AT ROTARY — Yesterday was Magazine Day at Rotary, and Past President Rotarian Walter S. Grant gave an interesting review of the Rotarian Magazine, the keynote of which is service. He discussed the character of its contents, its value as an advertising medium, and other features. He was preceded as a speaker by Rotarian Heuben MacDonald, who led the discussion on the Magazine in general, comparing it with the newspaper so far as its form, scope, character and influence are concerned. The third and last speaker was Rotarian E. H. Shaw, who told why he reads "The Rotarian" and commented in his inimitable, humorous way on remarks made by the two preceding speakers. The meeting was in charge of Past President, J. A. Webster, who acted as chairman. Associated with him on the Magazine committee was Rotarian Marcus Calder. The guests were Mr. Kendall of the Warren Paving Company, and former Rotarian Jack Gordon. Quite a number of Rotarians indicated their intention to attend the District Conference to be held in Halifax next June.

MONTREAL EXCHANGE

(C. F. By Guardian's Special Wire) MONTREAL, April 23.—With five issues mounting to new tops for the year, security prices on the Montreal Stock Exchange staged a wide rally during today's session.

A small number of issues recorded gains of more than a point and the advance was spread throughout the list. Sales volume was heavy approximately 36,000 shares changing hands in the five hour period. Late profit-taking took the edge off some of the advances but the list held well.

Textile and paper issues continued their recent advances and scored impressive gains. Canadian Cottons Common rose four points at 85 while the preferred was up two points at 84. Yukon Cottons touched a new high at 37 and then receded to 35 1/2 where it was up 1 1/2 points. Dominion Textile advanced to a new maximum at 85 only to fall back to 84, where it finished with a half point gain. St. Lawrence Paper preferred scored a 1 1/2 point advance at 23 and Howard Smith was up 1/2 at 9 1/2. Dryden, however, suffered a small loss. St. Lawrence Corporation was 1/2 higher at 34.

As soon as the ice is out of the rivers and lakes the river driving will begin and then the sawmills will be running night and day. One large concern employs nine thousand men in their woods operations, sawmills and pulp-mills. One large sawmill at Cabano is slated to cut twenty million feet to be shipped out this season. This mill is in charge of Mr. Saunders, a brother of Mrs. Ernest Coffin of this City.

All the spruce lumber that will be shipped this coming year is sold to the United Kingdom. There are no stocks of old lumber to be bought anywhere. Everything has been sold and shipped out during the past winter. Prices on stock used here, including shingles, will be much higher than last year and will be very scarce by next autumn, if any at all offering. This year, 1934 will be a banner year in the lumber industry.

By Officials Silent

So far the Provincial Government has received no word from the Railway officials that the summer rate will be restored, in accord with Hon. Dr. Manion's recommendation, to last summer's basis. The last indication of the Railway officials was on April 18, when Mr. Allister Fraser, traffic vice president, flatly turning down the proposal for any reduction below the present rates of $4.00 one way and $7.00 return. Last year, through re-arrangement made by a delegation headed by Premier Macdonald, the rates were reduced for the tourist season to $3.00 one way, and $5.00 return.

FLOOD WATERS

(Continued from Page 1) on for five days, but one line was working tonight. Basements in Fredericton were flooded by the river for the first time in years. At its peak on Sunday the water was still one foot, nine inches under the high level reached during the disastrous spring freshet of 1923.

Although no definite estimate of damage could be made, it will amount to thousands of dollars. Fox ranchers suffered heavily. Black flocks in pens were seen drifting down the river at Gagetown, and one rancher estimated his loss at $2,000. More than a score of foxes had been swept away from his property by the freshet waters. Some residents of Gagetown found rubber boots necessary on the ground floors of their homes.

Banner Year In Lumber Industry

Mr. S. P. Poell of L. M. Poole & Co. has just returned from a trip to New Brunswick, the Province of Quebec and State of Maine, during which he made a thorough survey of the Lumber Industry.

He reports that the cut of logs has been the largest in a great many years, although about twenty-five percent below the intended quantity. This was due to the terrible weather conditions. The snow in the woods averaged from five to seven feet deep and had to be hauled with horses and oxen as tractors and other machinery, for speeding production, could not be used. A tremendous lot of pulpwood has been gotten out, and along the line of the Temiscouata Railway, can be seen miles of pulpwood with men peeling the bark off the small logs with the old fashioned draw-knives.

This method is said to produce better pulpwood than the machine used in roasting the logs, as it saves a very valuable portion of the wood. The pulp and paper mills all over New Brunswick, Quebec and State of Maine are running full blast, night and day, using men in three shifts, as many as four hundred and fifty to a mill.

