

Help the Veterans

Try this new patience

The Poster-Judging Competition now being conducted in Canada for the benefit of the Veterans' Associations is one of the most fascinating of games.

Which are the 12 best, in order of merit, is what you must decide. The folder shows just what you must do and how to do it.

It is an interesting trial of taste and judgment to class these posters in the order which popular fancy will endorse. It is a real game which can be played over and over again, and in which all the family can join and which will interest visitors, be they young or old.

And just think of the possible reward? A Prize which is a real fortune—and you help an excellent cause. You can make as many trials as you like—for every donation of $1.20 one ticket-folder is presented, thus $12.00 secures 10 folders—though only one prize will be given to one person.

BOVRIL LIMITED has donated $30,000, about $138,888, which has been divided into 2,003 prizes. The first three are approximately as follows:

- 1st Prize, $55,555.00
2nd " 13,888.00
3rd " 4,555.00

Send donations to any of the following organizations or their branches which are actively interested and ask your help:

LONG STANDING LEGAL CASE ENDS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—After seventy-one years of controversy, involving appeals to Congress and litigation, the Supreme Court has decided that William E. Woodbridge, deceased, had abandoned his invention for flying projectiles from rifled cannon, and that his estate was not entitled to any compensation from the government for its use.

Woodbridge, in 1852, filed his application in the Patent Office and his claims were allowed, but it was not until December, 1861 that he sought to have the patent issued. The Supreme Court ruled that this delay nullified Woodbridge's rights.

Justice Given to New State in East Africa

(United Press.)

GENEVA, Nov. 23.—The realm of Ruanda has come into its own again. The story reveals how the machinery of the League of Nations often turns to meet out justice to almost forgotten peoples. But Ruanda, under the thought of the world, for it believes in its greatness and the happiness of its destiny as one of the states of East Africa.

When the "Big Four" sitting at Paris studied the map of Europe and fashioned new states out of big, old ones, they did a little ribbon work with African colonies. One result was to place the native community of Urundi and the "Kingdom of Ruanda" under the mandate of Belgium. Formerly they formed a part of German East Africa. But it was arranged that the northeastern part of Ruanda should pass under British mandate, because England wanted to construct a railroad connecting North and South Africa.

Later it transpired it would have been quite possible to build this line without cutting up Ruanda. Complaints began to be received by the permanent mandate commission of the league. With his kingdom cut in twain, the proud native ruler cried out that his prestige was crumbling. Families owning pasture lands on both sides of the new frontier complained they were unable freely to pass from one territory into the other. Cattle thieves became the vogue. Internal conflicts arose, and Ruanda threatened to be red with blood. French and Swiss missionaries warned the mandate people that conditions were dangerous.

The mandate commission brought the matter to the council of the league, and the whole affair was submitted to the British and Belgian governments. These governments were induced to open direct negotiations, and the result was an agreement rectifying the frontier and recognizing in its entirety the kingdom of Ruanda is now rejoicing, and civil war has been avoided throughout the land.

Farewell to Mr. Leo Doucette

Mr. Leo Doucette, druggist, who has been in the employ of Reddin Bros. for the past fifteen years, leaves this morning for Portland, Me., where he will reside in future.

Mr. Doucette has for a number of years been prominently associated with the League of the Cross, and a leading member of the band. On Wednesday night during band practice, bandmaster, Mr. W. J. Brawders presented Mr. Doucette, on behalf of the band and Society with a $20 gold piece and the following address: Charlottetown, P. E. I. Nov. 21, 1923.

To Brother Leo Doucette, Baritone, L. of C. Band, Charlottetown, P. E. I.

Dear Leo:— We wish not to impose upon you the ordeal of having to listen to any exaggerated or meaningless expressions of sentiment on this occasion.

But now that you are about to go out from amongst your fellow-bandsmen, with whom you have been so long associated, we must express at least a little of what we have grown to feel towards you during those years.

When feelings are strongest, words seem weak and futile. To say that we are sorry to have to part with you as a friend and fellow-bandsman does not begin to express our feelings. Together let us look back over the period of our association, recollection may exhibit our feelings.

You have been a member of our band and Society for many years. In fact you have grown from boyhood to manhood amongst us, and in all that time never have you failed us.

We know also that many have been the sacrifices of your time and pleasure in the making of this record of service.

During these years of the band's varied fortunes you have been one of the key-stones of the ever-improving structure. Your jovial disposition, your gentlemanly manner, your willingness to sacrifice and to serve, to give generously of your very limited leisure to meet the oft-times arbitrary demands of a band, and added to all this your high standard of ability as an instrumentalist, are a few of the things we would recall now.

We would remind you that these things do not go unappreciated. Our appreciation may never have been expressed in words. Forgive us if we have appeared indifferent in the past. We would merely remind you now that our appreciation was expressed in the continuous goodwill and friendship of the passing years. We do hope you have found it so. A few apparently small things are truly indicative of personal character. Your living up to the simple every-day expectations and requirements of association with this group of boys and young men, and your continuous enjoyment of their esteem is proof of your good qualities and their appreciation of those qualities.

Leo, as true friends we have relied on actions rather than on words for expression of our feelings in the past. Now, in parting, we ask you to accept this small token of an unbroken friendship. We regret your departure, indeed our regret is exceeded only by our good wishes for the future, which we earnestly hope will be filled to overflowing with that success that brings with it the blessing of true contentment.

Signed on behalf of the Band and Society. W. J. BRAWDERS, Bandmaster A. JOY, Sec'y. of Society

The recipient made no feeling reply and before dispersing several selection, the favorites of the retiring member, were rendered by the band.

