(Canadian Press)

LONDON, July 9. United States Ambassador Walter H. Page, speaking at a meeting tonight in re the peace centenary in the metropolitan made a statement of the new treaty between the United States and Great Britain. After referring to the cordial relations now prevailing between the two countries the ambassador said it was the policy of the American people to have alliance with none Where there was perfect friendship alliances were not necessary. The old arbitration treaty between the two countries however, has been renewed, and now he was free to announce that a new treaty was being concluded whereby a commission was to be set up to which either country could refer matters coming under dispute between them. Both governments promised never to begin hostilities until this commission had investigated and reported on the disputes. The treaty he declared was now virtually complete.

SUPREME COURT

The Supreme Court resumed yesterday morning, Sir Wm. Sullivan, Chief Justice, Mr. Justice Haszard and Mr. Justice Fitzgerald on the bench.

The Coroner, Dr. H. D. Johnson, returned a writ of detachment which he had received against the High Sheriff of Queen's County, which return, having been made, stated that he had the body of the therein-named Frederick H. Horne as therein he was commanded.

Mr. Johnson K. C., then moved upon that return for a writ of Habeas Corpus directed to the Coroner to produce the body of the said Frederick H. Horne before the Court immediately. This writ was issued and the Coroner, who was present in Court, immediately returned that he had the body of the said Frederic H. Horne, as he was commanded. Mr. Johnston then moved that the Sheriff, who was in Court, should be sworn to answer certain interrogations to be administered to him within four days.

Hon. Mr. Stewart, K. C., on behalf of the Sheriff but not opposing the motion, drew the attention of the Court to the fact that these were criminal proceedings and the Attorney-General should have been the proper person to make the motion, and that Mr. Johnston was not the Attorney-General and did not represent him.

The question of bail for the Sheriff was then mooted, but Mr. Stewart declined to answer any questions as to whether the Sheriff could be bailed or not. The Court then adjourned to Wednesday, July 15, intimating that the question of bail was one between the Coroner and the Sheriff.

Some application was then made re taxing the costs in the case of England and others v. Deegan, and a rule nisi was granted to show cause why the cost in this suit should not be taxed. The action, Mr. Johnston explained, was to recover the sum of $8,000, and the cost of the suit they were willing to pay; but the plaintiffs claimed more cost than the defendant thought was adequate, and counsel accordingly asked to have the cost taxed. A rule nisi was granted, returnable on July 15th, to which date the Court then adjourned.

With regard to Mr. Horne, it appears that he has declined to put in bail for his appearance, and he is now supposed to be in the custody of Coroner Johnson. The Coroner must have him before the Court. If he send him to jail then, inasmuch as the Sheriff is himself jailer, and the man who occupies the position of jailer is appointed by him and liable to be dismissed by him at a moment's notice, it follows as a matter of course that the Sheriff could walk out of the jail, as he has the power to dismiss, and probably would dismiss, the jailer. Coroner Johnson therefore has the Sheriff on his hands, and the Sheriff is willing to go wherever he takes him.

It is said that a similar difficulty arose in Ontario, and a special Act of Parliament had to be passed to remedy the joke.

OMINOUS DEVELOPMENTS IN IRISH SITUATION

Sir Edward Carson Given a Free Hand by Provisional Government of Ulster to Take What Action He Deems Necessary in Calling Ulster Volunteers to Action. Sir Edward Declares Volunteers Ready for Mobilization and Time Has Come to Translate Words into Action.

(Canadian Press.)

BELFAST, July 10.—The Provisional Government of Ulster, meeting today, gave Sir Edward Carson a free hand to take whatever action he cared to take in calling the Ulster Volunteers to arms. The men were declared ready for mobilization at a moment's notice. Sir Edward Carson in a speech declared the time had come for Ulster Loyalists to translate words into action. Something must be done to cause the British Government to make up its mind in reference to the matter. Ulster, he said, was anxious for peace but would not accept peace as the price of surrender.

LONDON, July 10.—A special despatch from Cairo, Egypt, says the Anglo-Egyptian members of the Ulster Volunteers have received instructions to come home at once.