All the pulp mills report being behind in their orders and the product oversold. A large portion of the manufactured product, including paper and silk, is shipped direct to England and France, besides large shipments to all parts of the United States.

As soon as the ice is out of the rivers and lakes the river driving will begin and then the sawmills will be running night and day. One large concern employs nine thousand men in their woods operations, sawmills and pulp-mills. One large sawmill at Cabano is slated to cut twenty million feet to be shipped out this season. CONSULTATION YESTERDAY

Yesterday, a consultation took place on the subject between the Transportation Committee of the Board of Trade and Premier Macdonald, and Hon. R. F. MacPhee, Attorney General. The situation was fully discussed. A statement from the Railway officials, in view of Hon. Dr. Manion's announcement in Parliament, is now awaited, before further action is taken.

Members of the Transportation Committee consulting with the Government representatives were Messrs. R. L. Cotton, S. A. Macdonald, Roy McLeure, R. E. Mutch, J. O. Hyndman, H. G. McNeely, T. E. MacNutt, George J. Tweedy, Alban Farmer.

REVIEW OF PROTESTANT ORPHANAGE

The long and trying winter seems to have definitely taken its leave; within ourselves we know this for we are busy looking forward not backward; we have turned the corner and who is not well pleased.

In the ordinary home, it is a great relief to the parents when the children can romp in the warm outdoors; no more wet feet, cold hands or worry over winter diseases; now consider this relief with more than fifty children in our Orphanage family, and a very large number of them only babies.

But the past is passed and with confidence we move forward. Already the spring housecleaning is completed and visitors will find the Home in that inviting appearance for which it is noted.

Though the winter was long and cold, our large family has come through without a break and with nothing more serious than the ordinary colds—thanks to skill and expert care.

Our Adoption Committee has had many problems to deal with and many of them the result of the depressing period through which we are struggling; a large number were seeking adoption but extremely few foster homes could be found; we have a hope that summer will at least partly lift the veil of hard times and a brighter outlook will induce more homes to adopt some of our lovely happy little ones.

There are boys of various ages and we would be pleased to answer any enquiries from homes not biased with childish prattle.

During the late winter and early spring ordinary contributions have almost ceased; all cash donations have already been published in the press; we are very grateful to the Directory Class of the Salvation Army and the family of Harold Cudmore for a case of eggs and two baskets of Easter necessities.

It should be noted that the members of this Trustee Board give of their time and talent without reward of any kind; they are asked to attend monthly meetings and during such a winter the out of town members particularly are serving of the highest praise for the regularity of attendance entirely at their own expense.

At the April meeting of the Board it was decided on motion to hold the public Annual Meeting on the evening of Thursday, June 21st, the usual advertising will follow later. With regard to finances—our general account has fallen very low but the Provincial Government Grant has helped us for the time; the Board's public Annual Meeting has been small during the past year; the most recent contribution to the fund was $300.00 from the Estate of the late John A. Hynes, Kensington.

It is about the Institution the trustees recognize the necessity for considerable expenditure for repairs and replacements during the coming summer which will be rendered possible only through the fullest cooperation of our most generous public friends.

It is most heartening to the officials to hear words of commendation for the manner in which children are looked after in the Home but after all this has been brought about through the sympathetic assistance of numerous friends who were willing to sacrifice something so that these handicapped children might be better equipped in body and character to fight the good fight and win for themselves the reward of the faithful. Our old world is sorely in need of a process of character building that will strengthen resistance against the temptations that increasingly threaten. Let us consider the future and the many part these children may play in it if today we plant in them the seed of high ideals; what a joy it would be to know later on that we had a part in developing a clean sturdy character.

$20,000 BLAZE IN HALIFAX

(C. F. By Guardian's Special Wire) HALIFAX, April 23.—Mice, gnawing at a box of matches were believed tonight to have been the cause of the disastrous fire which swept through a tenement house, causing $20,000 damage.

It was the frantic barking of a little dog "Tody" which aroused a sleeping household and probably saved the lives of the occupants. The dog owned by 13 year old Evangeline Sampson was the first to give the alarm.

Firemen got the blaze under control after battling three hours. No one was injured. Twelve children, including several infants in arms were saved from the burning structure.

Mice had been seen in his place and matches were always kept in a large box in the pantry, Edward Barrett, third floor resident, who first noticed the blaze stated last night. The fire seemed to originate in his quarters and he believed that the mice were responsible.