REFUSES TO BRING GERMAN TOYS HOME

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Major-Gen. James H. MacBrien, well known Canadian military officer, speaking in behalf of Lieut.-Col. Hamilton Galt, formerly of Montreal, Conservative candidate for the Teunton division of Somersetshire, said he was returning to the Dominion without the toys which he had intended to buy for his children because he declined to purchase them when he found that they were all made in Germany.

Large Leaf Plants Thrive well Under Artificial Light

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Artificial light as a means of hastening the maturity of plants can be used most successfully with plants with large leaf areas, experiments recently conducted for the Westinghouse Electric Manufacturing Company, Columbia University and Peter Henderson and Company, seedsmen, indicate.

The experiments carried out under the supervision of 73-years-old Julius Heinrichs, veteran florist and landscape gardener, in a hot-house at Baldwin, N. Y., were said to be the most scientifically accurate so far attempted in this country.

The utility of artificial light, used when sunlight is not available, as a means of maturing plants has been known for many years, according to horticulturists who asserted, however, that the experiments at Baldwin established the degree of utility. Experiments of a similar nature, it was said, are being conducted by government experts at Washington and by the research department of the National Electric Light Association. Others were carried out a score years ago by the late W. W. Rawson, pioneer market gardener and horticulturist of Arlington, Mass.

The experiments were undertaken, it was said, to determine the exact scientific effect of artificial light on plant life and to determine whether artificial light might, if necessary, be successfully substituted for sunlight.

Rows of exactly similar plants were grown in the hot-house, one row dependent entirely on the sunlight, and another subjected to five hours of artificial light switched on one hour after sundown.

Many of the specimens subjected to electric light, it was asserted, grew upwards to twice the size of similar plants receiving sunlight only, and were considered by experts of the Bronx Botanical Gardens, who attended the conclusion of the tests, to be from 14 to 27 days in advance of normal growth.

Vegetables having large leaf surfaces, such as lettuce, endive and cucumbers, responded most readily to the stimulation of the electric bulbs. In some cases there was no perceptible gain in growth, particularly in root plants, such as the beet, carrot and radish. The tomato plant actually seemed to have thrived less under the "overtime system" of sunlight during the day and electric light at night.

Cauliflower seeds germinated in 5 days, as compared with an average germinating period of 10 days in the field; celery in 11 days, as compared with three to five weeks in the field; beans in three days, as compared with 12; carrots seven, as compared with 14; cucumbers three, as compared with six; lettuce, six to 16 days under electric lights in the hot-house as compared with 32 days in the field; radishes in three days, as compared with six; beets seven as compared with 14; musk melon four, as compared with 10; tomatoes seven as compared with 14, and endives four as compared with 10.

After the period of germination the root crop plants slackened in the pace, until at the end of the test period there was little difference between them and the same varieties grown under sunlight alone.

Cow Uncovers a Big Fortune in Bonds

(Canadian Press)

JONESBORO, Ill., Nov. 23.—A cow was strolling aimlessly in her pasture near here when her hoof uncovered $22,000 in Liberty bonds which had been concealed in the soft earth. The bonds have been identified as loot taken in a holdup of the Ekiville State Bank in August, 1919. The bandits were captured two months later, but refused to disclose the whereabouts of the bonds.

A Free Demonstration of the famous ROYAL ELECTRIC CLEANER

Cleans by Air-Alone!

Made in Canada

Let the Royal man show you why the "Cleans by Air-alone" Method of the Royal is the best. Let him show you why revolving brushes do not get the embedded dirt, but wear down the nap of the carpet. Let him show you how the powerful, even suction of the Royal makes it most scientifically efficient and sufficient.

not reach. And it adjusts to any floor surface, from thick velvet rugs to hardwood or linoleum—even concrete.

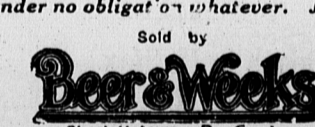

Then just lift the Royal yourself and see—light, easy, free-running. So different from certain clumsy heavy types of machinery. Many women owning other types of Electric Cleaners do not use them regularly because they are so clumsy. Whereas, with the lighter Royal a daily run over carpet and floors is a pleasure.

Let the Royal Demonstration show you the Royal Attachments. They are simply and easily connected. You merely slip off the nozzle and attach the suction hose and cleaner-tool you wish to use. The various tools clean your hangings, upholstered furniture, mattresses, pillows, etc., as thoroughly as the Royal itself cleans rugs and floor surfaces.

You can carry the Royal upstairs and down almost as easily as a broom. The extra wide 14-inch nozzle of the Royal cleans under places where other cleaners cannot reach.

There's a Blower, too—that routs the dirt from radiators, off silk shades, aerates pillows, blows dust off bookcases, etc., and—as you move around the room, your faithful Royal remains upright and rolls after you! Household tasks are indeed quickly accomplished with a Royal Electric Cleaner.

For your own sake and the health and happiness of your family, you ought to investigate this fine cleaner. We'll be glad to give you full information and arrange for a free demonstration in your home at any time. A demonstration places you under no obligation whatever. Just call us up.

Western Australia Starts Land Development

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Nov 22.—Western Australia is looming more and more in the affairs of the commonwealth in point of settlement and land development. This state leads the others of Australia in the matter of group settlements, which have justified themselves so far in placing and entirely financing suitable men with families on the land that the question of establishing co-operative factories for handling their dairy and other products, is now occupying the attention of the government.