(From our Special Correspondent.)

BELFAST, June 30th.— The British Government is very seriously alarmed at the progress which the Irish National Volunteer movement is making in this country. Today the Irish Volunteers number some 180,000, a large proportion of which are fairly drilled, and a smaller proportion armed.

The movers in the matter, however, have very strong hopes that the United States will come generously to their assistance so far as the financial matters are concerned. Up to the present comparatively little money has been subscribed in Ireland.

So alarmed is the Government that it would put down the Irish Volunteer movement if it dare, but it could not do that without breaking off with the Nationalists. It is doing the next best thing— spending about £50,000 per month blockading the Irish coasts with cruisers to stop the importation of arms.

The Volunteers now openly avow that their ultimate object is the independence of Ireland. The crisis in the "United Kingdom" is becoming very acute and within the next six weeks, the long anticipated will happen. Grave fears are entertained as to the July celebration in Derry, which is the storm centre of the North at the moment. There the Nationalists and Unionists are watching each other night and day.

Speaking last night in the British House of Commons on the Albanian question, Sir Edward Grey rather needlessly stated that the British Government was not prepared to send British troops into that country, and they would not obstruct any other power. Great Britain cannot send troops to Albania or any other place for the simple reason she has not got them without calling out her reserves. The home army which at present should be well over strength in view of the coming trooping season, is now nearly 15,000 men under strength, whilst the Reserves are 80,000 below strength. Great Britain is keeping every available man at home as long as possible, in view of the culmination of the crisis in Ireland.

As a result of the seizure of arms and ammunition at Rossclare the authorities are showing renewed vigilance in watching the Wexford coast. It is stated that a mysterious schooner— said to be an American ship— which was hovering round the coast of Bannon, was last seen heading in the direction of Waterford. An armoured cruiser has arrived in Wexford Bay, and since has vigilantly patrolled the coast, throwing her searchlights along the shore at night and keeping a close watch on all passing vessels and local sailing craft.

It is reported that the Customs have seized many hundreds of rifles of which no official mention has been made, on the Southern and Western coasts of Ireland. These without exception are of American patterns— Springfield and Colts, principally. Latterly there was quite a demand in the South for American pattern rifles and many inquiries were made in Belfast.

The steamer Roma, which was arrested about two months ago on account of having been (as alleged used in the gun-running episode at Larne, is still lying, under restraint at Ayr, with the part cargo of coal she had loaded at the time of her seizure on board.

DUFFERIN TERRACE IS FIRE SCORCHED

(Canadian Press)

QUEBEC, July 9.—Dufferin Terrace, Quebec's famous promenade overlooking the St. Lawrence, caught fire today and, fanned by a stiff breeze, the flames made rapid headway through the board walks. In a little over an hour 500 feet of the board walk collapsed and fears were entertained for the safety of the Chateau Frontenac which faces the Terrace. It was also feared that if the Chateau caught the stone supports of that hotel would fall into the tenement district below. Houses facing the terrace were soon ignited by flying sparks while the firemen were handicapped because they could only fight the flames from one side, the others being too steep to work on. The people living above and below the terrace began to move their belongings. The terrace is four hundred yards long and the board walk was composed of wooden planks. One third of the terrace is destroyed.

LOCAL FORCES' FIELD MANOEUVRES

Under canvas since Tuesday of last week, the militia infantry and cavalry forces and ambulance corps of P. E. Island go out of camp today.

Yesterday saw the wind-up of the twelve days' trainings in some practical field and tactical manoeuvres. A sham action was fought between the two columns, attacking and defending, into which the forces were divided. As stated in yesterday's Guardian, the two forces marched out of camp on Thursday afternoon and that night bivouacked near the scene of the operations which were carried out yesterday. The attacking or "Blue" force under Colonel Ings made their bivouac near Mount Ryan, while the "Red" force, under Major Jones, bivouacked in the locality of Hazelbrook station. With the "Blue" force was Colonel Allan, Camp Commandant, while with the "Red" force were Major Hayter, of the General Staff of the Sixth Division, Halifax, and Capt. W. Gibson, Chief of Staff of the Camp.