While occupants were fleeing Danny Brand year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Brand broke away from the others as they were making their way to safety from the fourth floor, braving death he returned to the smoke filled rooms and groped until he found his pet kitten. Then, with the kitten clutched tightly, the little fellow started down the stairway when he was discovered by his older brother James who carried him to safety. Danny screamed like made when a burly policeman offering aid, wanted to take the kitten from his

The report of the treasurer, Mr. H. M. Simpson, showed that the Club was in a good financial condition.

The following committee chairmen submitted their annual reports: Messrs. H. M. Simpson (Speakers); R. C. Chandler (Membership); Frank McDonald (Club Welfare); Wallace Scanlon (Sports and Recreation); D. F. Bethune (Public Affairs); Gordon MacDonald (Entertainment); Dr. Creelman (Juvenile Work); James Fripps (Pines); Albert Blanchard (Music); W. J. Monaghan (Publicity); Lloyd Proude (Audit); Stewart Jones (Trustees of the Tuberculosis Seal Sale Fund); Dr. Wayne (Club Historian); R. R. Bell (Bridge Tournament); C. R. Tibert (Picture).

Pleasing features of these reports were the amount of charitable work accomplished, the success of the Christmas Seal Sale Campaign, the sports day held at the Boy's Camp and the Christmas presents for the children in the orphanages.

The following paragraph from the report of the Trustees of the Tuberculosis Seal Sale Fund is particularly interesting: "$500.00 was given to the Red Cross Society to be spent in Crippled Children's Clinic; $200.00 was given to the Rotary-Gyro Camp for underprivileged boys; $7 X-pays for tubercular patients were paid for during the year, at a cost to the Fund of $485.00; a daylight screen for lecture purposes in connection with Dr. Creelman's educational work was purchased for $25.00. There is a substantial balance in the Fund.

Votes of thanks were passed and will be sent to Canadian National Hotel, Beach Grove Inn, The Guardian and The Patriot, Irwin Printing Co., the two radio stations, the Prince Edward Theatre, Miss Mona Wilson, Supervisor of Public Health Nurses, Miss Ina Gillan, Supervisor of the Boys' Camp, Mrs. W. F. Strong, Summerside, and her committee, for their work in connection with the Christmas Seal Sale in Prince County, and the head waiter and staff of the Canadian National Hotel.

"I do not suggest," continued Col. Ralston, "this tax is wholly bad by any means but I am suggesting there seems to be a lack of appreciation of the fact there are other industries in this country which have been able to increase artificially their prices because of government action. These industries have not been placed in the same category as the gold mines."

Generally speaking, the bulk of the gold tax would be paid by two or three sections of the country, said the financial critic, criticizing the government for taxing production, not production.

Apparently the government's one policy to clear depression from the land was to stand by, watch developments, "counselling the troops to have courage and patience."

Once or twice, Col. Ralston referred to possibilities of an election by South Oxford, the Country, at the earliest opportunity, will remove this government from power and register unmistakably its opinion these policies have proved a disastrous and costly failure for the people of this Dominion.

There were three problems facing Canada on each of which the government had failed, Col. Ralston said—trade development, debt revision and a balanced budget.

All through his budget speech, the Finance Minister had attempted to "extract sunshine from cucumbers" but the fact remained the administration's trade record was dismal. Since it assumed office the Bennett Government had added $594,405,000 to the national debt, $28,000,000 to the yearly interest burden of $250 for every man, woman and child in the country. And on the third point, debt reduction, the Government had done nothing.

BENNETT LAUDS ENGLISH RACE

(C. F. By Guardian's Special Wire) TORONTO, April 23.—Canadians were urged tonight by Prime Minister R. B. Bennett to face and slay the "dragon" that is the days of St. George, they were here to be killed—not the tangible scaly monster of mythology, but "the dragon of the slum, the suffering child, the suffering mother, the lack of social justice and the unfairness of social conditions."

"Let us go out and slay them," said Mr. Bennett. "We shall not be canonized for it, but we shall have the satisfaction of a work well done, an achievement not unworthy of the race from which we are sprung."

Speaking to the St. George's society of Toronto on the occasion of its 100th anniversary, the Prime Minister attributed England's greatness to a genius for government, and the power of Englishmen to "bring justice and a love of justice to the people among whom they settled."

These qualities were courage and kindness, a sense of humor not always caught in words, a love of "playing the game," an unquenchable patience and determination and loyalty.

These were the qualities which had enabled the British people to save civilization on four occasions—to meet the long bows of the Armada, to steady the world in the time of Louis, to crush Napoleon, and to give leadership to Christendom in 1914. This force of character came from the homes they knew, the hardships they encountered. Born on an island, they took to ships to achieve their greatness. And back of it all were great spiritual forces, enabling the race to triumph anew over every obstacle, to make the name of England synonymous with freedom.
