleat, bees hum upon the sheltered slope,
And villages appear in clearer red.
And farmers measure by new fields new hopes
And maids sing blither by the creaming lead.
The very solitudes invite to wooing;
And here the sweetest error needs no ruing.
—ROY MELDRUM in The Nation and Athenaeum.

SINCE YESTERDAY

The mavis sang but yesterday—
A strain that thrilled thru
Autumn's heart;
He read the music of his lay
In light and leaf and heaven
and earth.
The wind flowers by the wayside swung
Words of the music that was sung.

In all his song the shade and sun
Of earth and heaven seemed to meet—
Its joy and sorrow were as one,
Its very sadness was yet sweet—
He sang of summer yet to be—
You listened to his song with me.

The heart makes sunshine in the rain,
Or winter in the midst of May
And that the mavis sings again
His self same song of yesterday
I find no gladness in his tone—
Today I listen here alone.
And—even our sunniest moment takes
Shadows of the bliss we knew
Today his throbbing song awakes
But wistful haunting thoughts
of you;
Its very sweetness is but sad—
You gave it all the joy it had.

Stern Reminders Of Rheumatism

THE TROUBLE MUST BE TREATED THROUGH THE BLOOD

Every rheumatic sufferer should realize that rheumatism is rooted in the blood and that to get rid of it must be treated through the blood. The old belief that rheumatism was caused by cold, damp weather-conditions may start the pains, but it is not the cause. Liniments and outward applications may give temporary relief, but that is all they can do because they do not reach its source in the blood. The sufferer from rheumatism who experiments with outward applications is only wasting time and money in depending upon such treatments; the trouble still remains and it is all the time becoming more firmly rooted. Treat this disease through the blood and you will soon find relief. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on impure, weak blood; they purify and strengthen it, and so act on the cause of the rheumatism. Mr. P. J. MacPherson, R. R. No. 5, Cardigan, P. E. I. says: "About three years ago I was attacked with rheumatism. I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and soon the trouble disappeared and I am in better health than before. I also know of an old lady acquaintance who was badly crippled with rheumatism in her arms and legs, and who suffered very much. She, too, took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and is now able to do her household work. I tell you this in the hope it may be of some benefit to some other sufferer."
You can procure Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or they will be sent you by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing direct to The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The Markets

MONTREAL, May 24.—There was no important change in the condition of the local egg situation, the tone of the market being about steady, with a fair amount of business passing for domestic consumption, but apart from this the trade is quiet, as there has been no demand from English exporters for supplies as yet, and cables that have been sent by local exporters offering goods for both nearby and fall shipments, have as yet brought no response, and the prospects at present are anything but encouraging. The receipts yesterday were 3,125 cases, as compared with 1,823 for the same day last week, and 4,755 for the corresponding day a year ago.
We quote wholesale jobbing prices as follows:
Selected eggs 34c
Straight candled 32c
No. 1 stock 30c
No. 2 stock 27c
A steady feeling prevailed in the market for maple product, and prices were unchanged. There was some demand for small lots of which supplies on spot were ample to meet all requirements, and sales of maple syrup were made at $2.10 to $2.25 per tin of one gallon, and maple sugar of light color sold at 22c to 23c per 'lb., and dark at 20c to 21c.
There was no improvement in the demand for car lots of potatoes, and the market in this respect was quiet, but as the offerings on spot were not excessive, prices ruled steady, with Green Mountains quoted at 75c to 80c, and Quebec stock at 65c to 70c per bag of 90 lbs., ex-track. On the other hand, a fair trade was reported in a wholesale jobbing way at 55c to 56c per bag of 80 lbs., ex-track.
CHICAGO, May 24.—Eggs, unchanged. Receipts 32,332 cases. At mark, cases included, 20c to 21c.
NEW YORK, May 24.—Eggs, firm. Receipts, 18,157 cases. Fresh leathery extra firsts, 24c to 25c; firsts, 21 1/2c to 23 1/2c; State, Pennsylvania, and nearly western henery, whites, firsts to extras, 28c to 33c; State, Pennsylvania and nearly western henery, browns, extras, 31c to 32c; do. gathered, browns and mixed colors, firsts to extras, 23c to 28c; storage packed, extras firsts, 24 1/2c to 27c; do. firsts, 25c to 26c.

NEW YORK, May 23.—Hops, easy; State, 1920, 26c to 32c; Pacific Coast, 1920, 19c to 23c; 1919, 17c to 20c.
To Make Business a Science
The science of selling offers a great field for study for the department of commerce and for the many business schools which are springing up in our colleges. Commerce is not mere money getting; it is a science, as banking and medicine are sciences. It should be studied as such, for with such study comes not only greater efficiency, but a higher standard of ethics as well. There is more prestige and value in being done than the discovery of the best ways of reducing the cost of distribution and of elevating business to the standards of a profession.—World's Work.
