Contemptible Liberal Propaganda Exposed

Veterans' Pensions Act Forced By Conservatives

King Government, After Assuring Parliament That Pensions Act Was Absolutely Non Political, Now Endeavors To Capitalize A Measure Which It Was Compelled To Put Through And Which It Voted Down When Introduced By Hon. R. B. Bennett Three Years Ago.

(Special to The Guardian)

OTTAWA, Ont., June 28.—After pleading that soldiers problems be kept out of politics it came as a great surprise to find Premier King disregarding his own request and with Hon. James Malcolm seeking to make political capital out of legislation the cooperative work of all parties on behalf of veterans and their dependents.

Speaking in Parliament on March 4th on soldiers legislation Premier King said: "That is far too serious to be dealt with in a partisan manner." On the same day he said:

"OUR DESIRE IS TO GET THIS MATTER AS FAR REMOVED AS POSSIBLE FROM POLITICAL CONTROL AND OUR DISCUSSIONS IN THE HOUSE AS FAR REMOVED FROM POLITICAL CONTROVERSY AS POSSIBLE."

When the legislation of the joint committee was adopted by Parliament on May 20th its non partisan character and the cooperation of all parties were commended by Hon. Dr. King, Hon. Dr. Manion, and Major Power, the Chairman of the Committee.

Hon. R. B. Bennett, in speaking of the work of the committee said: "I AGAIN DESIRE TO ASSOCIATE MYSELF WITH THE MINISTER HON. DR. KING IN CONGRATULATING THE MEMBERS OF THE PENSIONS COMMITTEE UPON THE WHOLLY IMPARTIAL, HONEST AND HONORABLE MANNER IN WHICH, FREE FROM PARTY PREJUDICE OR BIAS, THEY APPROACHED THE CONSIDERATION OF AND FOUND A SOLUTION FOR A GREAT PROBLEM."

Campaign Issues Clearly Defined

Conservatives More And More Confident As Liberal Pessimism Increases. Time Ripe For A Change, Is General Feeling Throughout Canada.

CONSERVATIVE LEADER ENDS QUE. CAMPAIGN

(By Thomas Green, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent)

ORMSTOWN, Que., June 29.—With three large meetings crowded into the day, Hon. R. B. Bennett, here late on Saturday concluded the present portion of his Quebec campaign. At LaPrairie, he spoke in the afternoon and afterwards at Caughnawaga enroute. The chief topic of the speeches of the Conservative leader was agriculture, especially fruits, vegetables, butter and eggs. Mr. Bennett added that he favored Dominion assistance towards a bridge across the St. Lawrence at LaPrairie, "but not a toll bridge which will prevent farmers getting their products to the market cheaply." Tonight, he departed for the Maritimes to open his itinerary at Saint John, N. B.

"This prime minister of ours," Mr. Bennett exclaimed, in strongly denouncing the serious effect on Canadian dairy products through the New Zealand treaty, "is he prime minister for New Zealand or for Canada? Is he elected by New Zealand or by Canada? If he wants to legislate for the prosperity of New Zealand, let him go down there and do it; we can spare him here."

Immediately directing attention to agriculture, the Conservative leader gave strong expression to his party's policy for assistance to agricultural schools, cheaper transportation, distribution and marketing. It was necessary he continued, that farmers should receive just compensation for their efforts and rewards equal to the professions.

"To keep Canadian boys and girls on the farm, agriculture stood first in Canada's development. If we are to succeed," Mr. Bennett asserted, "we must supply the same advantages to agriculture as to other activities. It must be made as profitable as any other profession in which men are employed."

He went on, "We of the Conservative Party maintain that the Dominion having control of all systems of taxation we must assist agriculture, understand by scientific study the problems under which we work and get the best returns and we Conservatives are pledged to see that agriculture receives the same benefits as in days gone by."

"Distributing and marketing were essential factors in assisting agriculture. Distribution by our highways and by railways are necessary to give cheaper importation rates for our farmers to get their domestic markets," he declared, "and the seaways for importation of our products. A national highway was required for agriculture to connect the east with the west and to develop to tourist traffic, Mr. Bennett went on. To this national highway, his party was pledged, and he regretted that the Government, as it had done in regard to technical education, had refused to grant assistance to highways.

He put the question "how can you secure? Well, fellow Canadians, the first market, the most profitable market, is the market we have at home. First the markets at home and then the markets abroad." Criticizing the Government, Mr. Bennett observed: "A Government can at least see to it that Canadians have their own markets against unfair outside competition; and to the extent a Government fails, and this Government has failed, we deprive our people of a livelihood."

(Special to The Guardian)

OTTAWA, Ont., June 29.—The campaign has progressed so far that the definite issues of the fight have been determined, unless some unforeseen conditions precipitates some new feature on which the electors must make a decision. In the main the electors are most interested in economic conditions and their reaction on business, whether in the factory or on the farm, and the effect on work and wages. Trade depression reflected in exports and imports, railway earnings, national revenue, and commercial inactivity are all strongly reacting against the government. With these is unemployment, or only part time employment, which is keenly felt in the home. Lower cost of living, seven cents duty off tea, or dominion autonomy are not of paramount importance to the man without work, or only such part time employment as places himself and family below the level of an adequate living standard. Whether these conditions are due or not due to the government's economic policy the Government must assume responsibility and reports from throughout the Dominion are that the electors have come to the conclusion, "a change couldn't be worse."

Liberals Pessimistic

It is the widespread feeling, especially on the farm and in the factory, that justifies the general optimism in the Conservative party, and has brought a pessimism to the Liberal party that has destroyed confidence and enthusiasm.

Considerable resentment has been aroused through Premier King and his Ministers seeking to make political capital out of soldiers' legislation, when it was urged in Parliament and agreed to that such be

SUDDEN RELIEF

(Special to The Guardian)

NEW YORK, N. Y., June 28.—The men and women employed in Schepp's chocolate factory were talking about how hot it was this afternoon when relief came unexpectedly as well as suddenly. A wooden tank containing 50,000 gallons of cold water and weighing more than 200 tons collapsed on the roof and sent a miniature Niagara Falls down on the heads of the workers.

The tank fell through the 10th and ninth floors and broke over the eighth. Fortunately there were no employees on the two upper floors.

The ones from the eighth floor down however, were drenched.

Criticizing the Government, Mr. Bennett observed: "A Government can at least see to it that Canadians have their own markets against unfair outside competition; and to the extent a Government fails, and this Government has failed, we deprive our people of a livelihood."

63RD BIRTHDAY

(Special to The Guardian)

TORONTO, Ont., June 28.—Canada on Tuesday next will celebrate the sixty third anniversary of her birth as a nation. The coming into effect on July 1, 1867, of the British North American Act, which united the provinces of Quebec and Ontario, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick into the nucleus of the present Dominion. The birth of confederation was not marked by any organized celebrations such as would be planned to commemorate such an event in the present era. The community carnival spirit was less strong sixty three years ago. Services were conducted in some of the churches and a few bonfires were held, but the new nation came into being with striking lack of ceremonial so far as most sections of Ontario at least were concerned.