At five o'clock yesterday morning the two forces left their bivouacking ground and advanced against each other, and their out-posts came into touch near the bridge which crosses Fullerton's Creek. The "Blues" were fighting an advance-guard action, the purpose of the "Reds" being to hold them in check at all costs,—to prevent them crossing Fullerton's Creek. The "Reds" succeeded in reaching the bridge ahead of the attacking force and at once took up a strong defensive position, covering the bridge. The "Blues" made a frontal attack upon the position, but found it too strong for them to carry. The "Blues'" cavalry were employed in dismounted action in the attack, while the "Reds'" cavalry had to be used as flank guards, their line of communications being threatened. Fearing that their communications would be cut, the "Reds" indeed were compelled to retire from Hazelbrook to as far as Bunbury and Mount Herbert station, throwing their cavalry out to the north. But they succeeded in holding the advance of the "Blues" in check. The action was at an end by nine o'clock.

An interested and crieical spectator of the manoeuvres was Colonel Rutherford, Commander of the Sixth Division, whose headquarters are at Halifax. He drove out to the scene of operations and witnessed the forces in action. At the conclusion of the manoeuvres he had the officers fall out and assemble at one spot for the usual "pow-wow;" making some remarks to them concerning the morning's operations, offering such criticism and comments as appeared to him to be necessary. He said that in the case of both forces, especially with the "Blues," they did not obtain very much information. Their scouting and reconnoitring was weak; the advancing troops and the cavalry, he thought, should have obtained more information concerning the dispositions and strength of the other side than they had obtained. Further, such information as they did obtain, they were slow in communicating to their commanding officers.

Whatever the blunders, however, the morning's manoeuvres were full of interest and instruction for the men and of value in the experience afforded.

The men were all back in camp by about eleven o'clock in the forenoon. The balance of the day was largely spent in clearing up and preparing for the striking of camp.

CRITICISMS ON BLOATED ARMANENTS

LONDON, July 10.—Criticisms regarding the bloated armanents of European Governments were directed at Sir Edward Grey, British Foreign Minister in the House today. In reply Sir Edward, declared that Great Britain had done her best but direct suggestion to foreign countries as to the limitation of armanents had been without good result. On the contrary they had been regarded as attempts to limit their control of their freedom of action and had been resented in consequence. Sir Edward added that the most notable thing of the past year had been the development of the land forces of Continental Europe, and for this Great Britain was not responsible.

MEDICAL MEN STARTLED

ST. JOHN, N. B., July 8.—A bomb shell was thrown into the meeting of the public health section of the Canadian Medical Association at their opening session yesterday afternoon when a paper, prepared by Dr. H. W. Hill, of London, Ont., promulgated the doctrine that dirt has little to do with disease.

Dr. Hill contended that much of the activity of Boards of Health and medical men was beside the mark, and that they might be much better occupied promoting conditions enabling men to live a more normal life than is possible for many city dwellers at present, than giving so much attention to dirt and other unaesthetic things. He said that statistics from Port Hope showed that the breakers of sanitary laws had one-third less deaths and only half as many cases of infection as the law keepers.

Dr. Hill's views called forth strong protests from Dr. C. A. Hodgetts, medical advisor to the Conservation Commission and other prominent doctors.

P. E. I. CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION

The first session of the annual convention of the P. E. I. Christian Association was held Thursday evening in the Montague Christian Church. The convention was opened with devotional exercises conducted by Rev. C. A. Hatfield, of New Glasgow. Rev. Geo. C. Henry, minister of the entertaining church, then made an address, extending a welcome to the visitors. A response was made by Rev. C. E. Armstrong, of Summerside.

On account of the illness of Evangelist L. C. McPherson, his place on the program was filled by Bro. John Simpson, a former P. E. I. pastor, who delivered a very helpful discourse from the text, "Let Love be Without Dissimulation," Rom 12 : 9 After the appointment of the committees and the necessary announcements, the session was closed with the benediction by the local pastor.

A large number of delegates are in attendance and the convention promises to be one of great interest and importance.

WINNIPEG, July 10.—Reports received up to midnight have not definitely decided the standing of the parties in the next legislature but they indicate clearly that the Government will have a good working majority.

The Government claims 27 seats as against their opponents' 19. The Liberals claim that the results in six seats now standing in the Government column are so close that recounts are inevitable.

NURSE SUPERINTENDENT CAUSES SENSATION

(Canadian Press)

HALIFAX, July 10.—Miss Margaret Mackenzie of Ottawa, superintendent of the Victorian Order of Nurses, caused a sensation at the closing session of the Canadian society for Superintendents of Training Schools Convention here today by a paper in which she said that the courses of study in all Canadian hospitals and the conditions under which the nurses in training live and study were not for the best development of nurses and that an ordinary girl who took a three years course in any of them came out as much changed for the worse.

The statement caused a lengthy discussion in the course of which most of the speakers differed from the opinions of Miss Mackenzie.

SUMMER SCHOOL OF SCIENCE

The members of the Summer School of Science and citizens of Charlottetown enjoyed another literary treat last evening when Miss Eleanor Robinson of St. John delivered her second lecture before the school, The subject of her talk was "The Teaching of Two poems." The poems selected for illustrating the lecturer's idea of how a poem should be taught, were from Tennyson's "Idylls of the King," They were Saint Agnes and Sir Galahad.

In the teaching of the poem it was suggested that the pupil should be first made acquainted with the story on which the poem was based, should be allowed to hear it read expressively, should have attention drawn to the word pictures, and compare them to things in nature with which they are acquainted. In this way they would realize that the poem was an expression of the realities of life—a clear expression of truth, and not "only poetry." The clear, melodious and expressive reading of the poems by Miss Robinson, and her comments on them, gave her audience a clearer conception of the author's idea in these poems than the majority of them had previously held.

The thanks of the meeting, on the motion of Mr. P. S. Bradley of the Education Department were conveyed to the teachers by the chairman Mr. J. D. Seaman, Secretary of the School.

In response Mrs. Robinson referred to her long connection with the Summer School of Science. She expressed the conviction that the work being done by the School was of incalculable benefit to the course of education in the Maritime Provinces, and that it would be nothing short of a calamity if the school should for any reason discontinue its annual meetings.

The singing of the National Anthem brought this most interesting and profitable meeting to a close.

AROUND THE FUR RANCHES

The fox market is advancing. Options on Class A stock yesterday sold to Montreal parties at $12,580 and $12,750.

* * *

An American syndicate who visited Charlottetown this week secured fourteen pairs of Class A foxes for a ranch to be started near Fredericton, N. B.

* * *

The shareholders of the Magic Fox Company may be well satisfied with the year's working of this company as it is understood that the company will pay well over a hundred per cent. dividend this year.

* * *

In connection with the extraordinary disappearance of pups from the ranch of the Smith Silver Black Fox Co., Ltd., which was reported by the ranch manager to the directors at their meeting on Tuesday night, and to which reference was made in yesterday's Guardian, it may be stated further that Mr. Taylor, the manager, in his report informed the directors that upon the discovery of the absence of the litters he had expected to find, he had had the female fox examined by Dr. Fraser, who found that the animal had been suckling six pups. This only adds to the mystification of the disappearance of the pups.

PREMIER BORDEN'S NATIVE COUNTY MADE HIM PRESENTATION

KENTVILLE, July 6.—The over-Sunday visit of Sir Robert Borden to his old home at Grand Pre was taken advantage of on Saturday evening by over one hundred representative men from all parts of the county, also a few ladies including Mrs. A. deWitt Foster, wife of the federal member.

Unlike political celebrations, party politics was set aside. Conservatives and Liberals alike joined in the happy occasion to pay homage to their great leader, the Premier of Canada.

On the arrival of the twenty autos the party was received by the Premier on the lawn under the shade of the oak and chestnut.

In responding to the address Sir Robert thanked his friends for this memorial of their confidence and good will, expressing the pleasure he felt in visiting his native county and meeting with his many friends, many of whom were associated with his boyhood days and early business career.
